Explanation

All entries are from the Jewish Chronicle unless followed by (JR) or (JW), (Jewish Record) or (Jewish World). I have edited the entries. In cases where information appears in more than one newspaper, I have selected the newspaper that gives, in my opinion, the more useful information.

A subject will be listed more than once, if the given information does not prove to my satisfaction there is only one person with the same name. Thus, in some cases, because there is a small doubt, a subject will be listed more than once.

Minors are listed under their parent's name, unless under exceptional circumstances, or if the possibility exists, in the case of a male subject, that he could have been married.

In the case of marriages, officiating ministers are only mentioned where the marriage did not take place in a synagogue. The reason for inclusion is that the names of the ministers give clues as to which synagogue the parties were connected to. The honour of the Chief Rabbi officiating was usual, and had no particular significance, other than the respectability of the parties involved.

There are mistakes in the Jewish newspapers. In the case of obvious mistakes, entries are underlined. It should be borne in mind that in some cases, the letter "I" is incorrect and should be "J". This is because of the lack of clarity of the news print in those times. When the date appears after an insertion, such as 14.2.1872, this is the date of the newspaper entry. If the date is expressed as 14 February, 1872, this is as printed in the newspaper. When an item appears more than one calendar month from the date of the event, I have inserted the date of the newspaper entry at the end of the item.

I have taken the liberty of putting all Rothschild entries under the letter "R", whether the prefix "von" or "de" is more applicable.

If all information on a subject's relative is in the given text, that relative is not listed in subject's genealogy. All genealogies are crossreferenced. If the subject is female, the genealogy is listed in the female line first. If male, the genealogy is listed in the male line first.

The information is not analysed by me in any way, but should become the subject of further research by interested parties. Therefore, for example, although I do know there was a fourth brother Rothschild, who had died before the period covered by this reference book, as there is no mention of him in the newspaper text, I am unable to mention him.

Finally, I would add this book was and is a labour of love and I consider it a privilege to have been able to undertake it.

It was Dr. Gerry Black who suggested that I put my newspaper records, gleaned while researching my husband, David's, very anglicised maternal family, onto a card index. He was looking through my records, because I was sure that I was able to help him with the marriage of Ada Davis to Samuel Lewis, Victorian philanthropist, which he had been unable to find. The reason for this difficulty was that the happy couple had married in Dublin, and, indeed, I was able to assist with the Jewish newspaper insertion. This suggestion took place at the end of 1987, but what is a few years in the course of genealogy.

My difficulty had been that my husband's family had put many notices in the Jewish Chronicle in the last century. Each time I looked at a family marriage, there was a new maternal family to investigate, and I had missed that family surname. I am sure Dr. Black meant index the family names only.

However, I enjoyed indexing so much, I decided I would index all the entries, and that is what I did. I concentrated on the eighteen seventies, as this seemed to me to be a middle period in Anglo-Jewish history, when the number of entries were increasing rapidly. Being fascinated by the intricacies of the family relationships of Anglo-Jewry, I also crossreferenced the entries. Thus, by the time The Jewish Genealogical Society of Great Britain came into existence in 1992, I had amassed a large card index, containing the births, marriages and deaths of the Jewish community.

It was at the inaugural meeting of the Society, that I felt I had to do something sensible with my records. I considered the best way to make the information available was to publish it as a reference book.

About this time, I discovered two other Jewish newspapers within the period. These were the Jewish Record, which stopped publishing in 1871, and the Jewish World, which commenced in 1873. So, of course, I had to index these as well.

Came the happy day that I had finished. But I felt dissatisfied. I realised the reason was that I had not included the obituaries. While including the obituaries, I thought I might as well put in the stories regarding individuals from inside the pages of the newspapers. This was the most interesting and challenging work of all, and I became fascinated by the stories I put together as a result.

Finally, with a sigh of relief I conceded I had finished the decade. I then put my head down to type my card index up as a reference book. Realising the modern way was on disc, but not being computer literate, I compromised by buying a wordprocessing typewriter. I was at last in possession of eleven discs, containing the records of the Anglo-Jewish population in the eighteen seventies. All I now had to do was to find a publisher.

Fortunately for me, Mr. Robert Boyd had the confidence in myself and my book to work with me towards a finished publication. With his help, I was able to transfer the discs into a specialised computer programme. Without his help, this book may never have seen the light of day.

I would like to give a special thank you to all those who helped me, and put up with my doubts and fears. Especially, I would like to thank Dr. Gerry Black and Robert Boyd; George Anticoni and Dr. Saul Issroff of The Jewish Genealogical Society of Great Britain for their encouragement; Eric Glater and Malcolm Kayser for their technical support; Andrew Gasson, and Tony Gee, historians and authors; Meir Persoff for his advice; Barbara Brown, Judith Joseph, David Moradoff, Henry Roche, Joe Ross and June Stein for their assistance; the late Isobel Mordy, my mentor, and the late Rabbi Dr. Bernard Susser, genealogists both; The Newspaper Library, where my research was undertaken, and who obtained microfilm from New York when I found two years of the Jewish World were missing from their archives; The Jewish Genealogical Society of Great Britain; The Jewish Historical Society and The Guild of Jewish Journalists. Most importantly, I would like to thank my husband, David, without whom this work would never have been undertaken or completed.

MR. ABRAHAMS
To the Editor of the Jewish World - Sir, Will you allow me to correct an error in the last number of your paper which has been pointed out to me? You stated "a Jew named ABRAHAMS was buried in Highfield Cemetery with all the rights and ceremonies of the Christian church". The deceased was buried with all decency and reverence in the parish courtyard of Ifield, but without any service, according to the law of the Christian church, which only allows its service to be read over baptised persons; this arrangement was understood and agreed to by the widow of the deceased. I am, Sir, yours obediently, WILMOT BUXTON, Rector of Ifield. 13.6.1873

REV. ABRAHAM ABRAHAMS
Death Friday, 23.1.1880 at Jerusalem, dearly beloved father of MORDECAI ABRAHAMS of 149 Houndsditch, and of the late REV. BARNETT ABRAHAMS, Dayan.
♦We learn from Jerusalem the death took place on 23rd ult. of REV. ABRAHAM ABRAHAMS - who was for nearly half a century principal shochet in London. The deceased was born at Shedlitz in Poland in December, 1801. He was son of RABBI JOSEPH. His father died when he was 2 years old. His mother married a second time and his stepfather brought him up with kindness. He married early. In 1832 he lost his first wife and suffered from the plague following on the Polish Insurrection. Marrying again, he had a son, afterwards REV. BARNETT ABRAHAMS, BA., Dayan of the Spanish & Portuguese Synagogue. He fled from Poland in 1836 on account of persecution of the Russian Government, and came to England, being appointed Shochet at Leeds, and two years afterwards his wife and son, whom he had left in Poland, joined him. The deceased was a pious and learned man. As an authority upon shechita he enjoyed an almost universal reputation. He was author of Hebrew works upon this and other kindred Talmudical subjects, and his opinions were widely sought, especially in Poland. He retired from public service a few years ago. About nine months ago he went to Jerusalem to carry out his wish to end his days there in study. He bought a house in the Holy City and presented it in perpetuity to the "Mishkemoth Yisrael" Building Society, to serve them as a synagogue. He was 78 years of age. His wife survives him. 13.2.1880

REV. DR. N.M. ADLER
The Chief Rabbi, DR. ADLER, attended at the opening of the International Exhibition on Monday in response to the invitation of Her Majesty's Commissioners, having acted in capacity of Member of the Committee of selection for educational objects. He was presented to the Prince of Wales by the Princess of Teck, and took part in the opening ceremony. 28.4.1871 (JR)
♦On Friday last the Chief Rabbi paid a pastoral visit to the Jewish congregation worshipping in Cheltenham. The Chief Rabbi & DR. HERMANN ADLER arrived on Sunday at Newport. The REV. DR. ADLER, accompanied by his son, DR. HERMANN ADLER, arrived at Cardiff on Monday. On Tuesday afternoon, the reverend gentlemen arrived at Merthyr Tydvil. During the visitation of the Chief Rabbi in South Wales he has endeavoured to secure a better observance of the Sabbath. We are glad to be enabled to state he has in a great measure succeeded. 14.7.1871
♦From Merthyr Tydvil, the Chief Rabbi & DR. HERMANN ADLER went to Swansea. On Friday, 14th inst., the Chief Rabbi & DR. HERMANN ADLER arrived at Kingston Harbour, en route for Dublin. From Dublin, the Chief Rabbi & DR. HERMANN ADLER went to Belfast. The visit of the Chief Rabbi to Ireland caused a sensation. Particulars of his sermon on Sabbath were telegraphed to provincial Irish papers. 21.7.1871
♦During the stay of the Chief Rabbi at Belfast, he resided at the house of one of the most active and zealous members of the congregation, MR. MANTNER, at Holywood, near Belfast. On Thursday morning, 20th inst., the Chief Rabbi arrived at Edinburgh. On Friday last, the Chief Rabbi arrived at Glasgow. In the course of the afternoon, several of the leading members of the congregation waited upon him at Hanover Hotel, and SAMUEL MORRIS, President, presented him with an address engrossed on vellum. The Dublin Evening Post commented upon the visit of the Chief Rabbi to Dublin. 28.7.1871
♦DEDICATION OF BRISTOL NEW SYNAGOGUE (By telegraph) - Bristol, Thursday - The Chief Rabbi & MRS. ADLER arrived at Bristol station about noon. The Chief Rabbi intends paying a visit to Bath congregation tomorrow (Friday). He will return to London on the same day. 8.9.1871

REV. DR. N.M. ADLER (continued)

♦We are gratified to state the Chief Rabbi, REV. DR. ADLER, has recovered from his indisposition. He attended the Great Synagogue on Sabbath last, and recited the special prayer for the recovery of the Prince of Wales. 5.1.1872

♦The Norwich Argus contains an interesting notice of the visit of the Chief Rabbi to Yarmouth. 30.8.1872

♦The Rev. Chief Rabbi, DR. ADLER, has left London for a brief sojourn in the country on account of his health. 20.6.1873

♦We are delighted to learn Jewish candidates have been successful at the competition of school children for prize essays on Cruelty to Animals. Among prize holders was ELKAN ADLER, of Jews' College, a boy of 11 years of age, son of DR. ADLER, Chief Rabbi. 11.7.1873

♦The Chief Rabbi, DR. ADLER, arrived in Manchester at 8 o'clock on Monday evening. He was received, on alighting from the train, by a deputation from the Old and New Congregations, by whom he was escorted to the Palatine Hotel. On Tuesday DR. ADLER had a conference with delegates of both congregations, and after a protracted deliberation as to points at issue between them, steps were taken towards promotion of a federation between the two congregations, and a basis for an alliance was laid down. On Wednesday evening DR. ADLER visited Jewish schools which are situated near the Old Synagogue. The Chief Rabbi attended morning and afternoon service each day during his stay in Manchester at the Old Synagogue in Cheetham Hill Road. The Chief Rabbi left Manchester on Thursday morning. 19.9.1873

♦Our facetious contemporary, the Hornet, gives among its "stars" a clever vignette likeness of REV. DR. ADLER, with this inscription: "It is a sign that the only addle about you will be your name, and that you will be loved, honoured and revered by all good men." 3.10.1873

♦A child, whose birth was announced last impression, is the first great-grandson of DR. ADLER, Chief Rabbi of the United Congregation. 23.1.1874

♦At Hambro' Synagogue, at the past holidays, Rev. the Chief Rabbi escaped what might have been serious injury. On his approaching the Ark in the course of the service, the metal bar fell at his feet with a heavy crash. The Chief Rabbi was heartily congratulated at termination of prayers by the assembled congregation, who expressed their joy at his escape. 17.4.1874 (JW)

♦The REV. DR. ADLER, Chief Rabbi of the United Congregations, left London on Monday with MRS. ADLER for a visit to the Continent. Offerings for his safe return were made at the Great Synagogue. 24.4.1874

♦The Chief Rabbi, DR. ADLER, is staying at Wetzlar, near the Rhine. 1.5.1874

♦The Chief Rabbi has gone from Berlin to Wiesbaden where he will remain for a few weeks to recruit his health after many years of arduous and almost uninterrupted labour. 22.5.1874

♦The Rev. the Chief Rabbi & MRS. ADLER returned to England from their continental tour yesterday. SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE proceeded to Dover to meet the Chief Rabbi on landing. As a coincidence it may be mentioned 11th June is the date of the first landing of DR. ADLER on these shores. 12.6.1874

♦The youngest son of the Chief Rabbi of the United Congregations of Great Britain & Ireland, the REV. DR. ADLER, was called up for his bar mitzvah on Sabbath last, in the Great Synagogue, Duke's Place. 7.8.1874

♦The London Stethoscopic Company, 54 Cheapside, have produced an excellent portrait of REV. DR. ADLER. The expression of the reverend gentleman has been caught admirably and the picture is lifelike. 9.4.1875

♦The Bedfordshire Times says: "It is appropriate to mention on Hospital Sunday a fortnight ago, DR. ADLER, the Chief Rabbi, preached a sermon which glowed with the charity which compasses all sorts and conditions of men." 9.7.1875

♦The Chief Rabbi, DR. ADLER, is making a short stay at Hastings. 6.8.1875

♦The Chief Rabbi has been staying at Dover for some weeks past. On Sabbath he delivered a sermon which the Dover Express publishes in extenso. A grandson of the Chief Rabbi was Bar Mitzvah on the day, and DR. ADLER addressed him in appropriate terms in the course of his sermon. 18.8.1876

♦We regret to state DR. ADLER, the Chief Rabbi, has been suffering from slight indisposition during the past week. 12.10.1877

♦We are pleased to state Rev. the Chief Rabbi DR. ADLER has returned to town restored to health. 16.11.1877

♦We regret to state during the past week REV. DR. ADLER, Chief Rabbi, has been suffering from some slight indisposition, through which he has been confined to his room since Monday evening. On making enquiries yesterday, we learnt DR. ADLER was somewhat better. 11.10.1878

♦ELKAN ADLER (youngest son of the Chief Rabbi) has been a successful competitor at the City of London School at the examination for "Warren Stormes Hale Scholarship". 15.11.1878

♦ELKAN NATHAN ADLER (youngest son of the Chief Rabbi) passed in the Honours Division at the Matriculation examination at London University. 14.2.1879

♦We regret to state the Chief Rabbi has been confined to his house for the past fortnight, owing to indisposition. 14.3.1879

♦We are pleased to be enabled to state the Chief Rabbi, DR. ADLER - who has been confined to his house for several weeks through indisposition - is much improved in health. 25.4.1879

♦The REV. DR. ADLER, Chief Rabbi, left town on Wednesday for Brighton, where we understand he will stay for a couple of months. 2.5.1879

♦The Chief Rabbi, who is still staying at Brighton, has received many telegrams and letters of congratulations on celebrating the Jubilee of his admission to the Rabbinate. The Hanover Congregation - of which DR. ADLER was Chief Rabbi from 1830 to 1845 - have forwarded to him an address beautifully engrossed and handsomely bound in blue velvet. The address contains signatures of principal members of the Hanover Jewish community, including REV. E. MEYER, Chief Rabbi. 6.6.1879

♦The Chief Rabbi, DR. ADLER, is still staying at Brighton for the benefit of his health. He is somewhat benefitted by his stay at the seaside. The Liverpool Old Congregation have forwarded to DR. ADLER an address of congratulation on his celebrating the jubilee of his admission to the Rabbinate. 20.6.1879

♦The following resolutions were passed at the last meeting of the Council of Jews' College: "That the governors and subscribers of Jews' College desire most cordially to congratulate their venerable President on having attained the Jubilee of his induction into the Rabbinate. That they recognised the eminent ability, zeal and conscientiousness with which during the period of half a century he has fulfilled the duties of his high and responsible office, that the respect and gratitude of his coreligionists, and especially those of the Anglo-Jewish community, are due to him for his unfaltering devotion to the interests of Judaism, and for his efforts to foster among all sections of his flock a love and veneration for the teaching and institutions of his Faith. That the governors and subscribers of Jews' College, remembering how much this institution - itself an evidence of the Chief Rabbi's solicitude for the sacred interests entrusted to his charge - owes to its revered President, fervently pray he may be blessed with many years of health and happiness, and may be privileged to witness, in the social, educational and religious progress of his people, the realisation of the best hopes of his life." 4.7.1879

♦MR. ELKAN ADLER, youngest son of the Chief Rabbi, has gained a First Mathematical Scholarship this year at the City of London School, and is of the value of £50 per annum, tenable for four years. 25.7.1879

♦Among those who have passed the First BA. Examination at the University of London is ELKAN NATHAN ADLER (City of London School), 1st class division. 8.8.1879

♦ELKAN NATHAN ADLER, youngest son of the Chief Rabbi, has passed the Honours Examination, Latin in the First Division and German in the 3rd Division. 5.9.1879

♦The Chief Rabbi, DR. ADLER, has returned to town from Brighton, where he has been staying for several months. Although somewhat improved in health, he is still precluded from taking any active part in the discharge of the duties intendant to his office. 19.9.1879

♦We are requested to deny the report the Chief Rabbi has resigned his post. DR. ADLER has asked to be relieved of some of the business of his office, but retains ecclesiastical charge. The General Council of the United Synagogue has resolved the son of the Chief Rabbi, REV. DR. HERMANN ADLER, should be appointed the Chief Rabbi's delegate for performance of the relinquished duties. 7.11.1879

♦We understand the Chief Rabbi will continue to reside at Brighton over the holidays. Service is held at his residence every Sabbath and arrangements have been made for service during the Holidays, DR. ADLER being unable to undergo the fatigue of walking to the synagogue. 22.8.1880

♦The portrait of the CHIEF RABBI, painted by desire of SIR NATHANIEL DE ROTHSCHILD for presentation to the Council of the United Synagogue, has during the last few days private view, been visited by many of the best artists and connoissieurs who have warmly congratulated MR. B.S. MARKS on his chef d'oeuvre. MR. MARKS, while rendering the likeness of DR. ADLER with his wonted accuracy and detail, has given a calm and graceful pose to the whole figure. 29.10.1880 (JW)

♦We are requested to state, although REV. DR. ADLER has removed his residence to Brighton, the office of the Chief Rabbi will remain on the ground floor of 16 Finsbury Square and DR. HERMANN ADLER will attend there to discharge duties delegated to him. 5.11.1880 (JW)

MISS FANNY ALBERT gave a successful entertainment on Sunday evening at Jews' Infant School, Commercial Street on behalf of the Free Lecture Association. The programme, in each item of which MISS ALBERT took part, consisted of 14 pieces, comprising pianoforte solos, songs and recitations, also pianoforte duets; in the latter she was ably assisted by her sister, MISS BLANCHE ALBERT. The REV. A.L. GREEN who presided, in proposing the thanks of the meeting for the admirable entertainment, said MISS ALBERT was an illustration of what Jewish young ladies should be, and what he hoped they would all aim for. 12.4.1878 (JW)
♦On Wednesday, MISS RACHEL LEVITT gave a reading at Steinway Hall, Lower Seymour Street, Portman Square. Effective aid was rendered by MISS FANNY ALBERT who, during the evening, played skilfully on the pianoforte. 31.5.1878
♦On Saturday evening, MISS FANNY ALBERT gave a successful pianoforte recital at Steinway Hall. The programme comprised pieces by Schubert, Chopin, Schumann, Beethoven, Mendelsohn, Raff and Lizt. The success of the evening was a duet by Moscheles for two pianos, in which the beneficaire was joined by her instructor, SIR JULIUS BENEDICT. 5.7.1878
♦On Thursday evening, June 5th, MISS FANNY ALBERT gave a Pianoforte Recital at Steinway Hall, Lower Seymour Street. There was a large company present, who frequently testified their hearty appreciation of the talented abilities of this young pianiste. 13.6.1879

LILLIE ALBRECHT
MISS LILLIE ALBRECHT, who made her first appearance at M. Riviere's concerts, Covent Garden last Monday week, is a young pianiste of great ability; she has been greeted with well-merited applause. MISS ALBRECHT displays brilliancy in execution, combined with delicacy of touch, and evidently possesses a fine taste. Her performance of Dohler's Fantasia on Guillaume Tell was much admired; her execution of the lefthand passages which occur in this difficult piece deserves mention. This young lady is a Jewess. 28.11.1873 (JW)

ANNIE (ANNETTE) ALBU
STEINWAY HALL – MISS ANNIE ALBU (who has just returned from Italy) gave her first concert on Monday, when she was assisted by several well-known artists. The hall was well filled by an appreciative audience. MISS ALBU appeared three times during the evening, and her appearance was the signal for rapturous applause, which she well merited for her beautiful and artistic rendering of the several morceaux allotted to her. MISS ALBU possesses a rich voice, a wonderful compass, which has been trained to execute the most difficult "roulades" with ease and fluency. 16.5.1879
♦On the 24th MISS ANNETTA ALBU made her debut on the opera stage in England by appearing as Amina in La Sonnambula at the Theatre Royal, Birmingham. The Birmingham Gazette of the 25th says: "Before last night MISS ALBU, we believe, had never appeared upon the English stage, and only once or twice in Italy. She is much more than a promising artist may be confidently stated, for with all that is requisite in appearance for operatic parts such as those undertaken last night, she possesses a voice of clear and pleasant quality, of a compass reaching to E flat in F in alt, and a style and a manner that shows her training has been thorough." 31.10.1879
♦HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE - The beginning of the English season on Saturday night resembled, in its harmony amonst the audience, a meeting of old friends. The most interesting feature to our readers was the debut of MISS ANNETTE ALBU, a coreligionist, who has been educated chiefly at the expense of LADY ROSEBERY, at the London Academy of Music and in Italy. Although she succeeds Miss Georgina Burns in the part of the "Messenger of Peace" she made a favourable impression, which, it is hoped, will be confirmed by more important performances. 16.1.1880
♦MISS ANNIE ALBU has been delighting crowded audiences at the Norwich Theatre Royal and the newly opened Theatre at the Spa at Scarborough as Prima Donna in Mr. Taverner's English Opera Company. The local journals speak highly of MISS ALBU's "exquisite performance". 27.8.1880

MISS ALEX
BOARD OF GUARDIANS - The monthly Meeting of the Board was held on Tuesday. A letter was read from MR. E. ALEX, informing the Board his sister, the late MISS ALEX of Brussels, had expressed a wish to leave properties, valued at £330, to the Board for assisting emigrants. The document conveying the same not being drawn in legal form, he had consulted his relatives, who had agreed the sum should be handed to the Board with the request it be invested, the interest to be devoted to the purpose stated, and expressing the hope the sum may form a nucleus for an emigration fund, so as to lessen the large expenditure under that head. The thanks of the meeting were voted to MR. ALEX, and, through him, to members of the family. 3.3.1871

MR. ALEXANDER
We regret to notice a calamity has befallen our coreligionist, MR. ALEXANDER, of Old Church Road, Stepney. This gentleman was owner of about 200 cows, and the sheds in which the animals were kept were remarkable for their scrupulous cleanliness, and for their excellent sanitary arrangements. On Sunday week, his stock of cows being 130, MR. ALEXANDER noticed three or four of them seemed out of condition. With promptitude, he at once communicated with authorities at the Privy Council office. The inspector attended, and pronounced the animals to be suffering from incipient cattle-plague. He ordered they should be immediately destroyed, and to prevent any further spread of disease, he directed the whole of the remaining stock should be slaughtered. This will entail a loss of about £2,500 upon MR. ALEXANDER, of which only a small portion will be returned to him as compensation, according to provisions of the Act of Parliament. This calamity presses with particular severity upon MR. ALEXANDER, because, as we are informed, he had taken energetic precautions against it, by ensuring cleanliness, by liberal use of the best disinfectants, by keeping the premises locked against strangers, and compelling his men to disinfect themselves each time they entered the stables and sheds, and by refusing to purchase any strange cattle or allowing any cattle to enter his premises. 23.3.1877

Last week's London Figaro contains a leader on the decision of Hanley magistrates in the case of MR. A. ALEXANDER, a Jew, who was charged with keeping a common gambling house, and fined 20 shillings on evidence of a converted Jew. The Figaro says: "There was no evidence of card-playing, except the contradictory statement of the ex-Jew, who was sworn in the Jewish manner, who had only known MR. ALEXANDER eight or ten months, and who admitted ALEXANDER had offended him, and if there had been evidence of card-playing, it would not have been sufficient to justify a conviction. It is possible prejudice was imported into this case because it appeared probable ALEXANDER and his friends played cards on Sunday." 16.4.1875 (JW)

ALBERT MYERS v ALEXANDER ALEXANDER - Plaintiff, Treasurer of the Jewish Synagogue in Exeter, who resides in St. Homas, sued the defendant, optician, of High Street, Exeter for £3.16s. Of this amount £3.13s.6d. was a half-year's seat rent, and 2s.6d. half-year's contribution towards maintenance of the burial ground. His Honour said the case should have been settled out of Court because the misunderstanding would cause amusement among some people. - Devon Weekly Times 30.11.1877 (JW)

♦We quote from the Exeter Gazette of the 21st: "MR. & MRS. ALEXANDER, of High Street, in this city, yesterday celebrated their golden wedding. They were married in the first year of the reign of King William IV and have ever since occupied the same house from which MRS. ALEXANDER went forth a bride fifty years ago. The nuptuals of the pair were celebrated according to Jewish rites in Exeter Assembly Rooms, and the ceremony, which was attended by hundreds of persons, was noticed in the public journals at the time. They are both hale and hearty after half a century of wedded life." 29.10.1880

We regret to announce the death of WILLIAM W. ALEXANDER, who for nearly a quarter of a century held the position of Alderman in Bristol. ALD. ALEXANDER, though a man of retiring and unobtrusive habits, was deservedly popular. His fellow citizens respected him highly. ALD. ALEXANDER was connected with the Bristol Jewish community for upwards of fifty years. He was a regular attender at Divine Worship and showed his interest in congregational affairs by constant attendance at meetings of members. He was beloved by all. He was a staunch supporter of Bristol charities and of many metropolitan institutions. He greatly elevated the political and social status of his brethren. His funeral was numerously attended. 28.8.1874

MESSRS. ALFRED & SPIELMANN
MESSRS. ALFRED & SPIELMANN, of Queen Victoria Street, have patented an improvement in rails for tramway lines. Experimental lines have been laid along several tramway routes, and the improvement is recommended as affecting a great economy in the case of maintenance, and having advantages over the old system. 21.6.1878

MISS ALLEN
TO FORMER PUPILS OF THE LATE REV. R.I. COHEN, SUSSEX HOUSE, DOVER - An urgent appeal is made to former pupils of the abovementioned school on behalf of MISS ALLEN, who was housekeeper for upwards of twenty years, and who has become destitute. At the breakup of the school in 1866, she opened a lodginghouse at Folkestone and was earning a comfortable living, until recently, when she was persuaded by a brother of a former pupil to become a surety for him at a loan office. At the time the money became due he absconded; the loan office seized all her furniture, leaving her ruined. We feel sure in appealing to sympathies of former pupils most of them will in remembrance of her many acts of kindness, contribute towards enabling her to earn a living in her old age. - ISIDOR I. LYONS, 19 Queene Street, Cavendish Square, W. - DANIEL C. DEFRIES, 34 Belsize Park, NW. 7.12.1877

SOLOMON ALMOSNINO
On Sunday a large number of the principal members of the Spanish & Portuguese Synagogue assembled in the Vestry Room, Bevis Marks. The occasion of the gathering was presentation of a testimonial to MR. S. ALMOSNINO, secretary of the congregation. The testimonial consisted of a portrait of MR. ALMOSNINO surrounded by a handsome gilt frame. MR. ALMOSNINO, who was overcome with emotion, briefly expressed his thanks for the honour which had been conferred upon him. 27.6.1871
♦Mr. ALMOSNINO & THE PORTUGUESE CONGREGATION - After a period of nearly seventy years of service to the congregation, MR. ALMOSNINO, owing to failing health, has tendered his resignation of office. The Board of Elders, accepting the same with regret at the cause of the severance, expressed in warmest terms their acknowledgement of the invaluable benefits the committee had received from MR. ALMOSNINO for an almost unprecedented term, and unanimously voted to that gentleman a life annuity equal to the full amount of the salary he had been receiving with free use and occupation of his dwelling house in Bevis Marks. 7.1.1876
♦Death 14.1.1878 at his residence 11 Bevis Marks, in his 85th year, for upwards of fiftyfive years the zealous and highly valued Secretary of the Spanish & Portuguese Synagogue. Deeply and deservedly regretted by his family and a large circle of friends.
♦The Portuguese Congregation have lost a valued and esteemed official in the presence of MR. ALMOSNINO, who for fifty years honourably filled the functions of Secretary. Though secretary in name, MR. ALMOSNINO was the guiding hand that conducted the affairs of his synagogue. Thoroughly acquainted with the traditions of the Sephardim and able to read the languages in which their recent records were kept, MR. ALMOSNINO was in a position to state laws and precedents, and his opinions were constantly referred to by the governing bodies of the community. MR. ALMOSNINO was descended from an ancient Spanish family, and in his youth was appointed to the office which he held worthily and scrupulously. MR. ALMOSNINO was much regarded in private life, and he possessed many friends in all classes. He was married twice but without issue. He was a fond husband, and leaves a widow to deplore his loss. The funeral took place on Wednesday. The cortege, which consisted of about 20 mourning coaches and a number of private carriages, started from Bevis Marks and made a circuit of the Synagogue in Duke's Place. The Rev. the Chief Rabbi followed in his carriage, while those assembled at the cemetery comprised many of the most influential members of every section of the community. Like his ancestor, DON ABRAHAM ALMOSNINO of Spain, who 400 years ago fell a victim to the Inquisition in preference to renouncing his religion, SOLOMON ALMOSNINO was a firm adherent to his faith and an ardent lover of his nation. 18.1.1878 (JW)
♦The late SOLOMON ALMOSNINO was descended from an ancient Spanish family. His grandfather, who was Chief Rabbi of Gibraltar, immigrated into this country with his family at the time of the Siege of Gibraltar. HAHAM I. ALMOSNINO held no recognised place in the Congregation, but he was greatly esteemed for his learning and piety. At the time of his death in 1784 public honours were paid to his remains. His son, R. HASDAI ALMOSNINO, became a Dayan of the Congregation, and had several children. One of these was chosen minister or hazan, and officiated for a number of years, and the other is the subject of the present notice. SOLOMON ALMOSNINO was born on 6th September, 1792. In 1814 he was appointed clerk to the Secretary, and in 1821, on the death of MR. DE CASTRO, MR. S. ALMOSNINO was elected his successor. 18.1.1878
♦A general meeting of Yehidim of the Portuguese Congregation was held in the vestryroom, Bevis Marks. A resolution was passed expressive of the sorrow of the congregation at the death of the Secretary, MR. S. ALMOSNINO, and of their sympathy with MRS. ALMOSNINO in her bereavement. 29.3.1878 (JW)

MRS. SOLOMON ALMOSNINO
MRS. ALMOSNINO, the accomplished, amiable and energetic wife of the respected secretary of Bevis Marks Synagogue, has devoted many years of her life to the progress and development of the congregational schools. SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE had a portrait of MRS. ALMOSNINO painted and presented it to the schools last Sunday. At one end of the room were ranged in tiers 120 children. In the body of the hall were numerous ladies and gentlemen, and at the bottom were ranged mothers of the children. The portrait was uncovered by MR. CASTELLO and MISS EMMA LINDO. The likeness is admirable and, as a work of art, it is very fine. It is the production of MICHELANGELO PITTATORE, a Jewish artist of great genius. The agreeable and touching proceedings terminated, the company pressing round MR. & MRS. ALMOSNINO and offering their congratulations. 1.3.1872

♦The third of his series of Saturday evening entertainments was given by MR. ALOOF at Barnsbury Hall, Islington on Saturday. The successes which these entertainments have attained was fully sustained. At termination of the concert the company engaged in dancing, which was kept up with great verve. 19.12.1873 (JW)
♦MR. ALOOF's entertainment at Barnsbury Hall, on Saturday, was as successful as its predecessor. Dancing brought the entertainment to a conclusion. 9.1.1874
♦The eighth of MR. ALOOF's series of weekly entertainments was given at Barnsbury Hall on Saturday evening in the presence of a large and select assembly. The usual ball concluded the pleasant entertainment. 23.1.1874
♦M. ALOOF's series of entertainments was brought to a close Saturday evening when an audience of nearly 200 assembled. M. ALOOF's programmes have always been faithfully executed, while that feature of the arrangements which provided for the select character of the audience has been judiciously and thoroughly carried out. 6.2.1874 (JW)
♦MR. A. ALOOF begs to inform his friends, patrons and subscribers of his Saturday evening enter-tainments in consequence of severe indisposition, he is unable to return to town, and compelled to postpone the same for a few weeks later than advertised. - 20 Augustus Road, Ramsgate, October 19, 1874 (JW)

♦The funeral of MOSS ANSELL took place on Monday, at West Ham Cemetery. Despite inclement weather, the funeral was attended by a large number of persons. 17.5.1872
♦MOSS ANSELL, a useful man, attached from his boyhood to those charities started among and chiefly supported by the humbler and middle classes, is no more. The poor lose a good and earnest friend. The charity to which he devoted his best zeal in the later years of his life - a life familiar with sorrows, and marked recently by the conscious burden of latent disease - is the Jewish Soup Kitchen. This institution, founded by, among others, poor ANSELL, enjoyed his best affections, and he devoted to it all the energy which a broken constitution well could bestow. May ANSELL not be soon forgotten by his friends; enemies he could not have - despite his quick temper, which was soon cool again. 17.5.1872

♦Marriage 10.2.1875 at 95 Lancaster Gate, CHIEF RABBI OF THE SPANISH & PORTUGUESE CONGREGATIONS OF ENGLAND, to HENREATTA HABABA, widow of the late SOLOMON DAVID of Bombay.
♦The marriage of DR. ARTOM, Ecclesiastical Chief of the Portuguese Congregations, to MRS. HENRIETTA HABABA DAVID, took place on Wednesday at the residence of MR. & MRS. REUBEN DAVID SASSOON, Lancaster Gate, Hyde Park. The guests began to arrive shortly before 11 o'clock and were received in the drawing-room, from whence they proceeded to the synagogue attached to the mansion. The ceremony was performed by Rev. the Chief Rabbi, assisted by other ministers. The synagogue was beautifully decorated. At conclusion of the ceremony, the guests returned to the drawing-room, where at 12 o'clock a concert was given, at which Herr Strauss, Sgnr. Piatti & Mdle. Krebs gave their services. The breakfast followed, in which 80 guests participated, and at its conclusion the newly-married couple started for the Continent. The nuptual presents, it is understood, were numerous and costly. 12.1.1875 (JW)

♦The Jewish community has suddenly experienced a severe and grievous loss by the unexpected death of DR. BENJAMIN ARTOM, Chief Rabbi of the Spanish & Portuguese Congregations of England. The reverend gentleman, after a few hours illness, expired at Brighton at about 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon. On Sunday DR. ARTOM fasted and appeared to be in his usual health; at the time of breaking his fast he complained of feeling ill, and he rapidly became worse and sank.
The REV. BENJAMIN ARTOM was born at Asti in the vicinity of Pimonti, Genoa in 1835. He was son of ELIA ARTOM. His first appointment to the Jewish ministry was as minister of the congregation at Saluzzo, Genoa. It was while acting as Rabbi of the Italian Hebrew Congregation of Naples (in 1866) he applied for the post of Haham of the Spanish & Portuguese Congregation of London. On Sunday, 16th December, 1866 he was inducted into office at a special Installation Service. On 10th February, 1875 DR. ARTOM married HENRIETTA HABAB DAVID (nee EZEKIEL). A selection of DR. ARTOM's sermons delivered in England was published in 1873, at the request of Wardens of his congregation, by Trubner & Co., and a Second Edition was published in 1876. DR. ARTOM was a member of Council of the Anglo-Jewish Association, and among his recent efforts to promote religious education of the language was the active part he took in the establishment of Religious Classes at Old Ford.
The deceased at the time of his death was staying at 3 Marine Parade, Brighton. The medical certificate showed disease of the heart was immediate cause of death.
The body was brought to London by train on Tuesday morning. It arrived at Liverpool Station at a little after two, and was conveyed to the late residence of the deceased, 20 City Road.
Tomorrow in all metropolitan synagogues under jurisdiction of Dr. Adler, the Ashekba of the Portuguese Ritual will be recited during Morning Service in memory of the Haham.
The Daily Telegraph, in an obituary notice, says: "An eloquent and popular preacher, a sound scholar and an accomplished musician, DR. ARTOM was greatly admired and respected beyond the limits of his own community." All the other daily papers publish obituary notices. 10.1.1879
Notable was DR. ARTOM's freedom from sectarian bias and his desire for unity and accord in the Jewish community. When, because of mistaken deference to ill-found fears of individuals amongst us, the Rev. Chief Rabbi refused to consecrate Sandy's Row Synagogue, DR. ARTOM showed the cosmopolitanism of his religious feelings and his freedom from class prejudice by coming forward to consecrate it himself. Again, when engaged to be married to the lady who is cast into mourning by his decease - the amiable sister of MRS. R.D. SASSOON - he surmounted barriers of prejudice and schism by asking REV. DR. ADLER to perform the marriage ceremony. 10.1.1879 (JW)
♦DR. ARTOM was related to the diplomatist ARTOM, who was Secretary to Count Cavour.
The funeral of the Haham of the Spanish & Portuguese Jews' Congregations in England took place yesterday. The internment was proceeded by an impressive ceremony at the Synagogue in Bevis Marks. Almost every Jewish institute and Chevra were represented, and every metropolitan and provincial synagogue. At conclusion of the special service, the Congregation, which could not have numbered less than 1,000 souls, in the courtyard of the synagogue, assembled to await their conveyance to the cemetery, Mile End. In addition to about 80 mourning coaches, a large number of private carriages and cabs followed in the procession; throughout nearly the entire length of the road through which the cortege passed, shops were closed and numerous clusters of persons were to be seen. Bevis Marks, Heneage Lane, and adjoining thoroughfares were lined with mourning coaches, and more than an hour elapsed before the final carriage was despatched. The Rev. the Chief Rabbi proceeded to the ceremony in his private carriage, where he remained till conclusion of the burial service. On arriving at the cemetery the body was conveyed to the mortuary hall, which was densely filled, only those being admitted who were pro-vided with tickets. It is no exaggeration to say not less than 2,000 persons were scattered throughout the grounds, but order was observed. 10.1.1879 (JW)
♦Reports have reached us from all parts of the country which testify the sorrow at the loss which the whole community has sustained in the death of REV. DR. ARTOM. Every Jewish congregation in the United Kingdom has been affected by the affliction, and memorial services were held in a large number of synagogues in this country on Sabbath last, whilst in no house of worship was a service performed without reference being made to the deceased Haham. 17.1.1879 (JW)
♦The Graphic and Pictorial World, of Saturday, contain a portrait and memoir of the late DR. ARTOM. 24.1.1879
♦Various reports having been circulated respecting the cause of death of the lamented Haham, we have authority for stating the foundation for such rumours was a cook (MARY BERNSTEIN), in the employ of DR. ARTOM at the time of his death, stole about £60 during confusion in the household that ensued after his death, and decamped with the proceeds, it is believed, to Paris. 31.1.1879
♦In reference to the number of rumours which have been afloat during the past fortnight concerning the death of the Haham of the Portuguese community, the Standard on Thursday contains a lengthy explanatory account of DR. ARTOM's illness. 31.1.1879
♦NOTICE TO CREDITORS - REV. DR. BENJAMIN ARTOM, deceased of 20 City Road, Chief Rabbi of the Spanish & Portuguese Congregation of England (who died at Brighton 6 January, 1879) - Letters of Administration granted to HENRIETTA ARTOM, his widow - 6 February, 1879 - LINDO & CO., 12 King's Arms Yard, Moorgate Street - Solicitors to Administrix

♦Last evening, evening of the last day of the Sholoshim of the Haham, a memorial service was held in the chief synagogue of the Portuguese congregation, Bevis Marks. The spacious building was well filled, the congregation including representatives of many metropolitan places of worship. The Rev. the Chief Rabbi was present, and occupying the seat of the Banco, reserved for the Parnassim. The synagogue was draped in mourning, and the pew occupied by the late Haham was covered, as it has been since the funeral. 7.2.1879 (JW)

♦The intelligence of the death of REV. DR. ARTOM was received in the Jewish communites of the United States and Canada with sorrow. Perhaps in no congregation out of England did the news create a more profound sensation than in the congregation of Montreal. On Sabbath, 25th ult., Rev. Prof. De Sola delivered an eloquent sermon "in memoriam". The Vestillo Israelitico for the month of February presented its readers with a portrait of the late DR. ARTOM. On Sunday, 9th inst. a solemn funeral service was held at the Synagogue in Asti. An elegy, especially written for the occasion by CHIEF RABBI TERACINA, and set to music by a well-known Jewish composer, SGNR. LEVI of Turin, was sung during the service. Several Italian journals publish obituary notices (the Illustrazione of Milan contained a portrait) of DR. ARTOM, whose career was referred to by all in terms of admiration and respect.

NEW YORK - (From a correspondent) - The news of the death of the REV. DR. ARTOM was first received here from private sources. On the following Sabbath, the Ashkeba was solemnly read, the congregation rising during its recital. Allusion was made to the events in a sermon. The Jewish press contains obituary notices of unusual length. 21.2.1879

♦A correspondent informs news of the death of REV. DR. ARTOM was received at St. Thomas', West Indies with sorrow. On Sabbath, 8th ult., the usual Hashkebah was offered up in the synagogue, in memory of the Haham. 7.3.1879

REV. B.H. ASCHER

REV. B.H. ASCHER thanks for condolences for his late revered and lamented brother, REV. S. ASCHER. - 34 Grosvenor Road, Highbury New Park 20..12.1872

♦Last Wednesday afternoon, at the Great Synagogue Chambers, a testimonial, consisting of deeds of a freehold house situated in the neighbourhood of Highbury New Park, and an embellished address, was presented to REV. B.H. ASCHER. 6.12.1878 (JW)

♦On Thursday evening, 16th inst., the wardens and some members of Dalston Synagogue waited on REV. B.H. ASCHER, at his private residence, 97 Highbury New Park, to present him with a testimonial in recognition, and appreciation, of his acting as Honorary Lecturer of the synagogue. The testimonial consisted of a valuable silver salver, with a kiddush-cup and spice-box. The gentlemen present were afterwards entertained with refreshments. 24.1.1879

♦To the Editor of the Jewish World - Sir, In justice to our community at large, it must be admitted REV. B.H. ASCHER has been a valuable servant for about a quarter of a century, discharging his duties faithfully and to the satisfaction of all. Can it be denied his office is anything but pleasant, easy or healthy? I can only speak from my experience, when I had occasion to perform a religious duty at the cemetery, I have felt effects of the cold, wet clay, trodden only for a few moments. How much more so must it be for an aged person, who is almost daily and at times for several hours, on such damp soil? I am sure many will concur with my views, the time has arrived when the reverend gentleman might be superannuated and his office filled by a younger member. If this is beyond the means of the United Synagogue, let the duties be lightened, so we may be spared the services of such a faithful officer. Yours obediently, WALTER L. PHILLIPS, 3 Milner Square, Barnsbury, N. 14.3.1879

REV. SIMON ASCHER

Death 30.11.1872 at his residence, 2 Bury Street, St. Mary Axe, aged 83; for forty years First Reader of the Great Synagogue. Deeply lamented by his widow, children, relatives and by the community at large.

♦We have this week to regret the death of one of the oldest officials of the Great Synagogue - REV. SIMON ASCHER. For thirtyseven years MR. ASCHER was Reader of the Synagogue, and it is just upon forty years since he resided in our midst. Blessed with robust health, he rarely, except at intervals of vacation, was absent from his duties in connection as Reader. He possessed rare gifts, a flexible and sympathetic voice; proud of his calling, he devoted his highest energies to delight and impress his congregation. MR. ASCHER was beloved by a former and by the present generation. He was admired for his zeal which he threw into his reading. He was kind and conciliatory in his manner, and had the art of winning and retaining friends. We do not believe there exists an instance of one unkind act in relation to his life - a life, singularly even in some respects, but deeply overshadowed by domestic grief in children removed in their prime, and one blessed with great genius, and whose brilliant career was eclipsed after the fairest dawn. 6.12.1872

♦On Sunday the tombstone erected to the memory of REV. SIMON ASCHER, First Reader of the Great Synagogue, was consecrated. The tombstone is of plain description, and was erected by the widow of MR. ASCHER. We fail to understand why precedent was not followed and the tombstone erected to the memory of one who served his congregation so well for thirty years should not have been erected at the expense of that congregation. When at the grave, REV. B.H. ASCHER, brother of the deceased, addressed a few words to bystanders. 4.4.1873

Death 4.3.1874 at Goordaspur, Punjaub, India, (Executive Engineer, Department Public Works) beloved eldest son of ASHER ASHER of 20 Randolph Road, Maida Hill in the 36th year of his age.
♦There are some men who help to do the world's work in an unpatronising manner - and pass away without record save in the recesses of the hearts of those who loved and honoured him. Such a man was EDWARD L. ASHER. He went to India at an early age, and was on the eve of starting for a home journey to visit his parents after many years of separation, when he perished by a gun accident - a fire-arm which he held having exploded unexpectedly. The Principal of the Government College of Lahore fills a column in our contemporary, Allen's Indian Mail, with an obituary. He describes him as a man of unsurpassed honesty of purpose and rarely equalled in natural genius. He adds: "He has left behind him a reputation as a distinguished engineer and as a high-minded gentleman. His conversation was brilliant; he rode well. His fugiture pieces and contributions to Indian Public Opinion have cheered many an English exile. Plucky to daring, untiring in the saddle, punctual at office, impartial, independent and conscientious his knowledge of natives and his profession must have brought him to the front. All his colleagues respect his memory as that of one of the most honourable of men that ever lived, and a distinguished engineer. I hear his native subordinates have petitioned to erect a tomb over him, at their expense.
He was a pupil at University College School up to his 16th year, and, at an early age, took the BA. degree at London University. He attained classes for engineering and architecture at University College and pursued similar studies at the University of Ghent in Belgium. He passed among 40 candidates selected by competitive examination for appointments in the Public Works Department. He left for India in June, 1861. His energy during the Rajpootna Famine brought him to notice."
The writer adds "This is an attempt to enumerate some of the labours of one of the ablest men whom this country has had in her dependancy, and who died after thirteen years of uninterrupted and successful work in discharge of his duties." 12.6.1874

REV. DR. H. BAAR
Some time ago we learn an old lady - Mrs. Catherine Hodgson of Brock Street, Liverpool - had bequeathed nearly all her property to REV. DR. BAAR, formerly Minister of the Old Hebrew Congregation of Liverpool, and to the Jewish Hospital at Jerusalem. The will was disputed by relatives of the deceased on the grounds she was not of sound mind, memory and understanding. The matter was tried on Friday, 9th inst., before Sir James Hannen. It appeared the testatrix was a person who spent little on her attire, and used to go about dressed as a quakeress. She, after her husband's death, resided alone, and had a number of hens and cats at the house. When they died large boxes were prepared for their reception. Mrs. Hodgson, according to the case for the will, was a lady of strong and conservative tendancies, and used to converse on imperial topics in a sane and natural manner. Letters were put forward which showed the deceased had delusion as to her communications with the Supreme Being, and after they had been read Mr. Inderwick (counsel for REV. DR. BARR) withdrew from the case. The jury found against the will, and the Judge pronounced costs out of the estate. Her legacy to the Jewish Hospital, Jerusalem was declared null and void. 23.2.1877
♦DR. H. BARR (formerly of Liverpool), superintendant of the New York Hebrew Orphan Asylum, has been honoured with an autograph letter from the Crown Princess of Germany and the Duke of Gotha, complimenting him upon the finished style of his sermons delivered on Sabbath to children of the Asylum. 10.9.1880 (JW)

REV. DAYAN A.L. BARNETT with his wife and children thanks for condolences for their late lamented daughter and sister. - 4 Castle Street, Houndsditch, formerly 28 Jewry Street, Aldgate 4.9.1874
♦REV. A.L. BARNETT begs to intimate he has removed from Castle Street, Houndsditch to 35 Ellington Road, Barnsbury, N. 23.3.1877 (JW)
♦Death 10.2.1878 at his residence 35 Ellington Street, Barnsbury in his 81st year, after a long and painful illness, for over forty years Dayan of the United Congregation. Deeply regretted by his sorrowing widow (to whom he had been united sixtyone years), his children and family.
♦On Sunday there passed away peacefully, after a long and painful illness, at the age of 81, the oldest member of the Jewish clergy, REV. A.L. BARNETT. He was a rabbi of the old orthodox stamp. The Talmud and its commentaries formed his constant study. He was a native of Krotoschin in the Grand Duchy of Posen. His father was for many years Head of the Beth Din of that town. The deceased was stricken with blindness about five years ago, and he bore his affliction with pious resignation. He leaves behind him to lament his loss a widow, and a large family of children, grandchildren and greatgrandchildren. His funeral took place on Tuesday at West Ham Cemetery. 15.2.1878
♦UNITED SYNAGOGUE - The Chairman announced the death of REV. A.L. BARNETT, one of the Dayanim. He has been a valuable servant of the United Synagogue, and he was sure the Council would agree with him it was desirable their condolences should be sent to the widow and bereaved family. The proposition was agreed to. 15.2.1878 (JW)

GEORGE LEWIS BARNETT
On Friday last Mr. Payne held an inquest at St. Bartholomew's Hospital on the body of GEORGE LEWIS BARNETT, aged 43 years. Arthur Abell said, on Tuesday, about half-past six in the evening, he was in a van loaded with silver bullion in Leadenhall Street; he was sitting in front of the van by the side of the driver; when they got to the gateway of the Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Company's premises, he saw two men sitting on the sloping stone at the gateway, and the driver called out before turning; one of the men got up and stood on the pavement. The deceased stood on the stone to let the van pass; the horses passed him and the fore-wheel of the van, but the deceased slipped, and fell between the fore and hind wheels, and the latter went on his left leg. The driver stopped in time to prevent it going over him; the deceased was picked up, and taken away; there was time for the deceased to get out of the way. Other witnesses corroborated the above. James Reading said he took deceased to hospital; he said, coming along, "It's a bad job, but it's quite an accident." Mr. Turner, house surgeon, said the deceased was brought in on Tuesday; he had a compound fracture of his right leg, and a fracture of the left leg, and died, on Wednesday, from shock. A verdict of "accidental death" was returned. 20.9.1872

PERCY A. BARNETT
We have pleasure in recording the success at Oxford University of a former pupil of our Jewish elementary schools, PERCY BARNETT, an old Jews' Hospital boy, and Evelina Scholar, who was sent, on leaving Norwood, to the City of London School. Last week he became a candidate for an open Classical Scholarship in the joint examination held by Trinity and Exeter Colleges, Oxford. According to the Daily News there were 44 candidates. In this examination PERCY BARNETT has gained 2nd place and has become entitled to a scholarship of the value of £400. In commemoration of this event, the head master of Jews' Hospital & Orphan Asylum granted pupils a day's holyday, and the hero of the day received an ovation at the hands of his former schoolfellows at Norwood. 2.2.1877
♦PERCY A. BARNETT of the City of London School, and formerly of Jews' Hospital, Lower Norwood, has been awarded by Delegates of Oxford & Cambridge Schools Examination a prize of books, a silver medal and a scholarship of £200 for excellence in Classical Studies and Criticism. 3.8.1877
♦We notice with pleasure PERCY A. BARNETT, of Trinity College, Oxford has achieved the distinction of gaining a First Class in Classical Moderations in examinations of his University. 11.7.1879

CREMORNE GARDENS - On Wednesday, a benefit was held at these gardens in aid of the "Sir Paul Pindar" Benevolent Society. MR. JOHN BAUM, proprietor of the gardens, had given to the charity exceptional privileges. He placed the gardens gratuitously at their disposal, allowed the committee of the charity two reels without deduction of proceeds from the sale of tickets, and presented the charity with all cash payments for admission to the gardens until a late hour in the evening. The benefit was highly successful, and the generosity of MR. BAUM has helped to materially increase the funds of the charity. 19.7.1872

♦A few days ago ZALIG BAUM, a respectable man, aged 35, who has for many years earned an honest living as a commercial traveller, died suddenly of heart disease. He left a wife and six children, the eldest of whom is 10 years of age, to mourn his loss. They are left destitute, and want stares them in the face and adds to their anguish. A movement has been set on foot to raise funds to alleviate this heartrending case of distress and your contribution is earnestly requested. - H. ZALIG LEWIS BAUM
Death 24.4.1879, suddenly, of heart disease, aged 35, of 20 Willow Street, St. Peter's Road, Mile End.
♦On Sunday Mr. Humphreys held an inquest on the body of LOUIS ZALIG BAUM, aged 35, a traveller in jewellery. On Thursday, 24th inst. the deceased, on returning from the country and just previous to his arriving home, was suddenly taken ill and immediately conveyed to London Hospital, where, on admission, he was found to be dead. The enquiry was adjourned to Friday to permit further investigation. The deceased being well and favourably known, a meeting of his friends was held on Monday evening last, with the object of raising a fund for relieving the widow and six orphans, who are left unprovided for. The children are very young, the eldest not being more than 11 years old. It is intended to collect an amount of money sufficient to place the widow in business, which shall render her independent of any further extraneous help. About £30 was collected in the room, and several other gentlemen have promised to second the efforts of the committee. 2.5.1879 (JW)

MR. D. LOUISSON BAYLIS desires to intimate to his friends and acquaintances residing in England, he has just arrived from Australia on a short visit to his mother country. 6.11.1874 (JW)

LORD BEACONSFIELD, BENJAMIN D'ISRAELI
The Koelnische Zeitung says:- DISRAELI plays one of the most marvellous parts. He does not deny his Jewish descent; on the contrary he is proud of it, and his curly hair and his whole physognomy show distinctly he belongs to the seed of Abraham. Since the time of Haman no Jew has ever had a greater success. He is the recognised leader of the greatest aristocracy of the world. 27.2.1874
♦The Levant Herald referring to MR. DISRAELI says it is a marvellous thing to see the grandson of a Venetian Jewish pedlar for the second time Prime Minister of England, and for the first time champion of the Protestant cause. DISRAELI's grandfather, however, was not a Jewish pedlar, but a merchant of considerable position. 4.9.1874
♦The February number of Art: Pictorial and Industrial contains a sketch of MR. D'ISRAELI. 19.2.1875
♦The January number of the Gentleman's Magazine contains an account of the conversion to Christianity of MR. D'ISRAELI's family by ADOLPHUS ROSENBERG. 24.12.1875 (JW)
♦The Spectator writes: LORD BEACONSFIELD must have been studying the Book of Daniel. It is difficult to believe anyone but he wrote the pompous proclamation in which Lord Lytton announces on January 1, 1877 he would hold an "Imperial Assembly" at Delhi to proclaim Queen Victoria "Empress of India". 1.9.1876
♦The Spectator does not think LORD BEACONSFIELD's career so extaordinary as described by some papers. The Spectator in an article devoted to a discussion of his career says: The son of a gentleman of good fortune and high intellectual ability, who was a writer of established reputation with a great library and the power of intercourse with eminent men, MR. DISRAELI had no exceptional difficulty to contend with except his race, which he made a source of pride, and which has never checked any Englishman who professed Christianity. 8.9.1876
♦HANOVER - LORD BEACONSFIELD was, by request, received at the station by commercial councillor FERNSDORFF, a coreligionist. The premier stayed overnight on Tuesday in the city. - Wochenscrift 21.6.1878
♦The Hindoo Patriot of 18th ult. contained a stirring poem by "An Englishman, London", denouncing in strong terms attacks made on LORD BEACONSFIELD on the grounds of his Jewish birth, and pleading for equality of all races or religions. 16.9.1878
♦The Spectator, in an article on "Popular Satire and LORD BEACONSFIELD", refering to the "nerve of genuine superstition running through him, both as to the principle of race, and as to the magic of personal destiny", makes the following remarks: "He is a mountebank of genius; but a mountebank with a deep belief in his race, himself and his destiny. It is this which has coloured all his life, from his first shrill warning to the House of Commons that one day he would make them hear him, to his recent policy in relation to the East." 30.8.1878
♦Under the title of "Three Generations of the DISRAELI Family in the City" City Press published an interesting article from which we glean the following facts. BENJAMIN D'ISRAELI, who landed on our shores in 1748, was in the fruit and colonial trade, and the firm which he founded is still said to exist under another designation in Mincing Lane. His country house was at Enfield. LORD BEACONSFIELD was baptised in the City. In the Parish Register of St. Andrew's, Holborn anyone may see a document, stating on the last day of July, in the year 1817, BENJAMIN, son of ISAAC D'ISRAELI, gentleman, and MARIA, his wife, residing in King's Road, was baptised by J. Thimbleby. Very few years later this lad sat at a solicitor's desk in Frederick's Place, Old Jewry. The firm was Swain & Co.; it is now Maples, Teesdale & Co. The firm turned over his articles without further cost to one of his brothers. One died not many years since; the other, RALPH, is Chief Clerk to the Master of the Rolls. BENJAMIN left Old Jewry to write Vivian Gray. 6.9.1878 (JW)
♦The house, 6 Bloomsbury Square, in which BENJAMIN D'ISRAELI was born, has been turned into a boarding-house for boys attending King's College School. 19.9.1879

EDWARD HENRY BEDDINGTON
Death on the morning of 31.10.1872 at his residence 98 Lancaster Gate, aged 53, deeply lamented.
♦As our journal of last week was going to press, we received with regret intelligence of the death of EDWARD HENRY BEDDINGTON. MR. BEDDINGTON was a man of gentle and courteous demeanour, kindhearted, energetic and intelligent. He was a member of a family that attained a respected position in the community by its liberality, ability, zeal and suavity. As Chairman of the Building Committee of the United Synagogue, as a member of its Council, as one of the Treasurers of Jews' College, and in other capacities, MR. BEDDINGTON had done, and was doing at the time of his death, good and useful service to the communal cause. He was one of the principal movers in the proposal before the community for the purchase of a new cemetery. Just as the appeal in its aid was passing through the press, he was struck down by heart disease. At his wish, his remains, though temporarily deposited in West Ham Cemetery, will be laid in the new Willesden Burial Ground as soon as it can be prepared for their reception. Within two days before his death one of his daughters married beneath his roof. 8.11.1872
♦The will, with three codicils, of EDWARD HENRY BEDDINGTON, of Lancaster Gate & Monkwell Street was proved by H.L. BEDDINGTON, D. HYAM & J.H. BEDDINGTON, acting executors, personalty being sworn under £300,000. The testator bequeathes to his executors and to LOUIS NATHAN £500; to LOUIS WALFORD £1,000; to D.L. BEDDINGTON £3,000; upon trust for his sisters £3,000 each; to his wife all household goods, horses and carriages in and about his residence, ready money about the house up to £500, a legacy of £500 and £100 to distribute among servants; the house at Lancaster Gate for life; after her death the house is to be given to his son HENRY EDWARD. The will contains legacies of £100 each, free of duty, to REV. A.L. GREEN, SIMON ASCHER & REV. M. KEIZER, and £100 each to various charities. All his freehold property he leaves to his son; his leasehold house to his eldest daughter. A legacy of £20,000 is left to each of his children, and £1,000 additional to each of his daughters to provide their marriage trousseau. The residue of his property among his children - sons to take double the shares. - Illustrated London News 17.1.1873

REV. PHILIP BENDER
The Morning Irish Mail contains the following paragraph: "In none of the superior schools of Dublin has success been more conspicuous than in that presided over by REV. PHILIP BENDER of Mount Street. The prizes gained by MR. BENDER's pupils during their college career have bourne ample testimony to his zealous personal care, and in some cases the rapidity with which intelligence has been acquired has been as striking as the result." 12.7.1872
♦The Dublin Mail contains an extract from a sermon preached by REV. MR. BENDER in Dublin Synagogue, where he made a graceful allusion to the election of ALDERMAN HARRIS for one of the city wards. 11.12.1874
♦DUBLIN - REV. PH. BENDER had the honour of being invited to the Lord Mayor's Banquet on the 6th inst. to meet His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the Duke of Marlborough. 9.2.1877

♦The Irish Times of 12th inst. contains a eulogistic article on the qualifications of REV. P. BENDER, who seeks appointment to Regius Professorship of Hebrew in Dublin University. 20.12.1878 (JW)
♦On Sunday REV. PH. BENDER, in celebration of his youngest son's Bar Mitzvah, took his pupils and a few friends to the waterfalls at Poulafrucha, 22 miles from Dublin. There being the necessary number for a Minyan, MR. BENDER read Mincha service, and many of the visitors looked on with surprise and wonder; the greatest respect and reverence was manifested. 22.8.1880

RACHEL BENHAM
On Saturday Dr. Hardwicke held an inquest at 43 Warwick Road, Westbourne Park on MRS. RACHEL BENHAM, aged 75, widow of a gentleman. The evidence given by a son, a shipowner, was the deceased was in good health until the previous Wednesday, when he heard she was unwell. He proceeded to the house next morning, and discovered she had been found dead on the floor of her bedroom. Dr. Lissons stated the deceased must have had a fit of coughing, which brought on apoplexy. The post-mortem showed an effusion of blood on the brain, caused by bursting of an artery. Verdict accordingly. 28.8.1874 (JW)

ABRAHAM BENISCH
DR. BENISCH's work on the rise and development of Judaism has elicited favourable criticisms from a great portion of the press. The Echo of 24th ult. reviews the work. 1.1.1875 (JW)
♦Death 31.7.1878 at 13 Brownswood Park, Green Lane, N., after a lingering illness, aged 67.
♦It is our sad duty to announce the death, at the age of 67, of ABRAHAM BENISCH, Ph.D., who for nearly a quarter of a century was Editor of this journal. DR. BENISCH succumbed on Wednesday to the prolonged and persistent effects of a painful illness. 2.8.1878
♦At a meeting of the Literary Sub-Committee of the Society of Hebrew Literature, held on Wednesday night, at the residence of SIR BENJAMIN S. PHILLIPS, 46 Portman Square, a vote was passed expressing the sorrow with which the Committee learned of the death of DR. ABRAHAM BENISCH, one of the principal founders of the Society. 2.8.1878
♦NOTICE TO CREDITORS - DR. ABRAHAM BENISCH, of 13 Brownswood Park, Middlesex, who died 31 July, 1878 whose Will was proved by ISAAC SELIGMAN, ELLIS ABRAHAM FRANKLIN & DANIEL CASTELLO. - 30 August, 1878 - HENRY HARRIS, 64 Moorgate Street, London, Solicitor for Executors of the deceased
♦The following letter was published in the West Briton on Friday: "Sir, the learned BENISCH, for many years chief editor of the Jewish Chronicle, is dead, and though he requested his friends no obituary notice of him should appear in his own journal, there is no reason why we who have been under literary obligation to him should not acknowledge our gratitude. The deceased gentleman was author of several learned works; among them "Jewish Institutions" and a "Reply to Dr. Colenso's attack on the Pentateuch". This able scholar translated the Hebrew Bible into English, and his translation is held in high estimation by orthodox Jews. One of his works has just been translated into French. In the death of DR. BENISCH Israel has lost a true friend and freedom a powerful advocate. Yours faithfully, Lucretius" 30.8.1878
♦The will of DR. ABRAHAM BENISCH, late of 13 Brownswood Park, who died on July 31st, was proved on 11th ult. by ISAAC SELIGMAN, ELLIS ABRAHAM FRANKLIN & DANIEL CASTELLO, executors, the personal estate being sworn under £18,000. The testator, after giving legacies, gave the remainder of his property upon trust for his brother, DR. MORITZ BENISCH of Vienna, for life, and then to his sister, FRAU ANNA STEIN. The deceased was proprietor of the Jewish Chronicle. - Illustrated London News 20.9.1878
♦The tombstone to the memory of the late DR. A. BENISCH was "set" on Sunday with the usual religious ceremony. According to the desire of the deceased, as expressed in his Will, the tombstone has a simple headstone, and the inscription is in the briefest possible form. 8.11.1878

SILVER BENITO
On Friday last Alfred Lewis was charged with assaulting SILVER BENITO of 36 Gerrard Street. The complainant stated on Wednesday night he was standing outside Oxford Tavern, when the prisoner, a stranger, pushed him intentionally and on his remonstrating and saying he would charge him, the prisoner struck him a violent blow on the mouth, telling him he did it because he was a Jew. MR. ALBERT BENITO, brother of the complainant, corroborated the evidence, adding the prisoner without provocation called him dirty Jew, and after assaulting his brother, said he did not care what fine he paid for striking a Jew. Mr. Cooke fined the prisoner £5, which was paid. 30.11.1877

We learn the Lord Chancellor has granted a patent of precedence to the HON. J.P. BENJAMIN, whose success at the English bar has been one of the many remarkable incidents in his eventful career. 2.8.1872
♦The New Orleans Democrat states MR. J.P. BENJAMIN has bought a beautiful Parisian residence for the sum of 300,000 francs. It is added this sum does not exceed half of his yearly income from his practice in English courts. The Southern journal recalls MR. BENJAMIN, fourteen years ago, after dispersion of the Confederate Government, tramped on foot from Center Georgia to Florida, and escaped in an open boat to Nassau with a single 10 dollar piece in his pocket, which he gave to the negro who rowed the little boat. 12.9.1879 (JW)

TO ELECTORS OF BAYSWATER SYNAGOGUE - Gentlemen, It affords me much pleasure to thank you for your votes on Sunday last, which confers on me the honour of being one of your Representatives at the United Council. I beg to state I enter the Council Chamber as an independent member, bound to no party, consequently make no promises, excepting I pledge myself to support every conciliatory measure having in view the cementing of love and good will in all our congregations. - M.H. BENJAMIN, 68 Lancaster Gate, Hyde Park, April 6, 1873
♦TO SEATHOLDERS OF BAYSWATER SYNAGOGUE - Gentlemen, It affords me great pleasure to thank you for the renewal of your confidence in electing me as one of your Represenatives of the United Council, a post of honour I am compelled to decline as the New Synagogue, Great St. Helens elected me simultaneously with your goodselves and it having stronger claims upon me, I have decided to become their Representative. I remain, Gentlemen, Your obedient servant, M.H. BENJAMIN, 60 Lancaster Gate, 17 April, 1877.

On Saturday morning, an interesting ceremony took place at Middlesbro' Synagogue, viz., confirmation of a son of MR. BERGER of Newport Road. The ceremony commenced by the graduate reading the portion of Law allotted to him, after which MR. BENJAMIN, the Hebrew schoolmaster, examined him in front of the ark, the lad repeating his declaration of belief in the Thirteen Articles of the creed and reciting the Ten Commandments. MR. BENJAMIN gave a short address to the lad. A reply was made by MASTER BERGER making a confession of faith, thanking his instructor for the kind counsels, and expresing a determination to adhere to the laws which had been for thousands of years kept by his predecessors, being convinced it would further his progress in this life and hereafter. At termination of the service MR. BERGER entertained a few friends at his residence. 12.2.1875 (JW)

PROF. MICHEL BERGSON
Birth Saturday 7.10.1871 at 21 Shirland Road, Maida Hill a son.
♦M. BERGSON gave an afternoon concert at St. George's Hall. The attendance was scanty and consisted in the most part of ladies. Perhaps the most interesting feature in the programme was M. BERGSON's "Concerto Symphonique". With regard to this composition the composer's intentions never for a moment become indefinite or obscure. The painoforte solos performed by M. BERGSON were all composed by himself; it may be said he affirmed he possesses taste and expression. 19.7.1872
♦To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, Everyone who attended MR. BERGSON's concert must have been struck with the animus of your reporter who glaringly indicated it was his intention to undervalue the above artiste. I have hitherto noticed the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle records in his journal everything favourable to Jewish talent, whilst M. BERGSON, having been obliged to leave France in consequence of the war with Germany, has been an exception. If the notice had been written with fairness, why commence with the inaccurate statement "attendance was scanty", and consisted "for the most part of ladies", when there were 300 persons present? I add I have seen other notices of this concert, and particularly that in the Standard of last Thursday, the difference of which very much struck me. Yours obediently, VERAX. 26.7.1872
♦To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, I seem to have given great offence to MR. BERGSON's friends because I did not go into ecstasies over his compositions and rave about his playing. It is because progress of art is my sole desire that in reviewing M. BERGSON's powers and performance, I cannot take into account circumstances which obliged M. BERGSON to leave France. I state en passant attendance at the concert was scanty. I have replied to the letter for the sake of those readers who might have been misled by the observations contained. Yours obediently, Writer of the Notice. July 29, 1872.
♦The prize of Honour at the University of Sorbonne was gained by a Jewish youth, in his 16th year, HENRI LOUIS BERGSON, son of MICHEL BERGSON of 21 Shirland Road, and grandson of DR. I.L. LEVISON. The occurrence is remarkable from the fact this prize has hitherto been obtained by young men over twenty. 20.8.1875

LOUIS RAPHAEL BISCHOFFSHEIM

The erection of the Athenee at Paris, designated at first for concerts for charitable purposes, was due to the late LOUIS RAPHAEL BISCHOFFSHEIM, whose death we announced last week. M. BISCHOFFSHEIM was father-in-law of JULES BEER, the composer, a nephew of MEYERHEER. A French paper says: "We notice the death of M. BISCHOFFSHEIM, chief of the important house of BISCHOFFSHEIM-GOULDSCHMIDT; he was 73 years old when he died, and he succumbed to an operation rendered necessary by an incurable internal disease. He has left a considerable fortune; estimates vary between 60 & 80m. of francs. He gained his fortune principally by negotiation of foreign loans. He has left two sons and a daughter, MDME. BEER. The elder son is head of the London firm; the younger has taken a minor part in the labours of his father, devoting himself more to art and drama."

M. BISCHOFFSHEIM was formerly a resident in Amsterdam. The Weekblad voor Israeliten, in its biography of the late banker, says he made his name imperishable in Amsterdam through the Bischoffsheim Institute and Bischoffsheim Association, both of which he founded. 28.11.1873

ABRAHAM BITTAN

The sympathy of the Jewish public is solicited on behalf of ABRAHAM BITTAN, who has a wife and nine children. He has for many years earned a livelihood by honest industry, but owing to a severe injury met with while riding on an omnibus, has been in London and St. Bartholomew's Hospitals for several months past, and incapable of following his usual employment. This misfortune has caused the breaking up of his home and left him destitute. 11.4.1873

A. BIURSKI

Marriage 2.4.1873, at Hanley, by Rev. Prof. Isaacs, of Burslem, to SARAH, daughter of MR. J. SOLOMONS of Hanley.

The first marriage celebrated at Hanley took place in the temporary synagogue in Foundy Street, and attracted great attention in the town, the synagogue, and even the streets, being crowded. The bride is a daughter of MR. SOLOMON of Hanley, and the bridegroom is MR. BIURSKI of Burslem. In the afternoon, provisions were given to 100 poor persons of Hanley by the bridegroom, who preferred this mode of celebrating his wedding to making the customary honeymoon trip. 11.4.1873

Death 15.9.1875 at Tudor House, Harborne Road, Birmingham in the 45th year of his age.

♦A gloom has been cast over the Jewish community at Birmingham by the death of MR. A.S. BLANCKENSEE, whose loss will be painfully felt by many of the local charitable institutions. The deceased died after a brief illness. He was known in the town by his connection with the General Hospital, the Hospital for Women, the Sanatorium, etc. He had acted on the Board of Queen's Hospital, as a member of the Municipal Board of Guardians, and was at the time of his death an Overseer of the Poor. In the Jewish community he occupied in turn every honorary office connected with the congregation and its charities. As a mark of the respect in which the deceased was held by his coreligionists his funeral was attended by a large assembly. Subsequently every committee of the congregation, at meetings held for that purpose, adopted resolutions of condolences, which have been forward to the widow and family. 24.9.1875

MORRIS BLOCK
On Thursday week last, MORRIS BLOCK, a glazier, was charged at Middlesex Sessions with stealing 2s.6d., while engaged in putting in windows in a house situated in the Borough. It appeared the mistress of the house not being able to pay for the work had desired the man to call the next day to receive his money, but on his doing so and being refused payment for windows he had put in, he took out the glass, and was at once given into custody and charged with theft. While in prison, the fellow refused to partake of any food, as he considered it trifa, and had it not been for the intervention of MR. E. GRAUMANN, who supplied him with food, results might have been serious. MR. GRAUMANN solicited funds on behalf of the prisoner, in order to obtain counsel to defend him on his trial, and MR. M.S. OPPENHEIM was retained. The innocence of BLOCK having been established, he was released, the jury stopping the case before it was half gone through, not requiring MR. BLOCK to reply, but unanimously returning a verdict of "Not Guilty". The counsel for the prosecution asked leave to retire from his duty after the trial had commenced. 27.3.1874 (JW)

ALBERT I. BOSS
Birth 30.6.1871 at 39 Bedford Place, Russell Square a son.
♦Birth 14.2.1874 at 39 Bedford Place, Russell Square a daughter.
♦UNITED SYNAGOGUE - The following letter from ALBERT I. BOSS was read:- Dear Sir, I find some members of the Board feel aggrieved at the introduction of the name of the Council of the United Synagogue in a case in which I was plaintiff in the Guildhall. It was not my intention to bring the name of the Council of the United Synagogue in connection with my private affairs before the public; it occurred without my sanction, and to my surprise and regret. But for the high-minded anonymous person who had the great courage and took the trouble to distribute his circular to all connected with communal matters, the name of the Council would never have appeared in the columns of the world. Under the circumstances I can no longer sit on the Board, either with advantage to the constituency I represent, to the community at large, or with comfort to myself. I resign my seat as representative at the Council of Hambro' Synagogue, and as delegate to the Council at the Board of Guardians. It was my intention to appear at the Council and explain in person the whole of the proceedings in which I was engaged; but as in such explanation other matters, not my own, would have been alluded to, discussion of which would have been seriously detrimental to the congregation, I have sacrificed my personal considerations to the peace of the community. Yet, before I close this letter, I must protest against this selfdenial on my part being construed into an avowal of my having committed the slightest act of dishonesty. As to the insinuation I or my partner sought to obtain payment twice of the same amount, I deny this insinuation has any foundation in truth. I have other proofs beyond my word that would satisfy my enemies of the truth of my assertion. I was known to be a bill discounter and a lender of money at high rates of interest when elected to your Board. I will add I have always conducted my business with the strictest integrity. Yours truly, ALBERT I. BOSS. - To DR. ASHER, Secretary of the Council of the United Synagogue.
Considerable discussion followed the reading of this communication. MR. M.S. OPPENHEIM withdrew his notice of motion calling for the resignation of MR. BOSS, and the resignation of MR. A.I. BOSS was accepted. 5.3.1875 (JW)

♦The residence of MR. BRAHAM, 325 City Road, was broken into by burglars on Saturday night. A son of MR. BRAHAM, who had an encounter with the thieves, received such fearful injuries at the hands of one of them a fatal termination to his illness was at first aprehended. Later accounts state HENRY BRAHAM is likely to recover. A man, who was arrested on suspicion of being one of the burglars, was brought before Mr. Hosack at Clerkenwell Police Court on Monday, and remanded for a week. On the following day ALFRED BRAHAM applied to the registrar to change the day of re-examination of the prisoner, the applicant stating Monday next is a strict fast day for members of the Jewish religion. Mr. Hosack granted the application, and the case was remanded till Tuesday. 14.9.1877

Death 5.2.1873 at his residence Fairlawn, Central Hill, Upper Norwood, aged 66.

♦Liverpool is much interested in a large legacy left by JAMES BRAHAM, who recently died in London, and who was formerly a resident in Liverpool. The personalty of the deceased was, I am told, sworn under £24,000. This amount (after payment of minor bequests) is left for the benefit of the widow. At her death nearly £20,000 is bequeathed to Liverpool old congregation in trust. Sufficient is to be invested to produce £100 a year, which is to be allotted annually (on the anniversary of the wedding day of the deceased) to one of the three best girls of Liverpool Jewish Schools. The principal is to be paid to the recipient on her marriage. The residue of the £20,000 is to be invested in the name of the trustees, and the interest is to be applied for maintenance of the minister and preacher of the old congregation, but the gentleman filling the post must be an Englishman. 19.9.1873

At a competition at the London Academy of Music, one of two prize scholarships for proficiency in singing was awarded to MISS LEONORA BRAHAM (ABRAHAM), daughter of PHILIP ABRAHAM of Gower Street. The Standard says at the Crystal Palace Nation Music Meetings, MISS LEONORA BRAHAM's voice, appearance and style made an equally favourable impression at once. MISS BRAHAM was elected to sing Handel's "From Mighty Kings" ("Judas Maccabeus"), which she delivered with fidelity, ease and brilliance. It was evident MISS BRAHAM's voice was not sufficient for the ordeal, since in the vast space, volume of voice alone told with effect. 1.8.1873

CHARLES CALMAN
We regret to announce the death of CHARLES CALMAN, respected President of Bradford Jewish Congregation, which occurred at his residence, Walmer Villas, on Sunday. Several years ago he came over from Germany to reside in Bradford, where by zealous work and thrift he managed to establish his own house of business. He was a man of quiet and thoughtful habits, practising many acts of charitable deeds without pretence to ostentation or show. He was one of the founders of Bradford Congregation, and acted as its President from its establishment until his death. He was active in collecting funds for the purchase of a Jewish burial place. The deceased, who leaves a widow and four children, was interred on Wednesday, the funeral service being performed by REV. DR. STRAUSS, who delivered a touching address, enlarging upon the great merits of the deceased, especially as rgards Judaism. The deceased was esteemed and respected by his coreligionists and townsmen of all denominations. MR. CALMAN never missed a service when he was in town. 26.11.1880

SOLOMON CAPPELLE
The body of a Jew was found in a wood at Broadclyst, near Exeter, on Saturday. It appears the man is named SOLOMON CAPPELLE, and he is a native of Groningen. Various papers and a purse, also a Hebrew prayer book, etc. were found on the body. It was supposed he had committed suicide. MR. ALEXANDER of High Street, Exeter, President of the congregation of that city, telegraphed to the authorities to delay burial of the body, until he or his representative could see it. MR. ALEXANDER states: The deceased had been to Falmouth and other places in Cornwall. On 18th August he called upon him and he gave him an order for relief from the Itinerant Fund of the Congregation. The deceased travelled with "drops" which he made up for the cure of cuts, rheumatism and so on, and he was about 35 years of age. It apears on 19th or 20th August he was walking through Broadclyst, having his Taleth on his head, and he was in prayer. MR. ALEXANDER had but little doubt the man was insane. The deceased told MR. ALEXANDER he proposed to go on his rounds to Taunton and he would return to Exeter on Friday for the New Year; he was promised if he returned he should have lodgings and a sum of money while he remained in the city. After the inquest MR. ALEXANDER took possession of the body, and it was interred in the Jewish burying ground, Exeter, the community defraying all expenses. 11.9.1874

The male inmates of the Spanish & Portuguese Orphan Asylum were treated through the liberality of DANIEL CASTELLO, Treasurer of the Institution, to a day's excursion to Broxbourne on Tuesday. 14.8.1874
♦On Thursday, 29 June, 1876 children attending the Portuguese Schools, in company with a portion of Stepney School children, spent a pleasant day at North Woolwich Gardens. The expenses of the treat were defrayed by DANIEL CASTELLO, in honour of the Barmitzvah of his son. MR. & MRS. CASTELLO were present towards the end of the day and were engaged in catering for the comforts of the little ones, who expressed their gratitude to their friends by giving three hearty cheers before leaving the gardens. (JW)
♦On Monday evening, boys of the Orphan Society of the Spanish & Portuguese Congregation were entertained with some "magic and mystery" by J. & P. CASTELLO (sons of DANIEL CASTELLO). The members of the Committee afterwards sat down to a supper provided at the expense of MR. CASTELLO, who defrayed the cost of a repast to the boys. 24.3.1879
♦On Wednesday evening, the boys' Orphan School of the Spanish & Portuguese Congregation attended (by invitation of David James) the Vaudeville Theatre. They were provided with refreshments at the expense of MR. D. CASTELLO, President. 23.1.1880
♦On Tuesday boys of the Spanish & Portuguese Orphan Society were, through the kindness of DANIEL CASTELLO, President of the Institution, treated to a day's excursion to Alexandra Palace. An enjoyable day was spent, and the many amusements afforded by the management of the Palace were heartily appreciated by the boys, who returned late in the evening, after giving "three cheers" for MR. CASTELLO. 30.7.1880

♦The celebration of the marriage of MR. J.M. CASTELLO with MISS BENHAM on 6th inst. was the occasion of generous gifts to communal institutions. At the Spanish & Portuguese Schools a splendid tea was provided for 200 children (infants too young to be present having plentifully been provided with cakes and sweets), and an elegant repast was spread for masters, governesses, and many friends who were present. MR. BLAND amused and astonished his young audience by his tricks in legerdemcia, and music. Singing and dancing completed the evening's entertainment. A telegram with congratulations was forwarded to the bridal party, and was answered in kind terms. - A similar "treat" was given to inmates of the Jews' Hospital & Orphan Asylum, Jewish Convalescent Home, Jewish Hospital and Jews' Deaf & Dumb Home. 9.11.1877

According to a letter in the Newcastle Daily Chronicle, MR. A. COHEN, of Newcastle-on-Tyne had the enthusiastic acting of Signor Salvini unwillingly impressed upon him last Saturday evening at Tyne Theatre, at which the tragedian is playing Othello. Towards the close of the last act Othello draws his sword to slay Iago. In doing this and in his passion, Salvini drew the scabbard as well and flung the latter across stage into the pit stalls, where MR. COHEN was sitting. He felt the scabbard strike him with force, but he remained in his seat not wishing to disturb the audience, until a lady called his attention to blood streaming from his head and neck, and he was compelled to make a hasty retreat. 17.3.1876

♦Death 30.8.1878 of 35 Upper Bedford Place, Russell Square, in his 85th year. Deeply regretted. May his soul rest in peace.

♦THE LATE AARON COHEN - To the Editor of the "Jewish Chronicle" - Sir, Your advertisement column will record the death of the above gentleman at the age of 84 years, and while his friends and the Jewish public will remember his genial disposition, kind to a fault, religious without unnecessary display, benevolent constitution, none will bewail his loss more than members of Borough New Synagogue. He was its founder under great difficulty over sixtysix years back. He was for fifty years its treasurer, and when he removed "Westwards". his love was so great for his synagogue he continued his membership and liberal offerings annually. To mark the esteem in which he was held, the congregation conferred on him the title of leading member, which honour he held to his death. He was opposed to amalgamation with the United Synagogue, and he was in favour of equalisation of taxation. His intelligence of Biblical history, and great memory stored with religious lore, gave him facile comment of his pen, which he was only too pleased to use through the medium of the Press, by which he will be remembered as a regular correspondent. Yours obediently, MORRIS S. JOSEPH, 62 Clapham Road, S., September 1, 1878

♦Birth 3.8.1877 at 8 Nevill Park, Tunbridge Wells a son. (JW)
♦MR. ARTHUR COHEN, QC., who is canvassing Southwark in the Liberal interest, is one of the most eminent members of the English bar. His father, BENJAMIN COHEN, was brother to LADY BARONESS ROTHSCHILD, and his mother was a sister of SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE. He was educated at Magdallen College, Cambridge, where he gained a wranglership. He was called to the bar about twenty years ago. He is Vice-President of the Board of Deputies. 26.3.1880 (JW)
♦MR. ARTHUR COHEN, QC., MP. was presented by the Lord Chancellor, at the Levee held by the Prince of Wales on Tuesday. 4.6.1880
♦An extraordinary meeting of the Board of Deputies was held last Wednesday evening; HENRY HARRIS, Treasurer, occupied the chair. The appointment of a President was proceeded with, in place of the late MR. J.M. MONTEFIORE. The Chairman proposed ARTHUR COHEN, QC., MP. as a gentleman specially qualified for the post. MR. M.S. OPPENHEIM, in seconding the motion, did so with feelings of regret and pleasure. It was a coincidence while the gentleman who recently occupied the chair was a nephew of the most illustrious man in the community, the gentleman whose name had been proposed was also a nephew of SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE. The motion was put to the vote and carried unanimously. 29.10.1880 (JW)

MR. D. COHEN of Chiswell Street has manufactured the Perpetual Lamp for Leeds Synagogue. The Lamp is silver-plated, and bears an inscription plate, on which the crest of the Shield of David is tastefully inscribed. The cut glass ball inside the lamp contains a ruby reservoir filled with oil, and when lighted the lamp presents a pleasing appearance. 27.9.1878
♦MR. DAVID COHEN of Westbury Terrace, Westbourne Square has invented a new mode for working lamps under the title of the Oil Gauge Lamp. The patent also applies to chandeliers, and the value of the invention is in its convenience for filling the reservoir without extinguishing the light and removing the chimney. 20.8.1880 (JW)
♦MR. DAVID COHEN, 6 Westbury Terrace, has obtained a patent for improvements in oil lamps and chandeliers. 20.8.1880

Birth 26.9.1871 at 7 The Paragon, New Kent Road a daughter.
♦On Thursday, 11th inst., a garden party of a novel and pleasing description was given at the residence of MR. & MRS. EDWARD COHEN of 7 The Paragon, New Kent Road, to girls of Borough Jewish Schools. Thirtytwo children, accompanied by their teachers, assembled at the house at 5 o'clock. They amused themselves in the garden with games, varied with songs tastefully executed, after which they were seated at a table laid in the open air and covered with an ample supply of tea, cake and fruit. After again playing in the garden the guests were conducted into the house and entertained with a magic lantern. After being regaled with buns and other refreshments they returned home. Several young ladies, friends of MR. & MRS. COHEN, were indefatigable in their attention to the children. 19.7.1872

ESTHER COHEN
Shortly before 12 o'clock on the 2nd day of the New Year a serious fire broke out at the residence of MR. D. SOLOMON, Hutchison Street, Aldgate and alarm was caused when it became known a girl 9 years old, ESTHER COHEN, was in the room when fire broke out. As soon as the flames were got under she was rescued by a fireman, but the child was so terribly burnt she died shortly after her admission into the London Hospital whether she had been removed. At the inquest which was held at the London Hospital on Wednesday, it transpired fire broke out owing to ignition of articles of clothing hanging near the fire in the room in which the child had been left during the absence at synagogue of the child's parents. The jury returned a verdict of "Accidental Death". 4.10.1878

At Worship Street Police Court on 30th ult., HENRY SIMON COHEN, aged 16, was charged before Mr. H.J. Busby with robbing his employer, Mr. Simpson of Norton Folgate. It appeared the prisoner was apprenticed to Mr. Simpson by the Society for Promoting Christianity among the Jews, and he had been but a short time in service when Mr. Simpson found he was being robbed. The prisoner was apprehended on a warrant and gave information to the police, when several rugs and other articles were recovered from pawnbrokers where he had pledged them. The prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge, and on the magistrate asking him to what religion he belonged he replied he was a Hebrew-Christian. The prisoner was remanded for the purpose of being sent to a reformatory. 6.6.1879

JOSEPH COHEN
A sad occurrence took place at an early hour on Thursday morning, 30th ult., at the Town Hall, Shoreditch, during festivities held there in celebration of a Jewish wedding solemnised the previous day. It appears one of the guests, JOSEPH COHEN, aged 24, fell from a balustrade into the area beneath. Assistance was immediately rendered him and he was conveyed to the London Hospital, where it was found he was suffering from severe injuries to the lower limbs. Every attention was paid to him and he seemed to be recovering from the effects of the accident, but a relapse set in and after suffering great agony, he died on Tuesday morning. An inquest was held at London Hospital on Wednesday. The jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death". 7.8.1874

REV. JOSEPH ABRAHAMS COHEN
Death 4.3.1875 aged 29, beloved son of DAVID & HANNAH COHEN of 22 Little Alie street, Goodmans Fields, departed this life after a painful illness of more than two years. He had been minister at both New York and Washington, where he was held in the highest estimation by the respective congregations for his sincere piety and meekness. He was impelled to return to his native land by his fatal disease in the hope of being cured. A wise Providence deemed it otherwise. May his soul rest in peace. Deeply lamented by his parents, brothers, sisters and a large circle of friends. - American papers please copy,
♦We regret to announce the demise, at the age of 29, of REV. J.A. COHEN, who for some time filled the office of Minister at New York and Washington. The deceased, who has been suffering from a painful disease for two years, had been ordered by his medical advisers to proceed to England with a view to his recovery, but after a residence of a few months he succumbed to his complaint on 4th inst. The deceased - who, prior to his departure from the United States, was recipient of a handsome testimonial - was educated in London, and gave indication of a bright career. - 12.3.1875 (JW)

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE - On 7th day of Hanucah MR. COHEN, president of the old Congregation, with MRS. COHEN, visited the Congregational Schools, in which they take great interest, and treated pupils to a plentiful entertainment of cakes, fruit, etc. On the previous Sunday, MR. J.F. COHEN, for a long time honorary secretary of the schools, visited the institution to bid farewell to the children before quitting Newcastle for London, and gave them a Hanucah present. 3.1.1873
♦MR. JOSEPH FREEMAN COHEN (of the firm of A.M. & J.F. COHEN, Great St. Helens & Newcastle-on-Tyne), who has been returned as representative of the Board of Deputies for Newcastle Old Congregation, has been named Vice-Consul at Sunderland for the Ottoman Empire. We believe MR. COHEN is the first Jew who has ever held a similar position in connection with the Turkish Government. 31.7.1874
♦On Tuesday children of Newcastle-on-Tyne Congregational Schools, 60 in number, had their annual trip to Tynemouth when they enjoyed themselves on the sands. Entertainments and a substantial tea were provided. It was to the kindness of JOSEPH F. COHEN, deputy of the Old Congregation, the children were indebted for their treat. 14.8.1874
♦Marriage 23.8.1876 at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. the Chief Rabbi, assisted by Revs. A.L. Green & S. Lyons, of 30 Great St. Helens, City & 76 Adelaide Road, Haverstock Hill, eldest son of FREEMAN COHEN, late of Newcastle-on-Tyne, to SARAH, only daughter of I.M. LOUIS of 47 Upper Bedford Place, WC.
♦On Wednesday, 23rd inst., children of Newcastle Hebrew Congregational Schools were treated to an excursion to Tynmouth, at the expense of MR. J.F. COHEN, on his marriage, and who sent a sum of money to be distributed among the poor. 1.9.1876

During afternoon service at Ramsgate Synagogue on Sunday (Fast of Ab) at which SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE was present, a telegram was received from London, announcing the dangerous illness of MRS. ♦Death 29.10.1873 at her residence Queen's Gardens, Hyde Park, relict of the late BENJAMIN COHEN of Richmond, Surrey, and youngest and last surviving sister of SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE, Bart.
♦A lady connected with the highest families in the community, and who has long been held in respect, and was beloved by a large circle of relatives and friends, died on Wednesday morning. MRS. BENJAMIN COHEN, widow of the late BENJAMIN COHEN, was last surviving sister of SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE, sister-in-law of the late BARONESS DE ROTHSCHILD, and mother of ARTHUR COHEN. MRS. COHEN was an accomplished and amiable lady - an English gentlewoman in the best sense of the term. SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE, during her long illness, watched by his sister's bedside with care and affection. MRS. COHEN, though she did not take active part in our public institutions, was a lady of benevolence. Her private charities were numerous and unostentatious. She bore her long and trying illness with patience and fortitude, and died calmly. The end, though long expected, was sudden. MRS. COHEN's remains are to be laid in their resting place on Tuesday, as she wished some days to elapse between her death and funeral. - 31.10.1873

AT THE ROYAL ACADEMY - Those who have not had the opportunity of watching the career of LIONEL JAMES COHEN will be surprised by the marked advance upon his first exhibited picture in the Dudley Gallery. "Golden Hair" is the head of a girl with flowing light brown hair, the effect of which is well brought out against a dark green background. His other work, "City Memories", proves possession of higher qualities. A girl seated at a desk is turning over old letters and relics of past happy days. The career of MR. MONTREAL - A sad occurrence took place here, by which MRS. COHEN, an old lady (nee DE BENNY) and wife of MOSES COHEN, formerly of London, lost her life. A fire which had been smouldering for some time broke out between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning, and when the inmates were awoke by smoke, all means of escape by stairs was found impossible. MR. COHEN, jnr., MR. & MRS. COHEN, jnr. and child and servants escaped by climbing over a balcony at the rear of the house, and making their way through the next dwelling. MR. EDWARD COHEN, finding his mother missing, went back for her and succeeded in getting her as far as the balcony; she being a stout and heavy person, he could not get her over and she was suffocated. An inquest was held next day, and a verdict of accidental death recorded. Her funeral was largely attended by Jews and Christians. She leaves a husband and four sons to mourn her loss. 29.5.1874 (JW)

We regret to announce the death, on Wednesday evening, at the age of 68, of MRS. ISAAC COHEN of 37 Park Lane, mother of the late BARONESS MAYER DE ROTHSCHILD, and grandmother of the COUNTESS OF ROSEBERY. Her husband, who died about thirty years ago, was a zealous and intelligent worker in the community. MRS. COHEN was a generous benefactor to charities. She leaves two daughters (unmarried) to mourn her loss. 14.2.1879
♦The cause of death is understood to have been an abscess, to which the lady, after a slight rally succumbed. The illness had been of short duration, but MRS. COHEN had never been completely well since the demise of her daughter in March, 1877. (JW)
♦The funeral of MRS. COHEN was solemnised on Sunday at Willesden. The cortege, which started from the residence of the deceased in Park Lane, consisted of 15 mourning coaches, and about 30 private carriages. The principal mourner was JOHN SAMUEL, brother of the deceased. Baron de Penedo, Brazilian Minister, an intimate friend of the deceased, accompanied the remains to their last resting-place. At the cemetery were stationed detachments of pupils of Jews' Free School and Jews' Deaf & Dumb Home. The coffin - which was of polished oak furnished with massive silver handles and a silver plate, on which the name of MRS. COHEN and date of her death was engraved - was covered with wreaths and immortelles. 21.2.1879
♦The Will, dated August 23, 1877, of MRS. SARAH COHEN, late of 37 Park Lane, Hyde Park, who died on February 12th, was proved by JOHN SAMUEL, the brother, and NATHANIEL MONTEFIORE, acting Executors, the personal estate being sworn under £90,000. The testatrix bequeaths £750 Consols to the Great Synagogue, to keep in repair tombs of members of her family, the residue of income being distrubuted among 15 poor men and women of the Jewish persuasion; £500 3% Consolidated Bank annuities each to the Insititute for the Oral Instruction of the Deaf & Dumb and Jews' Free School; £250 like annuities to Jews' Infant School; £150 like annuities to Jewish Board of Guardians; £100 like annuities to the Jewish Ladies Lying In Charity, Jewish Ladies West-End Charity, London Hospital, Metropolitan Free Hospital, and Judith, Lady Montefiore's Convalescent Home and other annuities. To her daughter LUCY the testator gives her house and stables, Adelaide Crescent, Brighton, with furniture and fittings; her house in Park Lane, stables with it, and household furniture she gives to her daughters ANNA LOUISA & LUCY, her brother SAMUEL and her sister MISS REBECCA SAMUEL; to her brother £25,000; upon trust for her sister REBECCA for life £10,000; to her executor MR. MONTEFIORE £250; to her granddaughter, MISS HANNAH DE ROTHSCHILD (now COUNTESS OF ROSEBERY) £1,000 to buy a bracelet, and her sapphire locket set with diamonds; there are other legacies, all of which are given free of duty. The residue of her property she leaves to her two daughters ANNA LOUISA & LUCY. - Illustrated London News 25.4.1879

An Appeal is made to the benevolent on behalf of the widow of SIMON COHEN, who is advanced in pregnancy and has six children depending upon her for support. The husband died in Sheffield Infirmary from wounds inflicted upon himself whilst in a state of insanity, leaving his wife and children destitute. The family have always been known for their respectability and industrious habits. It is hoped, with the aid of the charitable, to raise a small fund to place the widow in business. Donations, however small, will be thankfully received. 20.8.1880

SOLOMON COHEN
At the election of Town Councillors for Market Place Ward, Hull, MR. COUNCILLOR SOLOMON COHEN was re-elected after receiving the largest number of votes recorded in the ward. The Eastern Morning News stated before hand, "there should be no difficulty in returning MR. SOLOMON COHEN. During the time he has occupied a seat in the Council Chamber, he has given a large share of attention to public business, his remarks have always been dictated by sound sense, and his votes have been conscientiously recorded." 7.11.1873
♦MR. COUNCILLOR S. COHEN, of Hull, has been for the third time re-elected Guardian of the Poor without opposition. 19.12.1873
♦MR. COUNCILLOR S. COHEN has been elected President of Hull Mechanics Institute. 30.1.1874 (JW)
♦At a special meeting of Hull Town Council held on Monday COUNCILLOR S. COHEN was elected a Trustee to Bishop Watson's Hospital. MR. COHEN is the first Jew to have filled this post in the town. 23.7.1875 (JW)
♦On Thursday evening, 11th inst., members of Hull Hebrew Congregation met at Station Hotel for the purpose of presenting testimonials to MR. COUNCILLOR S. COHEN & MR. M. FRIEDMAN for their services in connection with the Synagogue. The gifts took the form of handsome silver salvers with appropriate inscriptions. 19.5.1876
♦MR. SOLOMON COHEN has been elected to Hull Town Council, without opposition, for Market Place Ward, which he represented for six years. 3.11.1876 (JW)
♦COUNCILLOR S. COHEN of Hull, having filled the office of guardian of the poor for nine years, was on Monday unanimously re-elected at a special meeting held at the London Hotel. 22.12.1876
♦At the bi-monthly Court of Hull Board of Guardians, held on Monday, December 3rd, COUNCILLOR SOLOMON COHEN was elected Deputy-Governor for the ensuing year. 7.12.1877
♦On December 2nd COUNCILLOR S. COHEN was unanimously elected for the ensuing year Governor of Kingston-upon-Hull Incorporation for the Poor. 13.12.1878 (JW)

♦COUNCILLOR S. COHEN has been returned for Market Place Ward, being the second time he has been returned without opposition. 31.10.1879 (JW)
♦The Hull papers report one day last week, as some youths were crossing Queen's Dock in the ferry-boat, one of them fell overboard. Without hesitation ISAAC COHEN, aged 14, son of MR. COUNCILLOR COHEN, plunged in to his assistance, and he held him until both were rescued. Young COHEN was the smallest and one of the first boys that received a certificate of proficiency in swimming given by Hull Council Swimming Club over three years ago. 7.11.1879 (JW)
♦HULL - At a Court of Guardians held for the purpose of electing a Guardian of the Poor for Humber Ward, in place of MR. COUNCILLOR COHEN, whose term of office expires on 19th inst., a vote of thanks to MR. COHEN was passed for the diligent manner in which he had discharged his duties. The Governor, in proposing MR. COHEN for re-election, said he had upheld the dignity of his office, and had discreetly and honestly performed duties. The motion was seconded and MR. COHEN was re-elected with acclamation. 12.12.1879 (JW)

♦It is our duty to record the death of a valued member of the Portuguese community - the respected governess of the Infant School, MRS. CORTISSOS. A lady by birth and in feeling, she was through adverse circumstances, compelled to seek employment. The post was accepted by MRS. CORTISSOS, and she filled the office for thirtythree years, performing her many duties zealously and faithfully as a labour of love, and gaining the respect and devotion of her numerous pupils and their parents, by many of whom she was followed to her grave and every tribute of respect was accorded to her. She leaves a daughter to deplore her loss. This lady has been a worker and teacher in the school for the same number of years, and she has succeeded her mother in the post of Mistress. 24.2.1871

MISS COWEN
MISS COWEN, a sister of the well-known composer, MR. F.H. COWEN, appeared last week at St. George's Hall as a reader and elocutionist. 21.7.1876 (JW)
♦There can be no doubt each appearance of MISS COWEN before the public increases the high estimation in which she is held as a public reader. At her last reading at St. George's Hall she rendered a number of pieces of variety of styles, each and all of which received full expression and intelligent interpretation. MISS COWEN recited in concert with her instructress, Mrs. Stirling, a quarrel between Sir Peter & Lady Teazle from "School for Scandal". The merits of both ladies were recognised by a large and enthusiastic audience. 3.11.1876
♦MISS COWEN gave a successful reading at Eyre Assembly Rooms, St. John's Wood. A great effect was produced by her reading an original poem specially written for her by Miss Francillor, the well-known novelist, on "Behind the Scenes". 15.12.1876
♦MISS COWEN has given at Jersey six successful readings, receiving favourable notices from the local press. 8.2.1878
♦MISS COWEN'S DRAMATIC RECITAL - A series of recitals given by this well-known elocutionist attracted Thursday week a numerous audience to St. George's Hall, Langham Place, the Earl & Countess of Dudley being included among the company. In "A Painted Heart", written for her by Mr. R.E. Francillon, a marked success was obtained. 12.4.1878 (JW)
♦MISS COWEN gave a varied and agreeable entertainment on the 14th at Highbury New Park - a remote and somewhat drear suburb and difficult of access; but in spite of this and bad weather a large audience assembled in the "Athenaeum", an iron edifice that has lately been a church. The audience testified their hearty appreciation of the entertainment provided for them. 22.11.1878 (JW)
♦MISS COWEN gave a Humorous and Dramatic Recital Saturday evening at the Institute, Mount Street, Liverpool. The recital was given under patronage of the Mayor of Liverpool. The Recital was well attended and was a marked success. 31.10.1879
♦On Tuesday MISS COWEN gave a dramatic recital at Steinway Hall, Seymour Street, Portman Square. MISS COWEN's selection was well targeted to exhibit the varied abilities of this graceful and intelligent artiste. 5.3.1880

♦MR. F.H. COWEN has been commissioned to write an oratano for Mr. Kuhes' Brighton Festival next year. The work is to be entitled "The Deluge". 23.4.1875
♦MR. F.H. COWEN gave his annual concert at Dudley House on Friday when he was assisted by numerous artistes. MR. COWEN played two pianoforte solos in his usual excellent style. 25.6.1875 (JW)
♦MR. F.H. COWEN's "Pauline" was produced at Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday evening, and achieved an unqualified success. MR. COWEN was called before the curtain at the close of each act, and twice summoned to appear in the final call of the curtain. The audience was numerous, and comprised many celebrities of the literary and musical worlds. 24.11.1876
♦MR. FREDERICK H. COWEN may be congratulated upon the success of his concert on Monday. Held in the Picture Gallery of Dudley House, and assisted by artistes of the highest reputation, the company assembled prepared for good things. 16.5.1879 (JW)
♦At the Levee held by the Prince of Wales on Monday FREDERICK COWEN had the honour of presentation by the Earl of Dudley. 30.5.1879
♦On Wednesday evening MR. F.H. COWEN produced for the first time in London his "dramatic cantata "the "Corsair", composed for the Birmingham Festival of 1876. The whole of the musically critical world was there, and many persons of celebrity. MISS COWEN recited "Charlie Machee" with such effect as to earn a double recall, and in "A Lady's Yes" showed once more she is unapproachable in her line. The evening was interesting, and the audience hearty and appreciative. 7.5.1880
♦MR. F.H. COWEN will, it is stated, be conductor at the autumn season of Promenade Concerts at Covent Garden Theatre. 21.5.1880

REV. HIRSCH DAINOW THE POLISH MAGID
THE POLISH MAGID - It is surprising with what pertinancity this gentleman defies the charge of Rev. the Chief Rabbi that he be not permitted to preach except under ecclesiastical sanction. His usual place of meeting is at Zetland Hall, Mansell Street. On Sunday, admission was had by tickets, and persons who were not fortunate enough to gain entry into the large hall lamented their misfortune. The Magid is represented to us as being a man of portly and noble presence, a king among men, bristling with intelligence, eloquent, impressive in his didatic teachings, and a person of the greatest intelligence of mental capacity. His influence among his countrymen is extraordinary. 10.7.1874 (JW)
♦THE POLISH "MAGID" - The action of the Chief Rabbi with respect to this individual appears to us inexplicable. It has aroused among Poles of the East-end of London a large amount of antagonism which will take some time to allay. The Polish contingent, headed by three or four enthusiastic spirits, are determined to suport their favourite. They have made arrangements to hold frequent services on Sabbaths and Sundays, and to get a fund to support the Rabbi during his stay in this country. On Saturday, amid all the thunder and lightning and rain, hundreds of persons made their way to Zetland Hall. 17.7.1874 (JW)
♦The gentleman whom we have styled the "Polish Magid", but who is a Russian by birth, continues his weekly ministrations at Zetland Hall. On Saturday, we took the opportunity of visiting the Hall, and found before the hour appointed for the meeting the place was thronged with listeners. The effects of his preaching was recognisable in the appreciative commentary which fell from the lips of congregants. 24.7.1874 (JW)
♦THE RUSSIAN MAGID - We are informed Rev. the Chief Rabbi, yielding to protestations of a deputation interested in the ministrations of this reverend gentleman, has conceded him permission to preach in our synagogues. The Magid will be permitted to preach where his supporters are resolved he should discourse, whether the Chief Rabbi yields or not, but he will be denied authorisation necessary for presenting himself before any congregation over whom the Chief Rabbinate exercises any control. 31.7.1874 (JW)
♦The Society which aims at retaining RABBI HIRSCH DAINOW in the metropolis daily increases in number. On Sabbath last, the crowd of auditors was so great intervention of two constables was required and they had difficulty in expressing the unruly ardour of the throng, who pressed forward in the hope of gaining access to Zetland Hall. In future, only those persons will be admitted who are contributing members to the fund in payment of the Rabbi. 28.8.1874 (JW)
♦To the President & Honorary Officers of the United Synagogue, and to Jewish inhabitants of Newcastle-on-Tyne - Ladies and gentlemen, I beg here respectfully to tender you all my cordial thanks for the handsome reception you afforded me during my short visit to your town, and to express my acknowledgment more especially to the gentlemen of the Committee who made my stay among you so decided a success. That success can only prove virtual by your uniting together in the name of our sacred faith, and striving to preserve the concord now reigning in your midst. I fervently pray my exhortations wil have left behind them the germs of future spiritual improvement and progress. I am, ladies and gentlemen, yours respectfully, HIRSCH DAINOW 16.10.1874 (JW)
♦THE RUSSIAN MAGID - On Sunday evening, an enthusiastic meeting of supporters of this gentleman was held at Zetland Hall, MR. S.H. FRIEDMANN being voted in the chair. The Chairman addressed the assembly enlarging upon the desirability of retaining RABBI DAINOW in this country, and requesting his hearers to support the movement with a portion of the contents of their purses. He referred to the reception their preacher had met with in Newcastle, and read a letter descriptive of the regard entertained towards him by the committee of that town, and of their desire to see him secured in a permanent post in London. A resolution was passed, with acclamation, pledging the meeting to strive their utmost in carrying out these views. At the suggestion of the Chairman, a permanent committtee was appointed. 23.10.1874 (JW)
♦A well-executed portrait of RABBI DAINOW, both in cabinet and carte-de-visite size, has been published by MR. MENDELSOHN of Newcastle, and is being distributed in London. The proceeds of sale are utilised in making additions to funds of the society which has engaged the services of the Magid in this country. 25.12.1874 (JW)
♦On Sabbath last REV. HIRSCH DAINOW delivered an eloquent discourse at the German Synagogue in New Broad Street, which terminated in a manner unexpected by the large auditory. They were aware a communication reflecting on him had made its way abroad and he regretted to say similar strictures upon his character continued to be despatched to Hebrew journals, the effect of which would be he could never venture to proceed to his native land. Already his relatives and friends were under the delusion he was an emissary of the Conversion Society. He was continually waylaid in London by a band of antagonists, some of whom had threatened him with bodily assaults. In evidence of the support and admiration which RABBI DAINOW has attracted, it is only needful to say we have seen an excellent manifesto on his behalf addressed to the Lebanon, wherein 210 signatures assure the Editor he is a power in raising the status of his brethren in London. 25.12.1874 (JW)
♦In appreciation of the pleasure he derived from a discourse by the Russian Magid MR. F.D. MOCATTA has been pleased to forward to the latter a present of a few pounds towards the funds in course of formation for bringing hither the wife and family of the famous preacher. 12.2.1875 (JW)
♦In consequence of REV. H. DAINOW, the Russian Magid, having received a telegram of the death of his father, there will be no lecture. 27.8.1875 (JW)
♦The REV. HIRSCH DAINOW begs to thank his numerous friends and correspondents for kind visits and letters of condolence received during his week of mourning. 10.9.1875
♦THE DAINOW ASSOCIATION - The Magid writes SIR N. DE ROTHSCHILD has given this Association £25 towards the salary of this Magid, and some other gentleman defrays the cost of an English master, who gives the Magid instruction in English. 7.4.1876
♦We regret to announce the death of REV. HIRSH DAINOW, well known as the Russian Magid, which took place at the London Hospital on Tuesday after a painful illness. During the few years the reverend gentleman ministered to the spiritual wants of his fellow countrymen resident in London, a great improvement in their social habits manifested itself, for the Magid's sermons were delivered with the intention of effecting reforms in the manner of our Polish coreligionists. A society was formed to maintain him in the metropolis, but this had never enjoyed prosperity. The deceased gentleman was 45 years of age, leaves a wife and a number of young children. The funeral, which took place yesterday, was attended by a large concourse of persons. - 9.3.1877 (JW)
♦The malady to which he succumbed was pleurisy. 9.3.1877
♦THE RUSSIAN MAGID - To the Editor of the Jewish World - Sir, With regret and concern I have read of the decease of this man, but I cannot express my surprise at his end if he died in the position in which I found him about a year ago. Having been called at a West End hotel to act as interpreter to a Russian gentleman, he requested me to indicate to him the residence of the Russian Magid. I proposed to him to go to Duke's Place Synagogue to make inquiries. Upon our arrival we were told to call upon a gentleman near Houndsditch. The latter volunteered to conduct us to the Magid's residence. After wending our way through a maze of close streets, we arrived at the house situated in a narrow and dingy street. On opening the door, a fetid hot air encountered us, stifling and noxious. We mounted rickety stairs, and entered a small half furnished room, and we stood in the presence of the Magid. He entered into a cordial conversation with the gentleman and bitterly complained of his impecunious position. He said he was about to study English in order to deliver his lectures in the language of the country best understood. After an hour's intereview, we took leave of this man, but his position left a sad and lasting impresion upon me. I trust he and his family were not long left in this condition. If such was the case, I cannot wonder at the premature termination of his existence. I am, Sir, yours obediently, EDWARD EMANUEL, 94 Hampstead Road, NW. March 12, 1877

MR. ELLIS A. DAVIDSON has been engaged to deliver lectures on Technical Art in various Government training colleges for teachers. 27.10.1871
♦We understand ELLIS A. DAVIDSON has resigned his appointment as Lecturer on Science & Art in the City Middle Schools, on his accepting an important literary position. 5.1.1872
♦On Wednesday evening ELLIS A. DAVIDSON addressed a large audience, consisting of cabinet-makers, at Morley Street Schools, in Curtain Road, on branches of art required in the trade. The meeting was attended by many heads of leading cabinet-making establishments. 9.2.1872
♦During the week before this ELLIS A. DAVIDSON has been addressing immense audiences at the Curtain Institute at Toddington, and at Hampton Gurney School Rooms in Berkley Street. During the week he has been lecturing to The Cheshire Union of Teachers at Chester College. On Monday evening he gave a lecture to the Natural History Society of Cheshire. 1.11.1872
♦We observe MR. ELLIS A. DAVIDSON's technical models were used as subjects in Government examinations in Medal Drawings held throughout the country on Thursday. We are glad to see the London School Board have adopted a series of drawing copies designed and drawn on wood by ELLIS A. DAVIDSON. 14.3.1873

♦On Monday ELLIS A. DAVIDSON delivered the third of a series of lectures at Stationer's Hall. The lecture was attended by a large assemblage of printers. The lecture was repeated on Tuesday. 25.4.1873

♦On Monday MR. ELLIS A. DAVIDSON delivered the fourth of a series of lectures at Stationer's Hall. This lecture was devoted to the illustration of wood engraving. 9.5.1873

♦On Monday ELLIS A. DAVIDSON delivered at Stationer's Hall the last of his series of lectures on printing. The subject of this lecture was: "Copper and Steel plate Engraving and Lithography". MR. DAVIDSON, on resuming his seat, was enthusiastically applauded, and a vote of thanks was moved to him and carried out amid loud acclamations. 16.5.1873

♦On Tuesday evening ELLIS A. DAVIDSON delivered a lecture to members of Whitechapel Foundation School Literary & Scientific Society on "Animals - their Structure and Habits; with especial reference to their modes of progression". A cordial vote of thanks was passed to MR. DAVIDSON for his lecture and for his services in the cause of scientific truth. 5.12.1873

♦On Monday evening ELLIS A. DAVIDSON gave the second lecture of a series he is delivering at Stationer's Hall on "Printing - its History and Practice". The demand for tickets of admission was so great arrangements were made for delivery of each lecture twice. At conclusion of the lecture the Chairman moved a vote of thanks to MR. DAVIDSON, which was carried with loud applause. The lecture was repeated at Stationers Hall on Tuesday evening to a more crowded audience than on the previous evening. 11.4.1874

♦The second of MR. E.A. DAVIDSON's Illustrated Lectures to the Adult Deaf & Dumb of London was delivered on Tuesday evening, and was attended by an overflowing number of persons. 25.4.1874

♦MR. ELLIS A. DAVIDSON gave the third and only lecture of his series, on Tuesday evening, to the Adult Deaf & Dumb. The lecture hall was crowded to excess. A vote of thanks was passed to MR. DAVIDSON. 29.5.1874

♦MR. ELLIS A. DAVIDSON delivered the first of his two lectures at Liverpool for the benefit of Jewish Schools in that town on Tuesday evening. The chair was occupied by MR. DAVIDSON's brother-in-law, AUGUSTUS S. LEVY. The subject of the lecture was "Animals". 11.12.1874

♦MR. ELLIS A. DAVIDSON has been addressing large audiences at Drovers Hall, Holloway. The lectures were intended for drovers. The immense assembly frequently testified their approval by vociferous cheers. 5.2.1875

♦STEPNEY JEWISH SCHOOL - A vote of thanks to ELLIS A. DAVIDSON for having presented a set of models and introducing a government teacher of drawing. 19.3.1875 (JW)

♦From our own correspondent and from local papers we learn ELLIS A. DAVIDSON's three lectures on Cruelty to Animals delivered at Liverpool were successful. At the lecture to elder pupils in various schools, which took place in the circus, upwards of 2,500 people were present. 23.4.1875

♦On Tuesday evening ELLIS A. DAVIDSON gave a lecture at Mentmore, the subject being The Structure and Habit of Animals with especially regard to their senses. - 25.6.1875

♦On Tuesday evening ELLIS A. DAVIDSON gave an illustrated lecture on "Life in the Sea", to members of the Royal Association in aid of the Deaf & Dumb Home, Oxford Street. 26.11.1875

♦On Thursday evening ELLIS A. DAVIDSON, as Lecturer to the Royal Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, delivered an illustrated lecture on "Wonders of Animal Life", in the Town Hall, Romsey, Hampshire. 26.11.1875

♦We are pleased to be enabled to state the health of ELLIS A. DAVIDSON has shown an improvement during the past couple of weeks. Although his eyesight has gone, his health has improved. 8.3.1878

♦Death 9.3.1878 at 29 Clarendon Gardens, Maida Hill, after a long illness, aged 48.

♦It is our task to announce the death on Saturday morning of ELLIS A. DAVIDSON. The worse symptoms of his illness returned suddenly on Friday night, to which he succumbed on Saturday morning.

The late ELLIS A. DAVIDSON was born in Hull in 1828. He came to London with his parents when he was 10 years old, and was placed in the school of the late MR. M. SOLOMON. Two years later he went to reside with his uncle, MR. J.M. JOHNSON, and attended the School of Design, soon securing a prize in botanical drawings, presented by the late Prince Consort. Subsequently he attended the School of Art at South Kensington and was one of the first art teachers sent out by the Department into the provinces, remaining several years in this capacity. Upon foundation of the City Middle Class School in 1866, MR. DAVIDSON was appointed its principal Art Master, a position which he resigned, in order to devote himself more completely to literary labours, he having about this time undertaken authorship of several series of educational works for MESSRS. CASSELL, PETER & GALPIN, and later on other works, which were published by MESSRS. CHAPMAN & HALL, and other publishers. MR. DAVIDSON was well-known as a successful lecturer.

MR. DAVIDSON was one of the promoters of the Association for Providing free Lectures to Jewish Working Men. He took an active part in similar movements without the community - particularly in promoting technical education of working-men. He read a paper on the subject before the Society of Arts. He was engaged by the Stationers Company to give a course of Lectures on "Printing". Lectures were delivered by him under the auspices of the Teachers' Training Association, Horological Society, etc. He gave a series of lectures at the Horse Guards. His services were voluntarily placed at the disposal of the Deaf & Dumb Institution.

MR. DAVIDSON delivered several series of lectures in connection with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He produced a series of models for class-teaching and drawing, and which are in use in Government and other schools.

Early in life he married CATHERINE, youngest daughter of the late DAVID LEVY of Oxford Street. His only daughter is married to ALBERT KISCH of Portsdown Road. About three years ago, almost immediately after completion of his "Bible Reader", MR. DAVIDSON's sight commenced to seriously fail, and other symptoms of waning health supervened; he succumbed on 9th inst, having within the last few days of his life so far recovered as to give his family a ray of hope he might be partially restored to health.

The funeral took place on Wednesday morning at Willesden Cemetery. A deputation from the Committee of Bayswater Jewish Schools attended, and at the late residence of the deceased were assembled many leading representatives of communal institutions. 15.3.1878

♦The deceased was born in 1830. (JW)

ISAAC DAVIDSON

At a meeting of the Board of Deputies held on 15th ult., a letter was read from REV. M. HAINES, giving the substance of a communication which had been brought to this country by a Spanish sailor, containing a statement concerning a Jewish boy, named ISAAC DAVIDSON, who was living with a Christian, Senor Almeda, in the neighbourhood of Cadiz. It was alleged the lad, who orginally lived at Shepherds Bush, was, on the death of his mother, forceably taken to Spain by a man representing himself to be the boy's uncle, and he was sold to Senor Almeda, who bought him as a playmate for his son. The Board resolved not to take action in the matter, and it was suggested as the lad was a British subject, REV. M. HAINES might bring the matter under the attention of the Foreign Office. The reverend gentleman addressed a communication to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and has received the following reply:-

Foreign Office, January 24, 1878 - Sir, I am directed by the Earl of Derby to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 21st inst., and to inform you His Lordship has caused Her Majesty's Consul at Cadiz to be instructed to make enquiries into the case of ISAAC DAVIDSON. I am, Sir, your most obedient humble servant, I.V. Lister. 1.2.1878

J. DAVIDSON

MR. J. DAVIDSON tenders his sincere thanks to members of Princes Street Synagogue for the handsome testimonial presented him on the eve of the supper, being grateful specially to MESSRS. BUCK & SHUTER for the exertion they promptly exercised in promoting the same, and likewise the impressive speech made by MR. SHUTER on the subject, also thanking MR. DAVIS & CO.
MESSRS. DAVIS & CO. of Wellclose Square, E. have patented a gas globe, which has been well received in scientific circles, the Society of Arts, among others, having expressed its approval of the improvements affected. The "Queen's Reflecting Globe" is made in a variety of colours and patterns. Being made in two separate pieces it can be easily and thoroughly cleaned and runs little risk of breakage. 12.5.1876 (JW)

♦A handsome gift has been presented to the Great Synagogue by ISAAC DAVIS of High Street, Whitechapel. The gift consists of a well written new Sepher Torah, with all accessories complete, comprising mantle, bells, plate and pointer. The mantle, which is of figured crimson satin, was made by MRS. DAVIS. Three small plates are attached to the larger breast- plate, two of them bearing in Hebrew the names of MR. & MRS. DAVIS and the parents of the former. The inscription on the second will explain the object for which the gift is made: "Presented by ISAAC DAVIS in memory of his father, ABRAHAM DAVIS, beadle of the Great Synagogue, and the last of three generations who fulfilled the same office. 56431." 3.10.1873
♦MR. ISAAC DAVIS of 63 High Street, Whitechapel has purchased a site on Stepney Green, with a view of its being bought at cost price for the erection of the East London Synagogue. 3.10.1873

♦Marriage 3.2.1880, at the Synagogue in St. Petersburg Place, Bayswater, of 6 King's Bench Walk, Temple, MA., Barrister-at- Law, to JANE, youngest daughter of the late D.J. JAFFE, of Villa Down, Carnalea, Co. Down.
♦MR. ISRAEL DAVIS, MA. on the day of his marriage forwarded to the Secretary of the Anglo-Jewish Association a donation of £10 in aid of the fund which is to be raised for furtherance of education in the Holy Land. 6.2.1880 (JW)
♦The Whitehall Review, referring to a wedding at the new West End Synagogue, says:- "The interesting ceremonial of a wedding celebrated with a choral service in synagogue and with all the ancient rites of the Jewish Church, filled the new West End Synagogue in St. Petersburg Place, Bayswater. Dr. Hermann Adler, Pro-Chief Rabbi, celebrated the marriage, the principals in which were MISS JAFFE & ISRAEL DAVIS. The BARONESS DE ROTHSCHILD's present of old silver candlesticks was one of the most admired among the wedding gifts. I will add the bridegroom is a Middle Temple man, and the most picturesque writer the Times possesses." 20.2.1880

♦On Wednesday in the Chancery Division, before Vice-Chancellor Malins, judgment was given in the action DAVIS v NATHAN. The plaintiff sought to have trusts of a settlement excluded. The widow of a Jewish gentleman named JOHN DAVIS, who died in 1857, married in 1863 a Frenchman, LOUIS NICHOLAS MEGRET, who professed previously to marriage to renounce his religion as a Roman Catholic and become a member of the Jewish community. The lady had been a MISS MOSES, and under a settlement executed on her first marriage she was entitled to an income from trust property of £1,200 a year. There were seven children of the second marriage. The lady lived with her husband, M. MEGRET, who had been a sculptor at Brighton, for some time in England, until in 1866 he went to France. He had, after his marriage, returned to the Roman Catholic religion, had had his children baptised in it, and placed in a convent school. In 1870 she went to Ivy, near Paris, to live under the care of Dr. Luys, as she was suffering from puerperal mania, and was not liberated until January, 1876. Some proceedings took place in the French Courts, and the parties lived together again for a few months, though the wife was but poorly provided for. When taking her out for a drive one day he lodged her in an asylum at Charenton. Visited there by the Davis family solicitor, she was found to be sane, and was released. Proceedings were taken in the French Courts by the husband to establish her insanity, but they failed, and she obtained custody of her children and returned with them to England. JOHN MORTIMER DAVIS, plaintiff, who sought to have trusts of the settlement carried into execution by the Courts, was a young man of 19, only son of MDME. MEGRET's first marriage, and had refused to reside with his mother, preferring to live with his stepfather in Paris, who asserted the insanity of his wife and claimed, as a domiciled Frenchman, to be entitled in French law to the whole of one portion of the trust fund and to two-thirds of remainder. His French domicile was denied by his wife and her brothers, and it was contended on her behalf she was entitled, on construction of the settlement, to payment of income of the fund for her separate use.

MDME. MEGRET was examined in Court, and gave her evidence with correctness and composure. Doctors Tuke & Bucknell testified MDME. MEGRET was of sound mind.
His Lordship, having heard the case for the greater part of two days, in giving judgment, said when the Court ordered £1,200 a year to be paid to M. MEGRET on his undertaking to apply a sufficient part of which for maintenance of his wife in the lunantic asylum, it was not suspected he had any sinister object. The position of the parties at the time of the marriage was a French adventurer willing to take up anything or anybody to make money. It must have been repugnant to the lady's friends and relations she should marry such a man, and it must have been the intention of the settlement made to protect her against him. Express provision was made in property to accrue to her afterwards and give to her separate use. On the day of the marriage, it remained under those terms for her benefit. On these counts, he must be deprived of any portion of income; trustees would be directed to pay it over to her with arrears, and there must be an inquiry prosecuted in chambers of what the trust funds now consist. 23.11.1877

Death 7.3.1875 in his 22nd year (result of an accident), third and beloved son of JOSEPH DAVIS of 51 Tavistock Square.
♦MR. SAMUEL DAVIS met with a frightful accident on 1st inst., which terminated fatally on Saturday night. MR. DAVIS was being conveyed in a lift attached to one of the buildings at Queen Victoria Street, when, out of fear the cradle was descending too low, he attempted to get out; one of his legs was crushed between lift and wall. Mortification set in, and the young man expired a few days later. Deceased was entering on the Stock Exchange. The funeral took place at Willesden and was numerously attended. 12.3.1875 (JW)
♦Mr. Payne, Coroner for the City of London, held an inquest at St. Bartholomew's Hospital on Tuesday, touching the death of SAMUEL DAVIS, son of JOSEPH DAVIS of 51 Tavistock Square. The jury presented a verdict of "Accidental death". 12.3.1875

♦In our last impression of the inquest held on SAMUEL DAVIS, we stated MR. DAVIS, father of the deceased, presented £100 to funds of St. Bartholomew's Hospital. We have been requested to state £50 was presented to the Jewish Board of Guardians, and a similar sum to the Building Fund of Jews' Deaf & Dumb Home, of which installation the donor was till recently treasurer. 19.3.1875
♦The Tombstone in memory of SAMUEL DAVIS of 51 Tavistock Square will be set at Willesden Cemetery 13 June, 1875.

AARON DE BEAR
An appeal is made on behalf of the widow and family of AARON DE BEAR. MR. AARON DE BEAR was formerly presiding warden of Sandy's Row Synagogue and was well known in the community as an exemplary Jew and charitable and useful man. Until within the last few years he occupied a good social position, but adverse circumstances brought him to the depths of poverty, and he was compelled to resume working at his trade as a journeyman. His death, which took place after two days illness, has left his widow and family helpless, and the assistance of the benvolent is invoked to save them from starvation. The family (to which an addition is shortly expected) consists of ten children, of whom the eldest is 15 years of age. It is hoped a sufficent sum may be raised to establish the widow in a small business, and to apprentice the two oldest children to a good trade. 15.10.1875

MESSRS. J. DEFRIES & SONS
MARRIAGE OF THE MARQUIS OF BUTE - The illuminations and decorations to welcome the return of the Marquis of Bute to Cardiff were chiefly executed by MESSRS. DEFRIES. The illuminations were of an extensive character. 19.4.1872
♦THE PRINCE OF WALES AT WEYMOUTH - We understand the decorations, and pyrotechnic displays at Weymouth, which were on a scale of unusual magnificence, were entrusted by the Corporation to MESSRS. J. DEFRIES, of London. 16.8.1872
♦MESSRS. J. DEFRIES & SONS were entrusted with contracts for the major part of decorations and illuminations in Derby during the visit of the Prince & Princess of Wales. 20.12.1872
♦The decorations and illuminations of the streets and Town Hall at Marlborough in honour of the Prince's visit were entrusted to the eminent decorators, J. DEFRIES & SONS of Houndsditch. - Court Journal 14.2.1873
♦MESSRS. J. DEFRIES & SONS, of Houndsditch, the well-known decorators and fete contractors, were entrusted with illuminations for the reception of the Prince & Princess of Wales during their Lancashire visit. They had upwards of 500 men at work, and erected over 2,000 Venetian masts. They manufactured upwards of 3,000 flags. They erected a pavilion, which, as the Times says, was a marvel of decorative upholstery. 13.6.1873
♦We regret to say several coreligionists incurred great loss consequence on the destruction by fire of Alexandria Palace. A remnant was left of the valuable articles exhibited by MESSRS. DEFRIES. This firm had, as chef d'oevre of their crystal court, constructed a huge candelabra in anticipation of the promised visit of the Shah of Persia. It was worth 2,000 gns., and it was utterly destroyed. 13.6.1873
♦MESSRS. J. DEFRIES & SONS inform us they were covered by insurance for the loss sustained by destruction of their court at the Alexandra Palace. Mr. Harvey, who risked his life in attempting to save the property, is recovering from the shock of injuries he received. 20.6.1873
♦MESSRS. DEFRIES & SONS were engaged in arrangements for decorations and illuminations at Southsea on the visit of the Shah of Persia. The firm executed decorations at Admiralty House and the Governor's Green on the visit of the French fleet. 20.6.1873
♦MESSRS. DEFRIES of Houndsditch supplied decorations at Holyhead on the opening of Holyhead Harbour by the Prince of Wales, on Tuesday. In the evening there was a grand display of fireworks by the same firm. MESSRS. DEFRIES were entrusted with the principal illuminations at Antwerp on the visit of the King & Queen of the Belgians. 22.8.1873
♦The decorations of Bradford on the opening of the Town Hall were entrusted to MESSRS. DEFRIES of London, by the Corporation and by several of the tradesmen. 12.9.1873
♦MESSRS. DEFRIES of Houndsditch have received the appointment for executing illuminations and decorations in St. Petersburgh on the Duke of Edinburgh's marriage with Grand Duchess Marie. 16.1.1874
♦MESSRS. DEFRIES & SON were entrusted with a great portion of decorations and illuminations in the west end of London on the state entry of the Duke & Duchess of Edinburgh into the metropolis yesterday. 13.3.1874
♦The Duke & Duchess of Edinburgh, with the Prince & Princess of Wales accepted an invitation to a ball at the Mansion House, which took place on Wednesday. MESSRS. DEFRIES, the eminent contractors, were entrusted with the decorations of the interior and illuminations of the exterior of the civic palace. The whole of the arrangements were designed and carried out in eight days. 1.5.1874
♦MESSRS. DEFRIES & SONS of Houndsditch were entrusted with the decorations and illuminations at Plymouth on the opening of the new Guildhall last week by the Prince of Wales. 21.8.1874
♦The greater portion of the extensive and handsome decorations and illuminations at Birmingham in honour of the visit of the Prince & Princess of Wales on Tuesday were manufactured and supplied by MESSRS. DEFRIES of Houndsditch. 6.11.1874
♦MESSRS. J. DEFRIES & SONS have supplied decorations and illuminations in connection with the visit of the Prince & Princess of Wales to Hertfordshire. 4.12.1874 (JW)
♦Mr. N.I. Berlin, Hebrew master at Middle Class Schools, informs us DEFRIES & SONS have done more for the institution than supplying a number of lamps as stated in our last number. They have provided splended and tasteful decorations for Christmas entertainments. 25.12.1874
♦A grand ball was given at Mansion House on Wednesday evening by the Lord Mayor & Mayoress. The Mansion House was decorated by DEFRIES & SONS who maintained the reputation they have earned in their style of embellishment. 7.5.1875 (JW)
♦The decorations for the University Ball, given in the Town Hall, Oxford, at the Commemoration, were entrusted to MESSRS. DEFRIES of Houndsditch, who carried out their designs with unqualified success. 18.6.1875 (JW)
♦MESSRS. J. DEFRIES & SONS are engaged in lighting and decorating the new building in Paris for Myers's Cinque. 20.8.1875
♦MESSRS. DEFRIES & SON are engaged in decorating a building in Paris, called Magasins Reunis, which is to be converted into a circus. The Paris correspondent of the Standard speaks in complimentary terms of MESSRS. DEFRIES' workmen. 3.12.1875
♦The centre of the promenade at Queen's Theatre is lighted by J. DEFRIES & SONS in their effective style. 25.5.1877 (JW)
♦At the Flower Show Garden Party & Ball at Orleons Club given on 28th inst. in honour of the visit of the Prince of Wales, illuminations, decorations and arrangements of the grounds were entrusted to J. DEFRIES & SONS of Houndsditch. 1.6.1877 (JW)
♦MESSRS. DEFRIES & SONS were entrusted with the arrangements for the decorations and illuminations of the Foreign Office on the Reception there on the Queen's birthday. MESSRS. DEFRIES fitted numerous buildings with illuminations on Saturday. 31.5.1878
♦All illuminations at Oldham on the unveiling of the statue of the late John Platt, MP. were carried out by MESSRS. DEFRIES of Houndsditch. 27.9.1878
♦MESSRS. DEFRIES & SONS were entrusted with decorations and illuminations at Windsor on the marriage of the Duke of Connaught. 14.3.1879 (JW)
♦The magnificent crystal chandelier, candelabra, etc. used at the Marchioness of Salisbury's Reception at the Foreign Office on 2nd July were supplied and manufactured by DEFRIES & SONS. 11.7.1879 (JW)
♦The illuminations and decorations on the visit of the Duke & Duchess of Connaught to Brighton, last week, were entrusted to J. DEFRIES & SONS, and carried out with the splendour and style for which that firm enjoyed a long-established reputation. 7.11.1879 (JW)
♦The decorations on the freeing of Creek Bridge, Deptford were carried out by DEFRIES & SONS. The whole of the work was completed in a satisfactory manner within two days. 26.3.1880 (JW)
♦MESSRS. J. DEFRIES & SONS carried out decorations on the Royal visit to Truro, to lay the foundation stone of the cathedral. 28.5.1880 (JW)
♦On the occasion of the royal visit at the opening of the new docks, the decorations, which were on an elaborate scale, were executed by the well-known firm of J. DEFRIES & SONS of Houndsditch. 25.6.1880 (JW)
♦The illuminations at the Bachelors Ball at Kensington House were entrusted to MESSRS. DEFRIES, who, according to the Times, earned great distinction by results obtained. 30.7.1880
♦Conspicuous among illuminations at the West End in honour of the Prince of Wales's birthday were crystal devices manufactured by J. DEFRIES & SONS of Houndsditch, the reputation of that firm having been maintained by the specimens displayed. 12.11.1880 (JW)
♦The decorations on the occasion of the Guards' Ball at Windsor, held Monday night, were carried out by J. DEFRIES & SONS, and were universally admired. 3.12.1880 (JW)

MOSS DEFRIES
TO ELECTORS OF THE WARD OF PORTSOKEN - Gentlemen, I regret exceedingly owing to my frequent absence from England, I have been compelled to decline the very great honour so many of my friends and neighbours did me this day, in asking me to become a Candidate for the probable vacancy in the Court of Alderman for our Ward. I have the honour to be, Gentlemen, Your obliged and faithful servant, MOSS DEFRIES. - 147 Houndsditch, NE., London, March 30, 1871
♦There was a spirited contest in the Ward of Portsoken where there are a large number of Jewish voters. Among those elected was MOSS DEFRIES (at head of poll). 27.12.1872
♦MR. M. DEFRIES has been re-elected as representative for Portsoken Ward. 26.12.1873 (JW)
♦MR. MOSS DEFRIES has intimated his intention not to seek re-election as a member of the Common Council for the Ward of Portsoken in consequence of pressing business engagements being incompatible with the duties of office. 1.5.1874 (JW)

DR. EMANUEL OSCAR DEUTSCH
We are sorry to record the serious illness of MR. DEUTSCH. 6.1.1871
♦MR. EMANUEL DEUTSCH,the writer of the article on the Talmud which attracted so much attention three years ago, has received leave of absence, on account of his health, for the winter, and has left England for a visit to Egypt. 20.12.1872
♦It is with unfeigned grief we announce a loss sustained by the community and by literature. EMANUEL DEUTSCH is dead. He died on Tuesday, and knowledge of his decease reached the office of the Times almost directly after its occurrence, and that journal paid an immediate and eloquent tribute to the memory of the scholar. 16.5.1873
♦The Daily News makes comment on the death of MR. DEUTSCH. 16.5.1873
♦The following notice of the late DR. DEUTSCH appears in the Athenaeum: MR. EMANUEL OSCAR DEUTSCH was born at Neisse, in Silesia, on 31st October, 1831, of Hebrew parents of good family. His early training was conducted by an uncle. His education was completed at the University of Berlin, where, under Boecke, he became an accurate classical scholar. From Berlin he came to London, to accept an appointment in the National Library. Thenceforth, he was known for his labours in the British Museum, and for efforts he made to promote Semitic studied in the outside world. His best official monument is to be found in "Phoenician Inscriptions", published by the Trustees, in which the editor received invaluable aid from him. MR. DEUTSCH's conversational powers made him welcome in German, French and English society. Ambitious, restless, sensitive to the last degree, he suffered much and made many enemies. Religious, and pure in the highest and rarest sense, it can be said of him no man had warmer or more constant friends. 23.5.1873
♦DR. DEUTSCH died peacefully in the Prussian Deaconesses' Hospital at Alexandria. He was buried by the Chief Rabbi of Alexandria in the Jewish cemetery of that city. His funeral was attended by English and Scottish clergymen of Alexandria, the English Consul, and English residents. His remains were subjected to a post-mortem examination, and the disease which proved fatal to him was acertained to be an internal cancer. 30.5.1873
♦To the editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, DR. DEUTSCH had been suffering from a painful disease for the last three years, which did not, until recently, incapacitate him from following his avocations. On his way up the Nile last March I saw DR. DEUTSCH at Thebes and attended him at that place, where he was suffering from his old complaint and was prostrated from an attack of dysentary. I saw him at Thebes on my return from Assonam, and attended him at Cairo, to which City he had returned in April. I have no doubt an attack of dysentary was the cause of his death. DR. DEUTSCH expressed a wish to me if he died at Cairo while I was there, I would see he was buried in the Jewish cemetery. I am, yours obediently, LEWIS OPPENHEIM, 16 Westbourne Square, Hyde Park, June 3, 1873
♦A meeting of the Palestine Exploration Fund was held on Tuesday. The death of MR. DEUTSCH was referred to with regret as "one of the best scholars in his line". 20.6.1873
♦THE EDINBURGH REVIEW - A tribute to EMANUEL DEUTSCH, from the pen of George Grave, appears in this month's number of Macmillan's magazine. 1.8.1873
♦The Daily News of Wednesday contains an editorial on EMANUEL DEUTSCH, whose "Literary Remains" have just been published. 27.2.1874
♦The Academy, in a favourable review of the "Literary Remains of the late EMANUEL DEUTSCH", says "Those who knew him can only lament the English threw away the life of one who was loyal to his adopted country, with true Hebrew loyalty." 27.2.1874
♦The Tombstone which covers the last rest-place of EMANUEL DEUTSCH bears inscriptions in four languages. The Hebrew inscription is as follows: Here is entombed the well-beloved - whose word was burning with good things and whose pen was the pen of a ready writer - MENAHEM, son of ABRAHAM DEUTSCH, whom the Lord preserve. He was born at Neisse on Ist Marheshvan 5590 AM, and departed from this world in Alexandria, on Monday, 9th Iyar, in the year of Arise, shine: for thy light is come. May his soul be bound up in the bond of life. 6.3.1874
♦The current number of the Contemporary Review contains a memoir of EMANUEL DEUTSCH, written by Rev. H.R. Haweis, a personal friend of the Talmudist. 10.4.1874 (JW)
♦The Literary World, speaking of the late EMANUEL DEUTSCH, says:- "This learned man, who startled the reading world a few years ago by his remarkable article in the Quarterly Review on the "Talmud', seems to have been badly treated by the authorities of the British Museum Library." 17.4.1874 (JW)
♦The Spectator contains a lengthy and critical review of the "Literary Remains of the late EMANUEL DEUTSCH". 3.7.1874
♦The World says in reference to the British Museum: The death of DR. DEUTSCH was, we fear, hastened by the treatment he received at the Museum. The poor fellow mentioned several matters of petty tyranny. The authorship of the famous article on the Talmud was, he declared, the cause of the small spite shown against him. 15.1.1875
♦The British Medical Journal, in commenting on the death of Mr. Warren, superinduced by the unhealthy atmosphere of the British Museum, refers to the late EMANUEL DEUTSCH, who used to say, "When I die there will be something done." 29.1.1875 (JW)

SIR BARROW HELBERT ELLIS
The London correspondent of the Jewish Messenger writes - The HON. BARROW ELLIS, who has just returned to England, is a worthy coreligionist. Many years have elapsed since he left his native land for India, and there he rose by graduations, until he became a member of the Supreme Legislative Council of India. He retires from Her Majesty's service on a pension. MR. ELLIS is a son of the late SAMUEL ELLIS, one of the originators of Jews' Free School, and other institutions for amelioration of the humbler classes. 9.7.1875 (JW)
♦MR. BARROW HELBERT ELLIS has been appointed a member of the India Council. The

Homeward Mail comments in the following terms upon the appointment: MR. ELLIS proved an efficient member of the Viceroy's Council, and thirtythree years in the Bombay Civil Service gives him that knowledge which experience alone can afford of Indian requirements. 30.7.1875
♦On Tuesday at Windsor Castle H.M. the Queen held an Investiture of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India. MR. BARROW HERBERT ELLIS received the honour of knighthood, and was invested with the Insignia of Knight Commander of the Empire. 10.12.1875 (JW)

The HAHAM OF MOGADOR, REV. J. ELIMELECH, an erudite gentleman of magnificent presence, attended Bayswater Synagogue during Passover. The Haham is Vice-consul of Austro-Hungary and is on his way to Vienna as one of the Commissioners of the Exhibition in the Austrian capital. 25.4.1873
♦On Sunday, a meeting of Elders of the Spanish & Portuguese Congregation will be held to take into consideration the appointment of a Dayan (Eccclesiastical Assesssor) to the congregation. At a meeting of Elders, held on 15th inst., after a lengthened and animated debate, a resolution was passed JOSEPH DE A. ELMALEH (honorary Chief Rabbi of Mogador) should be elected to fill the office. It was understood the position would be accepted without salary. This resolution was passed subject to confirmation at the meeting to be held on Sunday. We understand a strong feeling of opposition to its confirmation has been manifested among many of the leading members of the congregation. 27.6.1879
♦SPANISH & PORTUGUESE CONGREGATION - To the Editor of the "Jewish Chronicle" - Sir, having been an innocent cause of great annoyance to REV. JOSEPH DE A. ELMALEH, also of unusual agitation in this Congregation, I trust you will confer upon me the favour of inserting this in your next issue.
MR. ELMALEH, well-known for his Hebrew learning, who has served the Jewish Congregation of Mogador for twentytwo years as Chief Rabbi nor receiving any pay for his services, is in London, devoted entirely to commercial pursuits, and has neither inclination nor time to aspire to any ecclesiastical appointment. The Mahamad wished to make some arrangement for religious guidance during the vacancy, and by their request I consulted REV. MR. ELMALEH as to whether he would consent to the religious assistance we required, which was understood to be of an honorary and provisional character. After pointing to his want of time and to his frequent absence from town I obtained his consent, provided it should be the unanimous wish of the Elders. Accordingly a resolution was put to the vote on 15th ult., and carried by a large majority, but, by desire of MR. ELMALEH, it was not brought forward for confirmation on the 29th. In my opinion, Sir, it was unfair to the reverend gentlemen as well as to the gentlemen of the Mahamad, to lead the public to believe the proposed appointment was a permanent one, and this must have been the inference drawn by anyone reading the paragraph you published last week on the subject. Yours obediently, M. DE J. LEVY, 59 Fenchurch Street, EC., London 1 July, 1879

♦Birth 31.12.1871 at 29 Francis Street, W., Hull a daughter.
♦The Yorkshire Post and Eastern Morning News contain favourable reviews of MR. ELZAS' translation of the "Book of Job". 21.6.1872
♦MR. ELZAS' book on Minor Prophets has received golden opinions from the Press. The Hull Packet, Eastern Morning News, Yorkshire Post, Liberal Churchman, Literary World, and Preacher's Lantern speak of the work in terms of commendation, and recommend it in strong expressions. 13.6.1873
♦MR. ABRAHAM ELZAS, well-known author of several biblical works, died at Hull on Sunday. The funeral took place on Tuesday, and was numerously attended. Addresses were delivered at the grave on behalf of the Masonic fraternity, to which the deceased belonged. 16.7.1880
♦We regret to record the death of ABRAHAM ELZAS, of Hull, who for some years filled the post of minister. The deceased gentleman latterly was occupied in literary and scholastic pursuits; his translations of the "Minor Prophets" and "Book of Job", with critical notes, testified to his erudition, and gained for him numerous admirers and friends. The Hull & Lincolnshire Times devotes an obituary article to his career from which we learn "MR. ELZAS came to England from Russia twelve or fourteen years ago, having been born and educated in Holland in 1835. His travels were extended. It was about nine years ago the author came to Hull from Leeds and became master of the Hebrew School, but, owing to failing health, he was obliged to resign his position about three years ago." 6.8.1880 (JW)

A. LEON EMANUEL
We understand by the untiring exertions of MR. A.L. EMANUEL, honorary prison visitor, the Government have sanctioned erection of a synagogue in the Convict Prison, Portsea. MR. EMANUEL applied two years ago for a building, but was refused; he re-applied some weeks since and his request was granted. 7.7.1871
♦MR. A.L. EMANUEL received, on Tuesday week, a handsome "Grand Master Emblem" of Manchester Union of Odd Fellows, in recognition of services rendered by him to that lodge during his year of office. 6.10.1871
♦A person, whose name we suppress, writes:- "I cannot leave this country without expressing my gratitude to MR. A.L. EMANUEL, honorary visitor of Jewish convicts, for the liberal and valuable assitance I have received at his hands after my discharge from imprisonment, as well as for continual advice during my confinement." 13.9.1872
♦At a meeting of the Committee of Hayling Island Regatta, a handsome goblet was presented to MR. A.L. EMANUEL of Portsea, for his exertions in making the regatta a success, and for saving the life of one of the boat's crew. 12.9.1873
♦To the Editor of the Jewish World - Sir, I trust you will pardon me for troubling you on the resignation of MR. A.L. EMANUEL, the worthy and esteemed honoraary Jewish prison-visitor of Portsmouth gaol, a gentleman who has done much good for his unfortunate co-religionists, even after their discharge. He devoted all the time at his disposal to his unfortunate coreligionists, and to us officers, and has been the means of establishing a society to enable our widows to obtain a sum of money at our deaths. He visits us and cheers up in sickness, and accomplishes many other kind acts. We cannot afford to lose the services of this worthy gentleman, who on Tuesday announced to his congregation his intention to resign; many a tear was shed by the prisoners and officers present. I trust some influence will be brought to persuade MR. EMANUEL to retain his position. I beg to state, as aa Christian, if his co-religionists are not proud of him, we officers, from the Governor downwards, certainly are. I am, Sir, your obediently, Convict Warder. Portsmouth Convict Prison. 17.10.1873 (JW)

♦With reference to the resignation by MR. A.L. EMANUEL of the selfimposed office of honorary prison visitor, at a meeting of the Visitation Committee of the United Council held at the Central Synagogue on Wednesday evening, MR. EMANUEL being present, a resolution calling on that gentleman to withdraw his resignation was proposed and carried. We are glad to learn MR. EMANUEL has acceeded to their request. 24.10.1873 (JW)

♦MR. A.L. EMANUEL of Portsea has been selected from 3,000 members as deputy Provincial Grand Master of Portsmouth of the Independent Order of Oddfellows. This is the first Jew that has had this honour. 16.1.1874

♦We are happy to state MR. A. LEON EMANUEL has recovered from his severe illness and he has been enabled to resume his duties as honorary visitor of Portsea Prison. 13.11.1874

♦BRO. A.L. EMANUEL of Portsea was installed last week as Worshipful Master of United Brothers Lodge, No. 1069, in the presence of the Provincial Grand Master and other district officers of the craft. 4.12.1874

♦At Portsmouth District Meeting of the Manchester United Independent Order of Oddfellows BRO. A.L. EMANUEL was unanimously elected Grand Master of the district. MR. EMANUEL, we think, is the first Jew who has had this honour. 15.1.1875

♦An opinion has been expressed by several prominent members of the Jewish community an opportunity should be afforded to the public of acknowledging the services rendered by MR. A. LEON EMANUEL of Portsmouth. For the past thirteen years he has regularly visited the Portsmouth Convict establishment. Every Sabbath and Festival he conducts Divine Service in the Prison Synagogue. Every Sunday he attends at the prison to instruct Jewish convicts in Hebrew and Religion. As the time for the release of a prisoner draws near, he devotes his attention to the best method of giving the convict a new life. For many years he attended weekly at Parkhurst Prison. He attends there occasionally and visits the prisons of Dartmoor and Portland. This work which absorbs his leisure was undertaken at the request of the Jewish Association for the Diffusion of Religious Knowledge and when in 1871 that institution made over the work of visitation to the United Synaagogue, he transferred his services to the synagogue and has since acted in concert with the Visitation Committee. 14.1.1876

♦Our readers will be rejoiced to hear MR. A. LEON EMANUEL, honorary prison visitor, whose state of health caused his friends grave anxiety, is convalescent. We understand, acting on medical advice, he will soon undertake a long sea-voyage. 11.8.1876

♦The services rendered by MR. A.L. EMANUEL of Portsea, an honorary visitor to Jewish prisoners at the Convict Prison, Portsea, have been recognised by presentation of a testimonial, which was to have been publicly presented to him. This was dispensed with on account of MR. EMANUEL's serious illness, from which he has recovered, and a few days since the testimonial was forwarded to him. The testimonial consists of a silver dinner service, tea and coffee service, and salver, bearing an inscription. Accompanying the plate was an address, illuminated on vellum, and enclosed in a handsome casket. 16.11.1877

♦A correspondent informs us through representations of MR. A.L. EMANUEL of Portsea the following has been incorporated in prison regulations of Jersey: "That all prisoners professing the Jewish religion who are now, or shall at any future time be confined, or in any manner detained in the Prison, to be privileged to keep the Sabbath, and such other festival days as may from time to time be directed by the Board". 7.12.1877

The Birmingham Pulpit contains a report of a sermon delivered by REV. G.J. EMANUEL, BA. We quote an extract from the article: "MR. EMANUEL is a young man. Moderation of language, accompanied with a certain degree of fervour of spirit, is a combination as rare as it is valuable. He can take up a decided position - a position even of antagonism - without appearing altogether in the character of an advocate; and this for a minister not 30 years of age is a rare quality." 22.3.1872

On Wednesday, 19th ult., HENRY EMANUEL, of Surbiton, observed a bather sink. MR. EMANUEL immediately jumped into the river, with his clothes on, dived, and got the sinking man, who clung to him with such tenacity he carried him down, and both were in danger of being lost. MR. EMANUEL succeeded in bringing the man to shore, when, to his surprise, he discovered, he had rescued two men, who had clung together when in risk of drowning. The persons saved were servants of a gentleman of the neighbourhood. But for MR. EMANUEL's aid, there can be no doubt both men would have perished. 5.7.1872
♦Not long since we noticed a courageous act of HENRY EMANUEL. We are happy to state the Bronze Medal of the Royal Humane Society has been awarded to this intrepid swimmer, who imperilled his life to save the lives of others. 26.7.1872

MRS. HENRY EMANUEL
MRS. H.M. EMANUEL of Ordnance Row, Portsea has been appointed one of the lady managers of Kent Street School, Portsea by the Borough School Board. We believe MRS. EMANUEL is the first Jewish lady on whom such an honour has been conferred. 7.3.1873
♦We regret to learn MRS. EMANUEL of Ordnance Row, Portsea, mother of LEON EMANUEL, honorary Prison Visitor, has met with a severe accident. She was in her kitchen when a piece of wood fell from the fire, ignited her dress, which was made of thin barege, but with presence of mind MRS. EMANUEL rolled herself on the floor. The flames obtained mastery and although every effort was made to subdue them by one of her sons, her husband, a gentleman who was passing, the lady was fearfully burned about the face, neck and arms. Her nervous system received a severe shock. Great sympathy is everywhere expressed for her. 11.6.1875
♦Her cries attracted the attention of her son, MR. M.H. EMANUEL, who ran from the shop into the passage, where he found his mother enveloped in flames. MR. H.M. EMANUEL and his son, were burnt about the hands, the latter badly, in assisting to quench the fire. The lady is, we believe, upwards of 60 years of age. 11.6.1875 (JW)
♦We regret to inform our readers MRS. HENRY MICHAEL EMANUEL of Ordnance Row, Portsea succumbed on Tuesday afternoon to the effects of injuries received by her. The funeral will take place today (Friday). MRS. EMANUEL was an amiable and benevolent lady and commanded the respect of everyone who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. Her death is much lamented by the Jewish community of Portsea. 25.6.1875

JOEL EMANUEL
We have received a letter from JOEL EMANUEL, who was formerly representative at the Board of Deputies of Cardiff. MR. EMANUEL favours us with a copy of correspondence between himself and the Cardiff congregation, explaining his reasons for resigning. The gist of it is JOEL EMANUEL felt he could not conscientiously remain a member of the Board of Deputies after it had voted from the amount raised for relief of the famished Jews of Persia comparatively large gratuities to gentlemen employed in correspondence connected with distribution of the fund. 9.5.1873

Some years ago the Portsmouth Congregation was divided into two factions, and a new burial-ground was secured by the seceding party. Soon afterwards the two sections were reunited. Only one member was buried in the new ground - JOHN EMANUEL - and about ten years ago, through some misunderstanding, a convict, who died at Parkhurst, was interred in the same ground. Lately authorities of the Christian Cemetery, which adjoins the new Jewish graveyard, found they required more room and offered the synagogue £100 for this piece of ground, which was accepted. After having obtained sanction of the Secretary of State and Rev. Dr. Adler, remains of the two deceased persons were, on Tuesday, exhumed and buried in the old burialground, adjoining. 20.6.1879 (JW)

B.L. FARJEON
MR. FARJEON'S last work, "London Heart", has met with a rapid sale in the United States. Many of the American journals have reviewed it at considerable length. 22.8.1873
◆The large reading-room of Hutchison House was completely filled on Saturday evening by an audience anxious to hear read a new story by MR. B.L. FARJEON. It was entitled "Prince & Princess Argentle". The story was listened to with intense attention, and at its close the author was loudly cheered. 5.12.1873
◆The serial tale called "Love's Victory" is pursuing a successful career in Tinsley's Magazine.
Every week, favourable notices of FARJEON's numerous publications reach us from various journals. We quote the annexed extract from the Sheffield Daily Telegraph - It is a real living Xmas story. MR. FARJEON's characters, like Dickens, bring all their idiosyncracies well to the fore, and unlike Dickens, they are real, and never attitudinise. 12.2.1875
◆MR. B.L. FARJEON was one of the members of a deputation that waited upon MR. DISRAELI on behalf of the Authors' Copyrite Protection Association on Monday. 14.5.1875
◆MR. B.L. FARJEON's "Grif" has been performed with success at the Theatre Royal, Melbourne. 21.5.1875

SAMUEL FOUNTAIN
Some time ago we referred to the case of the foundling SAMUEL FOUNTAIN. When parentage of the boy became known to the Jewish Board of Guardians, they applied to the guardians of the City of London Union, in whose custody he is, to give him up to them, promising to provide for him. On Tuesday, 29th the question was discussed by the Guardians, and the decision arrived at was the application of the Jewish authorities should not be complied with. The proceedings have been reported in the City Press. The Daily Telegraph, in its impression on Friday, devotes a leader to the subject. There appeared in Monday's Daily Telegraph a letter in defence of the City Board of Guardians. 8.9.1876
♦THE CASE OF SAMUEL FOUNTAIN - The Weekly Despatch observes: "Seven years ago an infant was picked up in Fountain Court, Cheapside and taken to the City Union. If the authorities there had had more sense, or less prejudice, they might have known at once the child was a Jew and ought to have handed him over to some Jewish charity." At a meeting of the City Guardians held on 5th instant Mr. Bangough, referring to the case of the lad FOUNTAIN, said many people blamed thc action of the Guardians and were under the impression the Jews maintained their own poor. He found from official returns there were a considerable number of lunatic and imbecile Jews who were cared for by poor-law authorities. 15.9.1876 (JW)
♦SPECIAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF GUARDIANS - A meeting was held on 13th inst., to consider "letters from the Guardians of the City of London Union, and from the Visitation Committee of the United Synagogue, in reference to the case of "SAMUEL FOUNTAIN". The President, LIONEL L. COHEN, was in the chair.
The President gave a resume of the case of SAMUEL FOUNTAIN. The child had been found on 7th May, 1869 in Fountain Court, Cheapside and named SAMUEL FOUNTAIN by officers of the City of London Union. On 27th December, 1871 it was taken to Hanwell Schools. In November, 1869 MR. J.M. JOHNSON, a Jewish gentleman, and a member of City Board of Guardians, wrote unofficially to MR. J.A. FRANKLIN, a member of the Jewish Board, mentioning the case had come under his observation, and being a "Mohel" he considered the child had been circumcised as a Jewish child, an opinion he confirmed upon examination of the infant a few days later in the presence of Dr. Buncombe, medical officer of the Union.
The Executive Committee of the Board resolved in 1869 they were not warranted in interfering in the case and communicated their decision to Rev. the Chief Rabbi. In the course of summer the question had been mooted at the Board on representation from the Visitation Committee of the United Synagogue, whose attention was drawn to the case by REV. I. SAMUEL, one of their visitors. A second examination of the boy, made in 1869, showed the Jewish rite of the Covenant had been performed. Upon these facts and upon a letter from the Chief Rabbi that the boy would suffer no religious disqualification by reason of his parentage being unknown, the Board unanimously determined on 18th July at a full meeting to apply to the Guardians for the order of removal to a certified Jewish School under the Pauper Removal Act.
It was unanimously resolved to appoint a deputation who should seek a conference with the City of London Guardians. 22.9.1876
♦THE CASE OF SAMUEL FOUNTAIN - A deputation of a number of gentlemen connected with the Jewish Board of Guardians waited upon the Guardians of the City of London on Tuesday. MR. LIONEL L. COHEN said in 1869 the Jews had no certified institution wherein to place a child so young, but now they had two certified institutions in which they could maintain him at their own cost and provide for him and he thought with conclusive proof they were of the opinion the child was a Jew. The Chairman thanked the deputation for their attendance and for information they had given and said the question would be discussed. MR. COHEN thanked the meeting and the deputation withdrew. 29.9.1876 (JW)
♦At a meeting of the City of London Board of Guardians held on Tuesday, discussion was resumed with reference to the application of the Jewish Board of Guardians that SAMUEL FOUNTAIN be delivered up to them. The Guardians decided by 34 to 22 not to give the boy up to the Jewish Board of Guardians. 27.10.1876
♦BOARD OF GUARDIANS - At the first ordinary meeting of the Board after recess on Wednesday, 13th instant it was resolved permissision by asked of the City Board of Guardians for DR. ASHER, accompanied by a Jewish operator, to examine SAMUEL FOUNTAIN in the presence of their medical officer. 27.10.1876 (JW)
♦At a meeting of the Guardians of the City of London Union held on 14th instant a letter was read from the Jewish Board of Guardians stating with respect to the boy SAMUEL FOUNTAIN they had determined to submit the question to the Local Government Board and three gentlemen had been appointed to confer with representatives of the City Guardians for the purpose of preparing a statement of the facts of the case for submission to the Board. A motion was carried the Jewish Board be informed the City Guardians cannot assist. 24.11.1876 (JW)
♦At the weekly meeting of the City Guardians on Tuesday evening, Mr. Morley brought up and moved adoption of a report from the General Purposes Committee in reference to the case of SAMUEL FOUNTAIN. The Committee recommended the Local Government should be informed, in reply to their letter, the decision of the Guardians had been arrived at after full consideration, and according to what they considered to be the legal aspect of the subject; the statement the word "Hebrew" in the creed register had been altered and replaced by "Church of England" was not correct. MR. SOLOMONS, a Jewish member, said "Circumcision" was entered in the register, and showed that rite was performed prior to baptism. Mr. Boor criticised the answer was evasive. There were two books; in one was entered "Hebrew", and "Ditto" under "Church of England". From the other book it would be seen "Hebrew" was entered and there was no "Ditto". The report was adopted and the Clerk was, on the motion of MR. SOLOMONS, instructed in sending the reply to the Local Government Board, and invite their inspection to books and documents relating to the case at the Union office. 2.2.1877

♦Death 26.12.1880, suddenly, while presiding at a Public Examination of Manchester Jews' School, ISAAC A. FRANKLIN, MRCS. of Park Villa, Fallowfield, near Manchester, aged 68.
♦Last Sunday was fixed as the day for holding public examination of pupils at Manchester Jews School in Hebrew and religious knowledge and DR. FRANKLIN, President of the school was announced to take the chair. After exchanging greetings with a few of his friends, he begged to be allowed to sit down, where he immediately expired.
ISAAC ABRAHAM FRANKLIN was third son of the late ABRAHAM FRANKLIN of Manchester, and a brother of ELLIS A. FRANKLIN (Treasurer of the Anglo-Jewish Assocation) and of the late JACOB FRANKLIN. He married his cousin MISS SEGRE and leaves two sons and a daughter. He was born in Liverpool in 1812. He was educated at Manchester Free Grammar School. He was unable to attend school on Saturday, and Mr. Johnson, one of the masters, offered to supply lost lessons at his house on evenings of that day, and do so without fee or reward. He subsequently studied at Edinburgh University. After completing his medical studies he practised in Manchester where he was held in respect and esteem. He was connected with Manchester Jews' School from its foundation in 1838. After acting as Honorary Secretary he was elected its President. The school was originally held in his father's house. He had been suffering from heart disease for some years, and several times his life had been almost despaired of. A few years ago he retired from his regular professional duties owing to ill-health, but he served with energy and interest several communal offices, such as those connected with the Medical Department of Manchester Jewish Board of Guardians. He was a member of the Committee of the Manchester Branch of the Anglo-Jewish Association.
The funeral was solemnised on Wednesday at the cemetery of the Old Hebrew Congregation, Prestwich. Two o'clock was the time appointed for removal of the body for internment, and shortly before that time boys attending school were marshalled in two lines in the large schoolroom to await the departure of the funeral party. Many friends of the deceased were present, together with deputations from the Manchester Jewish Congregation, Portuguese Congregation, Congregation of British Jews, Jewish Board of Guardians, Jewish Philanthropic Society and Jewish Ladies Benevolent Society. Prior to removal of the corpse a number of Jewish operatives recited psalms. Several hundred people stood outside the school in the rain. Afterwards Rev. H.D. Marks, Rev. J.H. Valentine & E. Harris at Jews' Free School delivered addresses on the life and works of the deceased. 31.12.1880

On Thursday evening, 7th inst., JACOB A. FRANKLIN read a paper at the London Institution on "The Vindication of our Monetary Standard." 15.3.1872

♦At an adjourned discussion at the Society of Arts on desirability of the purchase of railways by the State MR. J.A. FRANKLIN said he had experience of Indian railways, but as he was suffering from an affliction that prevented him from speaking, he had asked MR. B. KISCH to present his views to the meeting, and a summary of opinions held by MR. FRANKLIN and MR. KISCH had been forwarded to the Society of Arts Journal and appears therein. 11.7.1873

♦The Parliamentary paper issued on Tuesday contains among other documents correspondence respecting Ottoman Loans (1850 & 1852) between MR. J.A. FRANKLIN and the Foreign Office. 11.6.1875

♦Death 3.8.1877 at 24 Westbourne Park Villas, eldest son of the late ABRAHAM FRANKLIN, formerly of Manchester, aged 68.

♦We regret to announce the death of JACOB A. FRANKLIN. He was eldest son of ABRAHAM FRANKLIN and was born at Portsmouth in 1809. His father was held in high esteem in Manchester, and the departed was one of the founders of the Jews' School in that city. The demise will be deplored by a large section of the community by whom the gentleman was admired for fixity of purpose in matters to which he devoted his attention. MR. FRANKLIN was a member of many of our charitable societies. Early in life he was known as a writer of ability and he was the first writer of the Voice of Jacob, which he established. At the Board of Deputies MR. FRANKLIN represented the Manchester congregation, and was its first representative. The participation of Jews in parliamentary grants for education was brought about by MR. FRANKLIN's instrumentality. As a member of the Council of Jews' College, the Board of Guardans and as one of the executive of the Anglo-Jewish Association his efforts were zealous and valuable. One of the most important matters in which he took part was the transfer of Jewish paupers to certified Jewish institutions. As a Fellow of the Society of Arts MR. FRANKLIN read a number of papers on education, decimal coinage, etc. and his addresses at the London Institution and before the Social Science Congress were extolled. He was an advocate of coinage reform and was examined before the Parliamentary Committee. The funeral of the deceased gentleman took place on Tuesday at Willesden Cemetery and was largely attended. A deputation representing the Anglo-Jewish Association was in attendance. 10.8.1877 (JW)

♦MR. FRANKLIN was unmarried. 10.8.1877

♦NOTICE TO CREDITORS - JACOB ABRAHAM FRANKLIN, of 7 Delamere Crescent & 24 Westbourne Park Villas, Gentleman, died 3rd August, 1877, whose will was proved by ELLIS ABRAHAM FRANKLIN, 2 Leinster Gardens, Hyde Park, Esq. and HENRY ABRAHAM FRANKLIN of the City of Frankfort, Professor of Languages, residing at 24 Westbourne Park Villas, Executors. - 4 September, 1877 - TAMPLIN, TAYLER & JOSEPH, 159 Fenchurch Street, EC., Solicitors for Executors

♦The Will with two codicils of JACOB ABRAHAM FRANKLIN was proved on 3rd ult., the personal estate being sworn under £35,000. The testator bequeaths £5,000 out of his personal estate upon trust for certain objects having for their aim the protection of Judaism and accomplishment of its mission; a capital sum to produce £1,200 per annum to be set aside, and is given to members of his family. The residue he gives to his two brothers. 21.9.1877 (JW)

♦The monument erected over the grave of JACOB FRANKLIN at Willesden Jewish cemetery was recently "set" with the usual religious service. The monument is of marble, and resting on top is represented a volume of the "Voice of Jacob" lying open. On the heading of the right-hand page is given the English title, with heading of an article on "Educaational works". The monument bears the following inscription:- Sacred to the Memory of JACOB ABRAHAM FRANKLIN, died 3rd Augusts 5637, 1877, aged 68. A man of sterling Piety and Benevolence; Imbued with deep attachment to His Race and Religion, he devoted all the energies of a cultivated mind to the acquisition of Knowledge and wisdom; and having founded the Anglo-Jewish Press, he gave utterance through "the Voice of Jacob" to his ardent aspirations for the spiritual and Intellectual attainments of his Brethren. - 23.8.1878

LEWIS A. FRANKLIN

Death 16.6.1879 at 24 Lancaster Road, Belsize Park, aged 59. Deeply regretted.

♦We regret to announce the death after a long and painful illness of LEWIS A. FRANKLIN, who was known in London in connection with St. John's Wood Synagogue, of which he was one of the founders and first president. MR FRANKLIN was one of the earliest Jewish settlers in the far west of America, and was noted for his adherence to the principles of orthodox Judaism and his active co-operation in communal work. 20.6.1879

♦The Hebrew Observer of San Francisco says: "The death of MR. FRANKLIN is noteworthy from the fact he formed the first Minyan in San Francisco, recited the first Jewish service, married the first Jewish couple, buried the first Jew and delivered the first Jewish sermon. He was well known in early days, both in this city and in San Diego, as an honest God-fearing man, who kept the Jewish Sabbath and Jewish principles." 5.9.1879

During drill on 5th inst., whilst members of the 3rd Manchester Volunteers were practising in their drill-room with blank cartridge, one of the officers, LTNT. FRANKS, was shot. A loaded cartridge had been mixed with others, and the bullet lodged in the breast of the officer. He was conveyed to the Infirmary, where he lay in a hopeless condition till the following morning, when he died. The deceased being a favourite, the event has excited universal sympathy. His funeral took place Friday and was largely attended, many officers and their daughters being present. 14.5.1880 (JW)

MR. FREEDMAN
The mystery surrounding a robbery at Roydon Villas, Clifton, Bristol was cleared up in a singular way. While the residents, MR. & MRS. FREEDMAN, were at synagogue on Wednesday, 15th ult., their servant rushed into a neighbour's house and stated she had escaped from one of the rooms, in which she had been locked by three men, who had ransacked the house and gone off with most of the jewellery. She produced a bag filled with plate, which she asserted she picked up on the lawn on jumping out of the window. The police found all rooms had been ransacked, and from one bedroom £50 of jewellery had been taken. In the morning the police found the servant would have had to jump 10 or 12 feet in order to get out of the window. The young girl was questioned, and after varying her story she said she had taken the jewellery from a tramp who was going to walk off with it, and it would be found in her bed, where she had placed it for safety. On cutting open the servant's bed detectives found the jewellery in a bag in the middle of the tick. 1.10.1880

JOSEPH FRE(E)DMAN
To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, I beg to call your attention to the following case, tried in the County Court of Norfolk (at Aylsham) on 16th inst., before Mr. W.H. Cooke, QC., and to protest against remarks of the judge. It seems JOSEPH FREDMAN, a watch dealer of this city, sued Thomas Fox, of Aylsham, for £2.3s.2d., balance of an account. Defendant paid 3s.2d. into court, alleging the plaintiff had promised to take back the watch he had of him on a previous transaction. His Honour said he would assume what the defendant had stated to be true, but at the most, it was only a lie on the part of the plaintiff, and surely that by the mouth of a member of the tribe of Israel "did not cause Mr. Fox any surprise". Judgment was found for the plaintiff, but without costs. His Honour added "He always thought a Fox could beat a Jew, but in this case the Jew beat the Fox". This is not the first time Mr. Cooke has been severe on Jews. His removal has been prayed for by thousands on the Norfolk Circuit. - Yours obediently, P. SOMAN – Norwich, July 29, 1874 (FREEDMAN(JW))

LESSER FRIEDLANDER
To Electors of the Great Synagogue - Gentlemen, I beg to thank you for having re-elected me on Sunday last one of your Representatives at the General Council of the United Synagogue. Faithfully yours, L. FRIEDLANDER, 3 Houndsditch, NE., 12 May, 1875
♦The Tobacco Trade Review says MR. L. FRIEDLANDER of 3 Houndsditch is the only firm in the tobacconists sundry business that can boast of having been established over fifty years. 19.1.1877
♦MR. LESSER FRIEDLANDER begs to sincerely thank members of the Great Synagogue for having re-elected him a Representative of the congregation at General Council and a Member of the Local Committee. MR. FRIEDLANDER regrets owing to ill health, he was unable to have the pleasure of thanking members personally on Sunday last and begs to assure them he will continue to make every exertion to promote the wellbeing and prosperity of the Great Synagogue. - 5 Houndsditch. 2.5.1879
♦Death 20.10.1879 at 3 Houndsditch in his 70th year.
♦We regret to announce the death of LESSER FRIEDLANDER, which took place on Monday after a painful and protracted illness. MR. FRIEDLANDER, who was a native of Cuxhaven, came to England early in life, and established himself in business in London. For more than a quarter of a century he was one of the Committee of Jews' Orphan Asylum, and he was a member of the Vestry of the Great Synagogue before and after amalgamation. He was a member of the local Committee of the Burial Society, and of the Council of the United Synagogue up to his death. 24.10.1879 (JW)
♦The will of LESSER FRIEDLANDER, late of 3 Houndsditch, merchant, who died on October 20th, was proved on 13th inst. by ELIZABETH FRIEDLANDER, the widow, acting executrix, the personal estate being sworn under £16,000. The testator bequeathes to the Great Synagogue and Jews' Orphan Asylum 10 guineas each; to his wife his household furniture and effects and £300; and legacies to members of his family and others. The residue of his property, subject to a provision for carrying on his business by his widow, is to be held upon trust for his wife for life, and then for his son ALBERT and his daughters. 26.12.1879
♦The Tombstone to the memory of LESSER FRIEDLANDER will be consecrated at West Ham Cemetery 11 April, 1880.

On behalf of the Congregation, MORRIS GOODMAN, President.

LEVI FRIEND
The daily journals of Friday last contained the following:- "A boy of 10, named LEVI FRIEND, was convicted yesterday of robbing at Middlesex Sessions. Mr. Serjeant Cox was about to send him to a reformatory, but was told the boy was a Jew. and while there were Roman Catholic and Protestant reformatories, there was not one which would receive a Jew." We believe this boy to be the same that was brought some time ago before a metropolitan magistrate, who declared a disinclination to send him to a Christian reformatory. 5.6.1874 (JW)

ELIAS BERG GABRIEL
An inquest was held at Woolwich on Saturday on the body of ELIAS BERG GABRIEL, aged 3 years, son of a clothier, living at 124 High Street, Woolwich. It appeared the deceased child, with his brother, 5 years old, went into the street with the shop-boy, and they were standing with several children near a street organ player, when a horse and cart knocked down the two children, who were hand in hand, the cart passing over them. The deceased sustained injuries, which terminated fatally in a few minutes. The driver of the van was charged with causing the death of the child, but the evidence showing no blame attached to him, he was discharged. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death. 20.8.1880

MR. GALLEWSKI
The Coroner held an inquest on the body of Francis Thorburn, lodging-house keeper, who died in the infirmary from the effects of a large wound in his throat which had been inflicted upon himself. - Mary Thorburn identified the body of the deceased as that of her husband. He had contracted a loan with a money-lender named GALLEWSKI of Sunderland, and had got in arrears with his payments, in consequence of which bailiffs took possession of the house on Tuesday night and began to remove furniture. Her husband could not raise money that night, and asked the bailiffs to wait until Wednesday, but they would not. After the deceased cut his throat, the bailiffs took the furniture. The jury returned the following verdict:- "the deceased died from an incided wound in the throat, inflicted upon himself with a knife, but there was no satisfactory evidence to show the state of his mind at the time; he was excited and distressed by furniture being seized by a money-lender named GALLEWSKI, a Jew, of Sunderland." Not only the creditor but the bailiff was a Jew. The condemnation of the Jewish community rests on the money-lender. 19.4.1878

ISIDOR GERSTENBERG
MR. I. GERSTENBERG has, in consequence of ill-health, resigned Chairmanship of the Corporation of Foreign Bondholders. At a Meeting of the Corporation held on Wednesday, March 1st a cordial vote of thanks was passed to MR. GERSTENBERG for his long services. 3.3.1876
♦The daily papers state MR. I. GERSTENBERG, the wellknown banker, member of the Stock Exchange, and founder of the Corporation of Foreign Bondholders, while crossing yesterday week from Ostend to Dover on the Belgian Mail Packet "Marie Henriette" fell into the engine-room, into which he had been looking down. The engines were stopped, but when picked up MR. GERSTENBERG was dead. An inquest was held on Friday last, when the jury returned a verdict of "Accidental Death", and censured the company for not having more efficiently protected the opening through which the deceased fell. The body was brought to London early on Sunday morning and was buried at Willesden Jewish Cemetery. 18.7.1876
♦NOTICE TO CREDITORS - ISIDOR GERSTENBERG Esq., of Stockleigh House, Regent's Park, Middlesex, of 10 Moorgate Street, of the Stock Exchange in the City of London (who died on 20th July, 1876, and whose will was proved by FANNY ALICE GERSTENBERG, widow of deceased, ARNOLD ABRAHAMSON, MANUEL CASTELLO & FREDERIC ELIAS WARBURG, Esq., executors). - 17 August, 1876 - EMANUEL & SIMMONDS, 36 Finsbury Circus, London, Solicitors for Executors.
♦The will of ISIDOR GERSTENBERG, late of Stockleigh House, Regents Park, and of Moorgate Street, who died on 20th ult., between Dover and Ostend, was proved by FANNY ALICE GERSTENBERG, the widow, MR. A. ABRAHAMSON, MR. M. CASTELLO & MR. F.E. WARBURG, executors, the personal estate being sworn under £90,000. The testator gives to each of his executors £100; to his wife his furniture, plate, horses and carriages, and an immediate legacy of £30,000 for life; on her death, £30,000 is to be divided between his children and issue as she shall appoint. The residue of his property he leaves to his children. - City Press 18.8.1876

♦Our obituary for this last week bears the name of LOUIS R. GLUCK, who has passed away at the age of 70. Deceased, who was a native of Prussian-Poland, came to England when a youth. He possessed important intellectual powers and a taste for literary pursuits. He displayed talents as an artist. More than a generation back he published coligraphic portraits of H.M. the Queen, the Duke of Wellington, Rev. the Chief Rabbi, etc. These portraits were favourably criticised at the time by the press. Each likeness embodied a biographical sketch. MR. GLUCK was an exhibitor of oil and water colour paintings in the Adelaide Gallery. Three of these were drawn up for lottery, one of them, "Coronation of Napoleon", valued at £200, falling to the lot of Mr. Sweeting of Cheapside, who has preserved the picture on the walls of his restaurant, where it can be seen. MR. GLUCK's portrait of the Duke of Sussex was considered truthful and this result may be attributed to the opportunity he had on studying his subject, being engaged as Hebrew tutor to the Duke for several months. As a linguist he was conversant with several languages, and on one occasion acted as interpreter to a distinguished ambassador. MR. GLUCK spent many years of his life in Sheffield and was a supporter of all Jewish institutions. He died on 27th ult., leaving a wife and five children to mourn their loss, and was followed to the grave by all members of his congregation. 8.5.1874 (JW)

MR. GOETZ
It appears in August, a poor brokenhearted coreligionist, named GOETZ, a man close upon 80 years of age, had become an inmate of Southampton Union, through reverses of fortune. The man had been in an excellent way of business at the West End for several years, and being an earnest and religious person, had had his seat in St. Alban's Synagogue, and subscribed in proportion to his means towards the requirements of his congregation. His latest bill showed payment of £13, his quota during the period of the last 12 months previous to his leaving England for California in August last. As stated he entered Southampton Union. Six weeks back the authorities there communicated with MR. S.A. GREEN with a view to removing the man to London, and gaining him a place in his own community. He had been so depressed with his misfortune he had attempted to commit suicide in the town, and the magistrate had handed him over to Union officials. The intended suicide had made every preparation for his departure out of this world; he had pledged all his available clothing, leaving the proceeds carefully wrapped in paper, with direction the money was to be applied towards expenses of his funeral. His design was frustrated in time, and he was taken by the hand of MR. GREEN, and comfortably lodged in the Jewish workhouse. He died a fortnight back, bowed down with age and melancholy thoughts. The funeral was conducted by the Western Synagogue. The examination of his effects proved up to the latest moment past he was a gentleman, as shown by his correspondence, invoices for clothing and board, etc., all paid, and by a dressing-case possessing all things needful for a man of delicate taste. 6.11.1874 (JW)

JANE GOLDBERG
On Saturday Mr. T.W. Radcliff, coroner for Tower Liberty, held an inquest at the Rose & Crown Tavern, Old Artillery Ground, respecting the death of JANE GOLDBERG, aged 5 weeks, daughter of a tramping glazier, who lived in an underground cellar at 24 Steward Street. The father stated he earned from 6 to 8 shillings per week, out of which he paid rent, amounting to 3 shillings. On Tuesday evening, deceased being ill, he applied at the Jewish Board of Guardians for an order for a doctor, which he was refused, and put out. The next morning deceased died without medical attendance. Dr. Ilott, who was called in afterwards, said death was due to natural causes, that no child could live in such a den of a cellar, deceased being, when he saw her, wrapped in a mass of rags. The jury, in agreeing to a verdict of "Natural causes", stated on viewing the body the stench was overpowering, and such places should be done away with. We are informed it is untrue any application for medical attendance was made to the Jewish Board of Guardians. On Wednesday morning (when, it is stated, the child had died) the father applied for coke, but as none was being distributed by the Board his application could not be entertained. He did not mention any member of his family being ill. These facts were admitted by the father when he was subsequently questioned at the offices of the Board. 7.12.1877

JOSEPH GOLDENBERG
Mr. Richards held an inquiry at the Vestry Hall, Cable Street, St. George's-in-the-East, on Friday last, respecting the death of JOSEPH GOLDENBERG, aged 61. MRS. LEAH GOLDENBERG, residing at Fairclough Street, Commercial Road identified the deceased as her husband. At 11 o'clock on Wednesday they left home to take a walk, and before they proceeded far, the deceased asked her for the keys, as he said he might be home before she was. At a quarter to one she arrived home, and upon going to her bedroom found the door locked, and upon looking through the keyhole, saw the deceased hanging. An alarm was raised, and the door broken open, when he was found suspended by the silk scarf which he had been wearing, to a hook on the cupboard door, dead. The deceased had dealt heavily in Spanish Bonds, which had depreciated in value owing to the war in Spain, which seemed to have preyed upon his mind. The jury returned a verdict of suicide whilst of unsound mind. 5.9.1873

MOSES HERBERT GOLDMAN
A correspondent writes to Hull News: A courageous act has been done by a young gentleman named MOSES HERBERT GOLDMAN. Mr. K.W. Thompson was driving up Anlaby Road in a phaeton and pair, when the horses took fright and started off at a great pace. Mr. Thompson tried to stop them, but in doing so the reign snapped, and the vehicle and its occupants - Mr. & Mrs. Thompson and friends - were left at the mercy of the horses. At this moment young GOLDMAN came to the rescue. He seized the horses' heads, and at the risk of his life managed to hold them, being dragged along the road before he succeeded in bringing the animals to a standstill. 8.2.1878

There is nothing which gives a room so cheerful an aspect as plants and flowers. LADY & MISS CAROLINE GOLDSMID, with a view to promoting their cultivation in the homes of our poor, are in the habit of presenting them yearly, through the biblewomen who visit them, with a few choice plants. A large number is also sent to MISS HARRIS, the mistress of Jews' Infant School, who distributes them. Last week several hundred geraniums found their way in this manner into our institutions and the houses of the poor. 31.10.1873 (JW)
♦MISS CAROLINE GOLDSMID last Tuesday gave her annual garden treat to pupils of Jews' Infant School. A brass band was provided and MISS GOLDSMID invited a large party of friends to meet the children. 3.7.1874 (JW)

♦On Tuesday inmates of Jews' Deaf & Dumb Home went for a day's enjoyment to Brighton, where MISS GOLDSMID treated them to a sumptuous dinner and supper. The weather being fine the children enjoyed the excursion very much. 25.8.1876

♦On Tuesday pupils of Jews' Infant School, Commercial Street were regaled with strawberries and cakes, at the expense of MISS CAROLINE GOLDSMID of Lynwood, Upper Tooting. A band of music was provided, and the little ones danced and sang. The proceedings terminated with "God save the Queen", sung by the children, and hearty cheers were given for MISS CAROLINE GOLDSMID. 25.7.1879

♦Some nine years ago MISS CAROLINE GOLDSMID, of Lynwood, Upper Tooting, founded a Convalescent Home at Tooting, for Jewish children, the first of the kind that has been established for the benefit of the Jewish community. MISS GOLDSMID defrays the expense of the house, salaries, etc. The Home was removed this week to 3 Kent Cottages, Longley Road, Upper Tooting and was consecrated on the 21st inst by JULIUS GOLDSTEIN, accompanied by the voluntary choir of Stepney Jewish schools. After the ceremony visitors partook of a repast provided by MISS GOLDSMID. 24.10.1879 (JW)

♦On the invitation of MISS CAROLINE GOLDSMID, upwards of 130 children of Jews' Infant Schools had their annual outing this week in that lady's grounds, Lynwood, Upper Tooting. The children were regaled with tea, cakes and various kinds of fruit, and a brass band was engaged for their amusement. 2.7.1880

♦Death 2.5.1878, aged 70. (JW)

♦SIR FRANCIS HENRY GOLDSMID, Bart., MP., QC., DL., JP., FRGS. was the second and only surviving son of the late SIR ISAAC LYON GOLDSMID by his marriage with ISABEL, second daughter of ABRAHAM GOLDSMID of Morden, Surrey. Exactly seventy years ago in May, 1808 he was born in Spital Square, London. He was called to the bar in Hilary term, 1833, being the first Jew who obtained that distinction in England. SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID practised for a short time in the Chancery Court, but obtaining silk in 1858, and a seat in Parliament in 1860, he relinquished his connection with legal matters. During the agitation for removal of Jewish disabilities in two pamphlets he advocated political emancipation of his coreligionists. No better instance could be mentioned of his conscientious Judaism and the scrupulous manner in which he discharged his parliamentary duties than that he never rode home from the House of Commons on Sabbath, and to the day of his death would partake of no trifa refreshment, but carried about with him a sealed box containing whatever he required. He was by inheritance a Baron of the Kingdom of Portugal and he succeeded to his father's titles in 1859. SIR FRANCIS married in 1839 LOUISA SOPHIA, only daughter of MOSES ASHER GOLDSMID of London, by whom he had no family. The baronetcy and honours devolve upon his nephew, JULIAN GOLDSMID, of Somerhill, Kent, MP. for Rochester, as the only surviving son of his brother, the late FREDERICK DAVID GOLDSMID, some time MP. for Honiton. SIR FRANCIS was a Bencher of Lincoln's Inn, a Deputy-Lieutenant of Berkshire, a Justice of the Peace first for Berkshire and Gloucestershire, a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, and a Vice-President of the Anglo-Jewish Association. SIR FRANCIS was a munificent contributor to all charities and nstitutions in which his father was interested, and there were few deserving cases or institutions which did not receive support. 10.5.1878 (JW)

♦The accident to SIR FRANCIS H. GOLDSMID has cast a gloom over the community.

It appears the day after he had completed his 70th year, taking with him an old and valued servant, he proceeded to Titherley, near Southampton to look after some property which he held there. On his arrival at Waterloo Station at 7.45 p.m. behind time, there can be no doubt the carriage door opened long before the train had stopped, and the Baronet stepped from the carriage under the impression the train was no longer in motion. The statement, which it appears from the inquest was made by SIR FRANCIS while conscious, leaves no doubt in the minds of those who knew his accuracy, the accident was the result of carelessness and haste on the part of some porter at the station.

The remains of SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID were consigned to their last restingplace in the Cemetery of the West London Synagogue, Kingsbury Road, Balls Pond on Wednesday. The funeral cortege - which consisted of a hearse drawn by 4 horses, 40 mourning coaches and about 50 private carriages - left the late residence of the deceased, St. John's Lodge, Regent's Park, at about half-past ten. At the house were assembled upwards of 200 gentlemen, representing all sections of the community. A detachment of boys from Jews' Deaf & Dumb Home attended at the house, and at the Cemetery were a number of boys of Jews' Hospital & Orphan Asylum, of which SIR FRANCIS was a Vice-President. On reaching the grave - which is within the enclosure where rest the remains of the father and mother of SIR FRANCIS, SIR ISAAC LYON & LADY GOLDSMID, and his late brother, FREDERIC DAVID GOLDSMID - Rev. Prof. Marks read scriptural verses and gave a sermon.

Out of respect to the memory of the Baronet, the Festival Dinner of Jews' Hospital & Orphan Asylum was not held. For similar reason the Festival Dinner of University College Hospital has been postponed, and University College was closed on Wednesday. The Distribution of Prizes at the schools of the Spanish & Portuguese Congregation was postponed.

Letters conveying expressions of grief felt in the neighbourhood and of condolence with the family have been received by LADY GOLDSMID from members of the Church and Government.

Votes of condolence with LADY GOLDSMID and the family have been passed, among other bodies, by the Councils of the Anglo-Jewish Association and United Synagogue.

The Spectator, in feelingly noticing the death of SIR FRANCIS GOLDMID, observed the deceased was a friend of London University and every liberal project except the emancipation of Eastern Christians.

The Daily Telegraph in a leader in its issue of Tuesday says: The deceased gentleman, who held a prominent position in society, was universally respected, and, by those who knew him intimately, beloved.

On Wednesday every token of respect was shown by the inhabitants of Reading to the memory of SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID, senior member for the borough, during the time arranged for the funeral. Every shop was either closed or partially so, and almost every window had window blinds drawn down between the hours of 10 and 12, while one of the church bells was tolled. At noon the Mayor and Corporation assembled, the mace and other insignia being draped in crape, and a note of condolence to be sent to (LOUISA SOPHIA) LADY GOLDSMID was unanimously adopted.

On last Sabbath, the West London Synagogue, Upper Berkley Street presented a sombre aspect, owing to the death of its lay head. Nearly everyone appeared in mourning costume, and sorrow was depicted on the countenances of the congregation. At close of the public service, a private commemorative service of the dead was peformed by Rev. Prof. Marks, at which all relatives of the deceased Baron attended, and large offerings were made to the funds of the synagogue.

In the House of Commons, on Friday last, SAUL ISAAC asked the President of the Board of Trade if he had made any inquiry regarding the death of SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID, Bart., MP. for Reading, and if he was prepared to obtain from Parliament powers to compel railway companies to so construct footboards of passenger carriages as to prevent a recurrence of such accidents.

At a meeting of the Committee of the Western Synagogue, held on Monday, votes of condolence were passed unanimously to LADY GOLDSMID and SIR JULIAN GOLDSMID.

University College, London and University College Hospital gain between them £50,000 by the will of the late SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID, MP., who was treasurer of each of these institutions. The Baronet left £10,000 to the West London Synagogue of British Jews. His entailed estates, valued at about £100,000 a year, pass to his nephew SIR JULIAN GOLDSMID, MP. The bulk of the personal property of SIR FRANCIS, about £50,000, is left to his sister, MRS. NATHANIEL MONTEFIORE of Coldeast, with remainder to her two sons. The COUNTESS D'AVIGDOR and other sisters took similar legacies and LADY GOLDSMID, the relict, an annuity of £8,000. - Manchester Guardian - 17.5.1878

The West London Express of last week contains an obituary of SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID. 24.5.1878

♦The inquest on the Baronet was held on Monday before G. Hall, Coroner for the Western Division of Surrey, in the Alfred Ward at St. Thomas's Hospital. At 20 minutes past 10 o'clock the Coroner and Jury viewed the body, which was lying in an elm shell, encased in a leaden coffin, covered with a black velvet pall, fringed with white silk.

Charles Peter said he was a valet in the service of the Baronet. On Thursday, witness was riding in the same train from Dunbridge. Immediately the train stopped he got out the carriage, and on looking back he saw the deceased fall. He was being dragged along the platform by the train. The carriage was detached in order to extricate the deceased. Witness said "Can you speak, Sir Francis?" Deceased answered him by saying, "The carriage door being thrown open was the cause of it."

Alfred Goddard said he was a railway porter in the employ of the South-Western Railway. He was on the platform awaiting the arrival of the train from Southampton. The train was about 20 minutes late. The deceased was on the step of a 1st-class carriage with his back towards the engine. SIR FRANCIS fell, and rolled on to the platform with his legs between the carriages. Witness got hold of his arm, and the deceased fell between the carriages.

Richard Willshire said he was Superintendent Inspector at Waterloo Railway Station. Witness did not consider six inches was too wide a space between carriage and platform. The rules of the Company state "No carriage door should be opened before the train stops or after the train starts."

Mr. F.W. Giles, medical student at the hospital, stated the deceased was brought to the hospital shortly before 9 o'clock on Thursday evening. He said, "This happened through their throwing open the door before the train stopped." Was he conscious of his approaching death? - He was.

Mr. G. Makins, house surgeon, said he saw deceased soon after he was brought in. He was suffering from extreme shock. His right foot was crushed, and his pelvis and chest. He said several times, "Let me alone; let me die." He died about half-past 9 o'clock.

Mr. Willshire stated he wished to correct his evidence. The carriage in which deceased had travelled was 165 feet from commencement of the platform.

Mr. W. Napier, surgeon, said he was medical attendant of the deceased. Since the accident he had been at Waterloo Station. He measured the distance between floor of the platform and carriages, and he found it was 31 inches in a direct line, up and down. There were two steps, the lower one being a long footboard, which was useless, being on a level with the platform or below it, and the higher one a short iron step. The deceased was a short-sighted man, and be believed was under the impression the platform was of the usual depth. It was rarely he travelled on the South-Western line.

The coroner summed up, and the room was cleared of all but the jury. After a few minutes the public were re-admitted.

The foreman said - The jury find the deceased came to his death by accident, and they are of the opinion the practice of opening carriaage doors by porters is a reprehensible one, and calculated to contribute to accidents. They recommend the platform being made level, some portion of the train shall not be higher than the other, and the space of six inches between footboard and platform is greater than it should be. - 10.5.1878

♦The report of Colonel Yolland on the accident to SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID, MP. has been issued by the Board of Trade. It appears there is not the least reason for doubting the accuracy of SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID's statement the accident was occasioned by the door of his compartment being opened by some of the officials at the station, and he thought the train had stopped when he attempted to get out. 7.6.1878

♦THE ANGLO-JEWISH ASSOCIATION - PUBLIC MEETING - MR. SERJEANT SIMON, MP. referred to the loss sustained by the Jewish community through the death of SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID, who had championed in the House of Commons the cause of Jews of Servia and Roumania, and who was one of the founders and most zealous members of the Association. 7.6.1878

♦The Land Agent Record states Rendcombe Park Estate, Glos., the seat of the late SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID, Bart., has been purchased by the Rt. Hon. Stephen Cave, MP. This freehold property, consisting of mansion and 4,800 acres, nine miles from Cheltenham, was offered for auction on the 1st inst., the highest bid having been £215,000. 23.8.1878 (JW)

♦On Sunday morning a half-length oil painting of the late SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID, by MRS. L. GOODMAN, was hung in the committee room of the West London Synagogue, Upper Berkeley Street, the following inscription being placed on a tablet of the frame: "SIR FRANCIS GOLDSMID, Bart., M.P., Chairman of the Council. A tribute of respect to his memory and a token of gratitude for the eminent services rendered by him to this congrgation. Painted, by order of the Council, by MRS. LOUIS GOODMAN, 1879." 28.3.1879 (JW)

♦A DRINKING FOUNTAIN IN MEMORY OF SIR F.H. GOLDSMID - The drinking fountain which has been erected by MRS. NATHANIEL MONTEFIORE was opened on Tuesday. The site is at the lower end of Leman Street, Whitechapel. The weather was fine and there was a large concourse of spectators. It bears this inscription: "This fountain was erected by EMMA, wife of NATHANIEL MONTEFIORE, in memory of her brother, SIR FRANCIS HENRY GOLDSMID, Bart., M.P. for Reading. Born May 1, 1808. Died May 2, 1878. Write me as one who loved his fellow men. - Leigh Hunt." 20.6.1879 (JW)

HANNAH GOLDSTEIN
Last Saturday night Mr. Payne held an Inquest at Gravel Lane, Houndsditch on the body of HANNAH GOLDSTEIN, aged 35, a Jewess. The evidence given showed the husband of deceased, being unable to earn his living for his wife and young family, left them and went to Leeds to endeavour to obtain employment, promising if he were successful to send home money to his wife. She never heard from him and had to part with her home bit by bit to buy necessaries of life for herself and her children. She grieved at her ill fortune, became alarmingly ill and died. The medical witness said death was caused by paralysis of the heart accelerated by anxiety and the jury returned a verdict to that effect. 1.9.1876 (JW)

MARTIN GOLDSTEIN
The will of MARTIN GOLDSTEIN, late of 126 Piccadilly, who died on 6th ult., was proved on 30th ult. by JAMES DODSON, EDWARD SAMUEL LASSEN, GUSTAV ROSKILL & PAUL NATHAN HARDY, executors, the personal estate being sworn under £300,000. After bequeathing £500 to each of his executors free of legacy duty, testator leaves residue of his real and personal estate in equal shares between the sons and daughters of his late sister AMELIA KOELINE, most of whom, it is believed, live in Dantsic, the widow and daughters of his late brother ELKAU WOLFFE GOLDSTEIN, residing at Dantsic, and his sister FRIEDERICKE ROSENBERG, residing at Berlin, and her daughter; he bequeaths should any of his nephews and nieces predeceasing him leaving issue, such issue are to take their parents' share. 20.2.1880

♦At a meting of the Committee of the New Synagogue held on Sunday, HERMANN GOLLANCZ was elected to the post of preacher to the congregation. 15.10.1880 (JW)
♦Under the heading "Installation of a Jewish Preacher" City Press of Saturday devoted half a column to the sermon delivered by REV. HERMANN GOLLANCZ at the New Synagogue on 30th ult., the occasion of his installation as preacher to the Synagogue. The Israelit and The Lebanon contain complimentary references to the appointment of REV. MR. GOLLANCZ. The association of his father with so orthodox a congregation as Hambro' induces our contemporaries to regard MR. GOLLANCZ's connection with the New Synagogue as a guarantee of its continuing in strictly orthodox paths. 12.11.1880

ABIGAIL GOMPERTZ
Death 10.3.1871, at 31 Upper Kennington Lane, Vauxhall, aged 81 years, widow of the late BENJAMIN GOMPERTZ, FRS., etc., deeply regretted by her numerous relatives and friends.
♦It is our duty to record the death of MRS. GOMPERTZ. Born 14th February, 1790, she remained in possession of her faculties up to a short period prior to her death. She was daughter of the late JOSEPH MONTEFIORE and sister to SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE. She was married to BENJAMIN GOMPERTZ, FRCS., Actuary of the Alliance. For many years previous to his death, his failing health confined him almost constantly to his house, where his existence was cheered to the last by the amiable countenance and devoted attention of the lady whose demise we lament. Since her widowhood, MRS. GOMPERTZ spent a considerable part of her time with SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE. She leaves two daughters, several grandchildren and numerous grandchildren. 17.3.1871

LAURA GOODMAN
We extract the following from the Hull Express on Saturday: "At Hull Police Court this morning, an application was made to the stipendiary magistrate by a young lady, who stated after she had been married 6 months, to a man named HARRIS GOODMAN, a peddling jeweller of this town, he left the house, and two days after two men came in with a bill of sale and sold everything off, even body linen, so she had nothing except what she stood in. She did not know what to do, so made an application to the Guardians, who told her she could go into the workhouse, but if she had done so she would have lost the few pupils she had, as she was a certified teacher of the French and German languages. She was sure her husband was somewhere near, as she had seen him a few days ago in town, and he would soon be taken if she had a warrant. His Worship said he was sorry he could not help unless the Poor-Law authorities applied for a warrant." 6.6.1879

MR. WALTER GOODMAN's "Pearl of the Antilles; or an Artist in Cuba" has been favourably reviewed in the Saturday Review, Spectator, Pall Mall Gazette, Globe, Atheneum, Standard, Graphic, Public Opinion, Court Circular, Literary World, St. James's Chronicle, Western Morning News, Sunday Times, Weekly Despatch, Scotsman, Manchester Examiner, Yorkshire Post, Leeds Mercury, Once a Week, and other periodicals. We understand circulation of the first edition of the book has been satisfactory. 7.11.1873
♦Cassell's Magazine for February contains two articles from the pen of WALTER GOODMAN, called "Saved from a Wreck" and "Cuba without a Master". 6.2.1874
♦MR. WALTER GOODMAN has contributed to the Winter Exhibiton of Cabinet Pictures in oil, opened at Dudley Gallery, a work bearing the title "Young Castile". He has contributed to the Exhibition of Pictures by British and Foreign Artists at the French Gallery in Pall Mall a painting called "Voices of the Sea". Both works have been favourably noticed in leading periodicals. 6.11.1874
♦The Daily Telegraph on Thursday announced "His Excellency Lin Hsihung, Chinese Minister at the Court of Berlin" has commissioned WALTER GOODMAN to copy 'Madonna in Prayer' by Sassoferrato, in the National Gallery, Trafalgar Square. This is the first commission given by a Chinese to an English artist. 18.1.1878
♦A sketch of WALTER GOODMAN's portrait of H.E. KuoTa Jen, Chinese Ambassador, has been included of Henry Blackburn's Academic Notes of the Principal Pictures at Burlington House; in newspaper notices, especially that of the Daily Telegraph, remarks on the portrait are given at length. 31.5.1878
♦MR. WALTER GOODMAN's portrait of His Excellency, the Chinese Ambassador has been transferred from the Royal Academy to the "Walker Gallery of Fine Art" in Liverpool, where it has been hung in a conspicuous place and has attracted considerable notice. 20.9.1878
♦Messrs. Elliott & Fray of Baker Street have published a cabinet-size photograph from WALTER GOODMAN's wellknown portrait of the first Chinese Ambassador to Great Britain, which was exhibited at the Royal Academy last year. 2.5.1879
♦A studio has been opened at 44 Baker Street by WALTER GOODMAN, who exhibits portrait-drawings in crayons and Indian ink, which MR. GOODMAN introduces as a favourite in his gallery. We believe the studio is open permanently for those who may desire to visit it. 17.9.1880 (JW)

ALBERT GRANT
The munificent gift of ALBERT GRANT of London in purchasing the freehold of Leicester Square, converting what is nothing but an arid waste into a pleasure ground, interspersed with statues of men famous in literature, science and art, and presenting it to the public, is so signal an act of public spirit, as to call forth our highest admiration. We cannot forget MR. GRANT's ancestors were members of our faith; although we regret we cannot now number him among our community, we think we may point with pride to the circumstance of his munificent gift to the metropolis, as showing his charity and liberality are characteristic of the Jewish race. 30.1.1874 (JW)

MRS. S. GREENBERG
MRS. S. GREENBERG thanks for condolences for her dearly beloved and lamented father. 16.2.1872

MRS. S. GREENBERG
Fifteen years ago MR. S. GREENBERG laid down a cask of ale intending it to be drunk when his son became Bar Mitzvah. Instead he sent the ale to the "General Hospital" of Birmingham. It was found to be so strong it was bottled off and placed in reserve for special service, and some short time after it was applied to the relief of sufferers injured by the explosion at Witton, with the best effect. Lately, MRS. GREENBERG, the donor's wife, was laid prostrate by an alarming attack of erysipelas. At last the physician, who is likewise physician to the hospital, remembering the quieting effect of the strong ale, obtained a small quantity of it from the hospital. It was given to the lady, and it had the effect of inducing sound sleep from which she awoke strengthened, and her recovery is assured. 26.4.1872

SIMEON I. GREENBERG
In a recent number we mentioned MR. S. GREENBERG of Birmingham has presented to the Perushim Congregation of Jerusalem a handsome kiddush cup. To mark their gratitude and appreciation, the congregation have set apart in the synagogue a seat for MR. GREENBERG next to that apportioned to SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE. 11.4.1873

♦MR. S. GREENBERG of Birmingham, who recently presented the Perushim congregation of Jerusalem with a silver kiddush cup, sent £10 for the poor last Passover. 20.6.1873

♦MR. S.I. GREENBERG, a resident in Birmingham, is wellknown for charity he dispenses in Smorgan, his native town. Recently he contributed £200, which was devoted to the erection of a new wall for the Jewish burialground. This gift has been memoralised on a tablet erected on the structure. After the wall had been completed, a special service was held in the synagogue, prayers being offered for MR. GREENBERG. In recognition of the philanthropy of this gentleman, the authorities of Smorgan have forwarded to him a valuable collection of Hebrew works, including one over a hundred years old, which was treasured by them. 15.5.1874 (JW)

♦On Friday last an interesting ceremony took place at Birmingham Synagogue, the "Inauguration" of a Sepher. MR. S. GREENBERG, who occupies a prominent position in the Jewish community of Birmingham, presented a magnificent Scroll of the Law to the congregation, on his son LEOPOLD becoming Bar Mitzvah. The Scroll was written by R. ELIASCH of Wilna. MR. GREENBERG presented the appurtenances of a Sepher. On Friday last, just before Sabbath, a large number of members of the Congregation met at the residence of MR. GREENBERG when the last few words of the Sepher were written. Just previous to the Sabbath Evening service a procession was formed in the synagogue, consisting of the minister, the treasurer, MR. GREENBERG (carrying the Scroll) and his son. On their entering the synagogue a choir sang Psalms 19 and 24. MR. GREENBERG sent to Jerusalem, and to his native town, donations to enable the poor to take their part in festive commemorations of his son's Bar-mitzvah day. 16.10.1874

♦BIRMINGHAM - On his son's attaining his religious majority, SIMEON GREENBERG presented the synagogue with a magnificent Sepher Torah. A letter of thanks was forwarded, but this mark of gratitude being deemed insufficient by the Executive, they met in Council and passed a resolution record of their acknowledgment should be forwarded in the shape of an illuminated and engrossed letter in book form. This has been carried out. 20.11.1874 (JW)

♦MR. & MRS. GREENBERG of Birmingham sent their annual donation of £5 for oil in the perpetual lamp in the Great Synagogue of Jerusalem. 5.2.1875

ALFRED HARRIS
On Tuesday evening, a shocking murder was perpetrated in the infirmary attached to City of London Union Workhouse, Mile End Road. It seems on Monday a constable of the City Police force found a man lying insensible in Aldersgate Street. He was conveyed to the City of London Union, where he was seen by the medical officer, who ordered him to be taken to the infirmary. His pockets were examined, and in them were discovered a passport, and other papers, which showed the bearer to be DAVID SALENSKAM, a native of the village of Paruts, in the province of Kalvrarany, Russia. A few hours after his reception SALENSKAM recovered consciousness, and evinced a desire to enter into conversation with those about him, being unable to speak more than a few words of English. A man named ALFRED HARRIS, who had been an inmate of the infirmary since the beginning of March, was sent for to talk with him. On Tuesday evening, HARRIS was sitting at a table reading, another patient being in the room, when SALENSKAM jumped out of bed, got hold of a chair, and rushing at the latter, aimed a terrible blow at him, which he managed to avoid. SALENSKAM then darted at HARRIS, and inflicted blow upon blow upon his head, smashing the chair into pieces. The police were called in. On their arrival they found the murderer foaming and shrieking in a manner which showed him to be in a state of raving madness. The deceased was partially paralysed, and just before he met with his death his friends were endeavouring to effect his removal from the Workhouse Infirmary. The synagogue authorities have made arrangements to bury the body after the inquest. 2.7.1880 (DAVID SALEWSKAM(JW))

♦Death 2.12.1879 at 45 Arundel Square, N., after a lingering illness, aged 65.
♦We regret to announce the death of REV. H.L. HARRIS. The deceased was a native of Cowahl, Poland. In 1858 he was elected Burial Rabbi of Hambro' Synagogue, an offfice he filled until a few years ago when he was obliged to have one of his legs amputated. He acted as Lecturer to the Association for Diffusion of Religious Knowledge. He published several of his religious discourses which he had delivered at houses of mourning in the form of an essay on Immortality of the Soul. He was a keen Talmudist and has left in manuscript (written some years ago) a commentary on Nedarim. He was an occasional contributor to this journal. He was an unostentatiously pious man, and greatly respected. His eldest son is REV. ISIDORE HARRIS, minister of the North London Synagogue. 5.12.1879

On Sabbath last a confirmation service was solemnised at Dublin Synagogue. The confirmant was LIONEL W. HARRIS, son of LEWIS HARRIS, Baggot Street. MR. HARRIS presented the synagogue with a magnificent perpetual lamp and MRS. HARRIS supplied the reading-desk with a rich crimson velvet covering in honour of the occasion. 22.5.1874 (JW)
♦In our last we announced LEWIS HARRIS was elected Alderman for one of the most influential wards of the Irish metropolis. He polled 183 votes against his opponent's 93. When the poll was declared great enthusiasm was displayed, amidst which the new alderman was almost carried to the committee rooms. 4.12.1874
♦Ireland's Hand, a Dublin Newspaper, contained in its last issue a cartoon representing LEWIS HARRIS. In the course of it's letter-press, it has the following observations:- "The citizens of Dublin are fortunate in numbering LEWIS HARRIS among their municipal representatives. He is the first member of the Jewish persuasion who has occupied a seat in the Civic Chamber." 4.12.1874 (JW)
♦Death 1.8.1876 at 1 Royal Marine Terrace, Bray, Dublin to the unutterable grief of his sorrowing wife and children, of the City of Dublin, in his 65th year. Deeply and deservedly regretted by a large circle of friends.
♦The death is announced at Bray of MR. ALDERMAN HARRIS, who had been connected with the Dublin congregation for many years, and was regarded as one of its principal supporters. 4.8.1876 (JW)
♦The remains of ALDERMAN LEWIS HARRIS of the City of Dublin were interred on Friday, 4th July. The Lord Mayor and a large number of Aldermen and Town Councillors of Dublin, members of the medical and legal profession, clergymen of the Irish Church and of Jewish residents of the city, followed to his last restingplace one who has left a void not easily filled. The cortege was no less than 150 carriages. 11.8.1876
♦The Will and two codicils of the late ALDERMAN HARRIS of 19 Suffolk House & 124 Lower Baggot Street in the City of Dublin was proved on 5th instant. The property of the late Alderman was sworn under £160,000 exclusive of freehold estates. The testator bequeathed his plate, furniture, horses and carriages to his wife. He bequeathed £20,000, besides his freehold property at Church Town, to his eldest son, ALFRED W. HARRIS; the residue of his property he devised in trust for his widow for her life, with power to her to make a certain provision for his son HERBERT when he should be called to the bar, and gives power to the Executors if his widow should direct to pay £5,000 to each of his children as they became of age; on decease of his widow, the whole of his estate to be divided between his children by her. He made a bequest to the Jewish Congregation and legacies to friends, to charitable institutions and to his servants. The Will was proved by his widow, JULIETTE HARRIS, ALFRED W. HARRIS, his eldest son, and EDMOND LEAHY, Solicitor, three of the Executors. 29.9.1876
♦On Sabbath previous to his death, the deceased caused to be presented in his name to Dublin Synagogue a Scroll of the Law with appurtenances. 29.9.1876
♦On Saturday a Confirmation service was held in Dublin Synagogue, one of the confirmants being WALTER W. HARRIS, son of the late ALDERMAN L. HARRIS. 26.7.1878 (JW)

Death 22.10.1872 at 60 Oxford Terrace, Hyde Park, widow of the late GEORGE HARRIS, in her 73rd year.

LOUISA SARAH HARRIS
It is our painful duty to announce the sudden death yesterday (Thursday) morning of MISS LOUISA SARAH HARRIS at 9 Queen's Square, Bloomsbury. The deceased lady was wellknown in the community for the active part she took in the welfare and education of the poor. A great deal of the success attending adult evening classes may be attributed to the exertions of the deceased lady, who fittingly succeeded her mother in her onerous duties for the promotion of the social and religious well-being of Jewish young women. 28.2.1879 (JW)
♦THE LATE MISS LOUISA SARAH HARRIS - A correspondent writes: Before the zenith of her active and unselfish life was reached, a short illness has snatched from the world one of the meekest and most useful examples. She silently practised the highest form of charity in a self-denial which excluded all desire of praise. She lived to do good as a spontaneous outlay of a benevolent and unassuming disposition. Her gifts of intellect, her pride and cheerful wit were aprecciated by rich and poor, and she is mourned by members of different creeds. - 7.3.1879

REV. SAMUEL H. HARRIS
At a meeting held on Sunday, MR. S.H. HARRIS, of London, was unanimously elected First Reader, Lecturer & School Master of Newcastle congregation. 9.6.1871
♦On Sunday a testimonial was presented to REV. S.H. HARRIS of Newcastle-on-Tyne for his kindness and labours in assisting at the consecration of West Hartlepool New Synagogue. The presentation took place in the Vestry-room of the synagogue, in which nearly all members of the congregation were present. The testimonial consisted of a silver goblet bearing a suitable inscription. 6.2.1874
♦MR. HENRY HARRIS and daughter (MRS. JOSEPH SAMUELS) and SAMUEL HARRIS beg to return their sincere thanks to members of the Southampton Congregation for the marked respect paid to their beloved wife and mother. - 28 Bugle Street, Southampton, 23 December, 1874 (JW)
♦A deputation representing the New United Congregation of Newcastle-upon-Tyne waited on REV. S.H. HARRIS on Friday last to present him with an illuminated address and a purse of money in celebration of his silver wedding. The presentation was not made the occasion of a public ceremony as MR. HARRIS had recently sustained a severe domestic bereavement. MR. J. DE HART in making the presentation spoke in feeling terms of the good effected by MR. HARRIS since his appointment at Newcastle - not the least being his effort in promoting a federation of the two congregations. 8.1.1875
♦On Sunday a public meeting was held in the Schoolroom, North Shields, having for its object presentation of a testimonial to REV. S.H. HARRIS of Newcastle-on-Tyne. The President, MR. BARCINSKY, after referring in eulogistic terms to services rendered to the congregation by REV. MR. HARRIS, presented him with a beautifully engraved silver salver. A special service was held in the synagogue. After the service, the reverend gentleman was entertained by the President at his residence. 19.5.1876 (JW)
♦REV. S.H. & MRS. HARRIS beg respectfully to return their sincere thanks to the Committee of Jews' Hospital & Orphan Asylum for electing them Headmaster & Matron of that Institution. - 17 East Parade, Newcastle-on-Tyne 15.3.1878
♦At a Special Meeting held on Sunday, March 17th at Synagogue Chambers, Temple Street, Newcastle-on-Tyne, it was resolved "That members of this Congregation hereby accept the resignation of REV. S.H. HARRIS, and while congratulating him upon his improvement in life, they desire to convey to him their sincere feelings of regret at his removal from Newcastle, together with a warm expression of their appreciation of his services whilst with them during the last seven years." 29.3.1878
♦NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE - The REV. S.H. HARRIS left this town on Thursday, 2nd inst. All officers, together with numerous assemblages of his congregation, were in attendance to see him off. On Sunday evening previous members of both congregations met with their Presidents at the Crown Hotel to present MR. HARRIS with a testimonial, which consisted of an illuminated address, and a purse of gold and rings for MRS. HARRIS. 10.5.1878 (JW)
♦On Sunday, on the birthday of REV. S.H. HARRIS, Head Master of Jews' Hospital & Orphan Asylum, boys of that institution presented him with a handsome electro liquorcase. 5.3.1880

Death 7.10.1876 at Queen's Square, WC., relict of the late A.L. HARRIS, formerly of Devonshire Square, City. (JW)
♦Early on Sabbath morning last there passed peacefully away from earthly life MRS. A.L. HARRIS. The deceased lady was widely known in all circles of the community as an active worker in our charitable organisations and any movement for effecting an improvement in the material and social position of the Jewish poor. MRS. HARRIS was daughter of MRS. BARNETT, first Head-Mistress of Jews' Free School, in which position she was succeeded by two of her daughters, MISS PHOEBE & MISS FRANCIS BARNETT, the elder of whom is still actively engaged in charitable work in the midst of our poor. MRS. HARRIS was for many years one of the guiding spirits of the Emigration Society, the Ladies' Loan & Benevolent Institution. Long before a Jewish Sabbath School was established, MRS. HARRIS conducted one at her residence in Devonshire Square. She founded many years ago an evening class for female adults which she superintended as long as her health permitted, and in later years was assisted by her daughters. One of her daughters, MISS EMILY H. HARRIS, will be known to our readers as authoress of "Mercers' Gardens", etc. 13.10.1876
♦THE LATE MRS. A.L. HARRIS - It was many years ago I made the acquaintance of one whose loss we are mourning. She was surrounded by a large family, but in the midst of her home duties, I found her attending to the wants for the poor and needy. To her care was entrusted management of a small private Convalescent Home, which took up all of her time. Seven years ago the illness which caused her death first seized upon her, but though she suffered much, the spirit of contentment never forsook her. Her trust in God was childlike and unquestioning, and at the last the prayer of pious submission which she could no longer utter might be read in hr peaceful smile and glistening eye. AC. 20.10.1876

ADOLPHUS M. HART
The Montreal (Canada) papers announce the death of this distinguished coreligionist in that city on 23rd March at the age of 65. MR. HART was youngest surviving son of EZEKIEL HART of Three Rivers, who in 1808 was elected member of the Legislature for that borough, but whose election was declared void in consequence of his being an Israelite. His constituency re-elected him and he was again refused admission, and a resolution placed on the journals of the House no Jew could hold office under the Government. Twenty years later the clause was by order of the House expunged. MR. HART was for fortyfive years a member of the Bar, the members of which passed resolutions of condolence to his relatives, and the Bar of Montreal were mourning for one month. His history of the "Valley of the Mississippi" is found in all principal libraries of the United States, and his "Life in the Far West" and other serials appreciated much attention. He was engaged in a case before the Court of Appeal and was in the act of opening, when he fell into his chair insensible from an act of paralysis. He was removed to his residence, and lingered for three days before death released him. The funeral at Montreal was marked by attendance of the Chief Justice, and the majority of Jews of higher courts. A large number of Queen's Counsel and members of the Bar followed the remains to the North Shore Railroad, the body being conveyed for internment to Three Rivers, where it was met by a large concourse of citizens, who formed a cortege and escorted it to the family mansion. The next day the funeral took place in the family burial ground. It was attended by a large and respectable class of citizens. MR. HART was cousin and brother-in-law of COL. A. WELLINGTON HART, a gentleman wellknown in Liverpool, and an occasional contributor to the Jewish World. 18.4.1879 (JW)

NUMA EDWARD HARTOG
Death 19.6.1871 at 15 Belsize Square, NW., after a short illness, Fellow of University College, London and Scholar of Trinity College, Cambridge. Aged 25.

♦NUMA EDWARD HARTOG was born in Mansell Street on May 20th, 1846, of intellectual parents. He passed the first BA. in 1863, when he was placed first in honours in Latin and obtained an Exhibition, and gained prizes in examinations for honours in French and German. He obtained a 2nd class in Mathematics Honours. He passed the second BA. examination in the following year; he was placed alone in the 1st class for Mathematics & Natural Philosophy, and alone in the 1st class for Classics. In the examination for the degree of Bachelor of Science, he was placed first in the 1st class for Physiology; in examinations for honours gained scholarships in Classics and Mathematics, and the prize in Physiology.

He entered in October, 1865 at Trinity College, Cambridge, where he had in July gained an entrance scholarship. He obtained a 1st class at the annual College examination in each year, and was elected to a foundation scholarship at the end of his first year. At the end of the course he appeared as Senior Wrangler in January, 1869, and gained the second of the Smith's prizes a few weeks later. He was prevented, by his inability to subscribe the test, from taking the fellowship.

Thus he crowned a successful career by attaining the position of Senior Wrangler - the first Jew who had reached this summit of distinction.

When he gained the BA. degree, he refused to accept the honour if accompanied by the usual form of installation, in which the "Trinity" was invoked. The authorities yielded.

On HARTOG's return to London, he commenced his preparatory studies for the bar. He received an appointment in the Treasury from the Rt. Hon. R. Lowe, Chancellor of the Exchequer. By special arrangement, HARTOG was excused from attendance at office on Sabbaths and Festivals. He resigned this post to pursue his equity studies under Mr. Thring. His fame induced numerous aspirants for honours to engage him as tutor.

HARTOG was an active member and one of the Honorary Secretaries of the Hebrew Literary Society. The BARONESS MAYER DE ROTHSCHILD took special interest in the career of NUMA HARTOG.

He often lectured at the Sabbath School in Langham Place. He lectured at the Working Men's Association. He was elected a member of the Council of Jews' College.

His great national work was involved in the University Tests Act. He indirectly promoted the passing of the Appeal.

HARTOG died on Monday from small pox. His illness was brief - its fatal termination was unexpected. The daily papers refer to this event in terms of sympathy. The funeral took place on Tuesday. It was attended by a deputation of Jews' Free School. 23.6.1871

♦At Titchfield Street Sabbath School on Saturday, Rev. P. Magnus made a touching allusion to the late NUMA HARTOG.

At Bayswater Synagogue, at which NUMA HARTOG was a worshipper, Rev. Dr. H. Adler preached on the text "The day of death is better than the day of one's birth".

At the Central Synagogue, Rev. A.L. Green preached an affecting sermon on the death of HARTOG.

At the North London Synagogue, Rev. M. Joseph preached a pathetic sermon.

At the Borough Synagogue, a beautiful sermon was delivered by Rev. S. Singer.

At Princes' Street Synagogue, on Sabbath last, Rev. B. Spiers alluded to the untimely death of NUMA HARTOG. 30.6.1871

♦We omitted to mention a beautiful sermon was delivered at Berkeley Street Synagogue by Rev. D.W. Marks. 7.7.1871

♦At a meeting of the Board of Deputies, held at the Spanish & Portuguese Synagoge Vestry Chambers, on Thursday evening, 29th June, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:- "That this Board has recorded its sincere and profound sorrow at the death of NUMA EDWARD HARTOG, BA. and its deep sympathy with his parents and family in the unutterable grief they must feel at his loss.

"That this Board desires to pay a becoming tribute to MR. HARTOG's memory to note his rare distinction, his amiability and kindness of heart, his zeal and devotion to the cause of Education and of Progress, and the conspicuous part he took in promoting the success of the University Tests Bill.

"That this Board gratefully acknowledges that MR. HARTOG's intelligent and persistent efforts the friends of religious liberty are largely indebted by the passing of the University Tests Bill; and the Board laments that the sudden termination of his brilliant career deprived him of the enjoyment of those honours which this measure would have enabled him to receive.

"That the Vice-President be requested to transmit a copy of the foregoing resolutions to MR. & MRS. HARTOG."

(signed) J.M. MONTEFIORE, Vice-President - 4 Great Stanhope Street, May Fair, W. - July 6, 1871 (from a resolution)

♦On Sunday the religious ceremony in connection with setting the tombstone to the memory of NUMA EDWARD HARTOG was held at West Ham Cemetery. The Jewish clergy had two representatives.

The memorial is a neat monument about seven feet high. The base is of Portland stone, and the upper portion is of Aberdeen granite. The monument is enclosed with curb and rails. The following is the epitaph upon the monument:

"In memory of NUMA EDWARD HARTOG, BA. (London & Cambridge), fellow of University College, London; Scholar of Trinity College, Cantab., eldest and dearly-loved son of ALPHONSE & MARION HARTOG, born May 20th, 1846, Senior Wrangler, 1869; died June 19, 1871; an ornament to the youth of Israel, good, learned, faithful to the Lord's covenant; so young he had attained to renown and eminence in the great universities of London and Cambridge and for his sake the gates to the honours and rewards of learning are open to his brethren in faith, so that they may enter and partake of them with the other children of Britain. Weep not for the dead who suffers no more, but weep for the breach the Lord has made in the house of the afflicted mourner and amongst the thousands of Israel, for the sun set while it was yet day, and his parents are desolate because they have lost their comforter. May the merciful God have mercy on them and sooth their grief. 'Rare among men, unique among his own, he walked with God, and was not, for God took him.' - Gen.v.24." 12.7.1872

I helped in that Report, and when it left this place mention was made of services which DAVID HATCHWELL of Gibraltar, and lately of Manchester, has lent to our community. MR. HATCHWELL not only helped to elevate the Jews of Gibraltar to the rights of citizens on a position of equality, but established the Gibraltar branch of the Anglo-Jewish Association. The Jewish community desire to prove the people of Gibraltar have not forgotten a gentleman whose services towards the delivery of Gibraltar Jews from oppression, entitle him to their gratitude. Yours obediently, M.A. SERFETT - Gibraltar, October 25, 1878
♦The month of mourning for D. HATCHWELL will expire 15th December, 1878 when his Tombstone will be set at the Spanish & Portuguese Burial Ground, Mile End.

To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, The Times of July 25th contains an obituary of SIR FRANCIS HEAD, formerly Lieutenant Governor of Upper Canada. Can any of your readers give some information on this man? Yours obediently, Historious 30.7.1875
♦To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Your correspondent "Historious" calls attention to the Jewish descent of the late SIR FRANCIS HEAD, KCH. "Historious" has probably not long been a reader of your journal. Otherwise he would have seen an account of the brothers MENDEZ or MENDES, who were founders of the well-known family of MENDEZ DA COSTA. The eldest brother, ANTONIO MENDEZ, was physician to Queen Catherine of Braganza, and accompanied her to this country. He was followed by his brother ANDREA, who was appointed Chamberlain to Her Majesty, and at their invitation FERNANDO, the youngest of the family, settled in England. Yours obediently, the writer of "Sketches of Anglo-Jewish History" 6.8.1875
♦To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, In continuation of my last letter, I will proceed to trace the pedigree of the late SIR FRANCIS BOND HEAD. MOSES MENDEZ, son of FERANDO MENDEZ, married ANNA GABRIELLA, second daughter and co-heir of REV. SIR FRANCIS HEAD, 4th Baronet of Hermitage, Kent. The younger son of MOSES MENDEZ, adopted the surname of HEAD. He wedded the only daughter of JAMES, 10th LORD SOMERVILLE and became father of SIR FRANCIS BOND HEAD. EMMA HENRY
Death 30.12.1870 at 6 Argyle Square, King's Cross, WC., aged 82, deeply regretted by a large circle of friends.
♦THE LATE MRS. ABRAHAM HENRY - The lady was daughter of the late REV. SOLOMON LYON, Hebrew Professor of Cambridge, and widow of the late ABRAHAM HENRY of London & Ramsgate. She was born 17th September, 1788 and died on Friday last. Enjoying in early life advantages of a high education and the society of learned men connected with the University, when her father's failing sight threatened the family with poverty, she devoted her talents to their support. Soon after publication of a volume of her poems, she married. Her devotion to her husband's many years of declining health was equal to the exemplary conduct which she had preceeded towards her parents; when her husband's death left her with the cares and responsibility of a large family, she discharged the duties of her position wisely. Her death was caused by natural decline of vital power, and she died without suffering from exhaustion, surrounded by the majority of her children. Her funeral was attended by a large circle of friends and by a number of pupils of Stepney School - an institution watched over by one of her sons. At the first meeting of the Auxiliary Committee for promoting lectures to Jewish working men, a working man proposed and another working man seconded a vote of confidence to their colleague, MR. M. HENRY, and his brothers and sisters, on the decease of their mother, couched in pathetic language. 6.1.1871

REV. HENRY A. HENRY
The REV. H.A. HENRY, formerly of London, lies in an enfeebled condition in San Francisco. 20.2.1874
♦On 4th September REV. HENRY A. HENRY died at San Francisco. The deceased was born in London about 1800, and was for some years Head-Master of Jews' Free School, where he was educated. He was a ripe Hebrew scholar. He edited the Hebrew Sabbath & Daily Prayer Book, which enjoys a reputation for its completeness and careful compilation. He was author of "Henry's Class Book", which gives explanations of Jewish observances, festivals and fasts. From 1844 to 1849 he acted as minister of the Western Synagogue, and occasionally delivered sermons in English. In 1839 he went to the United States, where he acted as minister of several congregations and in 1857 he was elected minister of Shearith Israel Congregation of San Francisco, a position which he filled until about eight years ago when he retired on a pension of his full salary. The funeral was solemnised on 7th ult. 3.10.1879

Secretary of the Ladies' Committees of both institutions. After tea, cake, watercress, etc., the children adjourned to the upper room, and enjoyed songs, recitations, and pieces of music and a farce prepared by pupils of Stepney Schools. After the National anthem had been sung and further refreshments provided the children dispersed. 8.11.1872
♦MR. MICHAEL HENRY of Highbury New Park, one of the oldest members of Hambro' Synagogue, was, with his wife and daughters, preserved from death and injury in the accident that occurred on the City Western Railway at Guildford last Tuesday. The carriage next to his was crushed to fragments and the occupants were greatly injured. An account of the accident by "A Lady Passenger" appears in the Times of Thursday. 12.9.1873
♦Death 9.7.1878 at Upper Sydenham, of Effingham House, 72 Highbury New Park, aged 85. Beloved and respected by all who knew him. - Jamaican & New York papers please copy.
♦On Tuesday there passed away in MICHAEL HENRY a gentle and upright spirit. MR. HENRY bore a name - that of his nephew, once editor of this journal - which is held in grateful memory by English-speaking Jews; although he never took an active part in communal life, he was a liberal contributor to Jewish charitable institutions, and ever ready to respond generously to claims of private distress. He was in no sense a public man, but the high integrity which marked his business life won for him a respect that was general and sincere. But not only to his probity as a merchant, but also to the justice and truthfulness that distinguished him in his private relations, he owed the affection with which he was regarded. All who knew him became his friends. His end was peaceful as his life was. - J. 12.7.1878

STEPNEY JEWISH SCHOOLS - MR. MICHAEL HENRY thanked the meeting for their kindness in re-electing him as Honorary Secretary, but he felt it his duty to resign. His professional work prevented him from accomplishing satisfactorily the increased secretarial work of the school. The Chairman had no hestitation in saying his retiring would be calamitous to the institution. 19.3.1875 (JW)
♦The whole community will learn with sorrow of the demise of MICHAEL HENRY who for some years, and up to the time of his death, edited our contemporary, the Jewish Chronicle. On Tuesday evening, while at his office in Fleet Street, his attire accidentally became ignited by fire, and although every effort was exerted to stay progress of the flames, it was found he had sustained fearful injuries. He was removed to his private residence in Argyll Square where, after lingering about 24 hours, he succumbed to his agonies on Wednesday evening. 18.6.1875 (JW)
♦MICHAEL HENRY was but in his 46th year, being born on February 19, 1830 at Eltham House, Kennington. He was youngest son of ABRAHAM HENRY of Ramsgate, and afterwards of London. At an early age he exhibited unmistakable signs of talent, for at the City of London School he gained distinctions. He imbibed his taste for literature from his mother EMMA, a daughter of REV. S. LYON of Cambridge, whose volume of poems published in 1812 was the first printed work of an English lady of the Jewish community. Whilst young MR. HENRY was appointed sub-editor of Mechanics' Magazine, the first cheap scientific journal. MR. HENRY's contribution to the Mining Journal and other periodicals of a similar nature gained him celebration in scientific journals. He edited the Inventors' Almanack, which appeared for a number of years, and wrote an elaborate defence of the Patent Law. He was author of a letter on "Registration of Trade Marks" which appeared in the Journal of the Society of Arts, and which led to the Government taking action. In 1869, MR. HENRY was appointed Editor of the Jewish Chronicle, a post he held up to the time of his death. It was MICHAEL HENRY who originated the foundation of the United Synagogue, the desirability of the establishment of which he set forth in an able pamphlet. The Jews' College is another institution in which MR. HENRY took a profound interest. The General Benevolent Society was almost wholly launched by him. The Hebrew Literature Society was another of his pet ideas, and we believe he first broached the idea of this. 25.6.1875 (JW)
♦He was never married, but he had taken under his protection a sister and her three children. His funeral, which took place on Monday, was attended by all members of his family, and the procession which followed the hearse from the house consisted of nearly 100 gentlemen, among whom were both Chief Rabbis, almost all the Jewish clergy, and representatives of almost every grade and class of society and of every public Jewish institution. At the cemetery at Willesden a large concourse of people were assembled. Boys from Jews' Hospital, Deaf & Dumb Home, Gates of Hope School and Stepney Jewish Schools attended the funeral; twelve of the latter carried the bier to the grave and were greatly affected. What deepened more the solemnity was that one of the deaf mute boys said kaddish. On Sabbath last at several of the metropolitan synagogues the reverend preachers alluded to the death of MR. HENRY. 25.6.1875
♦We omitted to mention in our last impression a deputation from the Anglo-Jewish Association officially attended the funeral of MICHAEL HENRY. The Jews' College Journal for June appears with a black border and has an article on the death of MICHAEL HENRY. Among journals which refer to the death of MICHAEL HENRY is the Norwich Argus, which reproduces our leading article on the deceased gentleman of 18th ult.
At a meeting of the Committee for Providing Free Lectures to Jewish Working Men and their Families, it was unanimously resolved: that this committee deeply deplores the irreparable loss the community has sustained in the lamented demise of MICHAEL HENRY, who was one of the originators of the movement, and to the success of which he so largely contributed. A further resolution was passed expressive of the sympathy of the committee with the relatives of the deceased. At a special meeting of the Committee of the General Benevolent Association, held on 28th ult., a resolution was passed recording the sense of loss sustained by the death of its founder and Honorary Secretary. The Lancet, under the heading of "Death from Shock", comments on the death of MR. HENRY. 2.7.1875
♦At a meeting of the Council of Jews' College held on Sunday, of which body MICHAEL HENRY was a zealous member, resolutions were passed expressing regret of the Council at the death of that gentleman. MR. ALEXANDER WEILL, in the July number of the Archives Israelites, gives a brief biographical sketch of the deceased. Several of the Berlin daily papers and Australian Jewish journals have published biographical notices of the late MR. HENRY. 9.7.1875
♦The members of Sheffield Hebrew Congregation held a meeting on Sunday, at which resolutions were passed expressing sorrow at the death of MICHAEL HENRY (who was formerly representative of the congregation at the Board of Deputies) and condolence with the family. All our continental and American Jewish contemporaries contain biographical notices of MICHAEL HENRY. The Jewish Record of Philadelphia, Jewish Messenger and Hebrew Leader of New York insert announcements of his death between black borders. 16.7.1875
♦The American Israelite contains sympathetic

remarks on the death of MICHAEL HENRY, and reproduced our article on "The Women of Israel", the last written by MR. HENRY. 6.8.1875
♦The Jewish Messenger says: "The fund in memory of MICHAEL HENRY, has reached the sum of 14,000$." 17.12.1875
♦On Sunday Stepney School was the theatre of what will probably be the last public tribute that will be paid to the memory of the MICHAEL HENRY. The unveiling of the memorial tablet, and the presentation of foundation scholarships to the Committee took place without any particular circumstance. 7.1.1876
♦On Sunday the religious ceremony in connection with the erection of a tombstone over the grave of MICHAEL HENRY was performed at Willesden Cemetery. The tombstone is a large granite obelisk, the front panel being polished, and which is inscribed the following inscription: "MICHAEL HENRY. (Editor of the Jewish Chronicle.) Born 17th February, 1830. Died 14th June, 1874. Aged 45. And is he dead whose glorious mind loves those on high, to live in hearts we leave behind, is not to die." 12.5.1876
♦One of the most interesting Jewish gatherings that have been held this year assembled last Sunday at Jews' Infant Schools, Commercial Street, to witness presentation of 400 guineas by MISS HANNAH DE ROTHSCHILD, on behalf of the Jewish Scholars of England, to the official representative of the Royal National Life Boat Institution, to purchase a Life Boat to be called "The Michael Henry". 19.5.1876
♦The stirring lines of "The Life Boat", written by the late MICHAEL HENRY as Stepney School Ode, are reprinted in the August number of the Journal of the National Life Boat Institution. 31.8.1877

RE HENRY
A short story by MISS RE HENRY appears in last week's number of "Young Folks' Weekly Budget". 16.11.1877
♦Mr. M. Clarke gave successful readings at Crystal Palace on Monday. Mr. Clarke's greatest success was achieved in his reading of "The Convict's Escape", the poem written for him by MISS RE HENRY. The piece seemed to produce a profound impression upon the audience. 24.5.1878

RICHARD HENRY
STEPNEY JEWISH SCHOOLS - An entertainment was given on Saturday evening to children attending these schools and their friends. The proceedings included recitations, songs and recitals with pianofore and violin. Among those who endeavoured to amuse the children were the masters and several of the old pupils. At close of the entertainment a supper was provided at the expense of RICHARD HENRY. 7.5.1880

RICHARD L. HENRY
On 6th inst. RICHARD L. HENRY of Hatton Garden was entertained by his Glasgow friends at a Dinner held at the George Hotel, Glasgow and was presented with his portrait and an album containing photographs of donors as a souvenir of his 58th birthday. MR. HENRY's health was drunk with enthusiasm. We may mention MR. R.L. HENRY is elder brother of MICHAEL HENRY, and we are informed this is the first occasion a Jew has been feted in Scotland. 16.11.1877

Death 27.8.1871 at 16 St. Mark's Street, Goodman's Fields, from the effect of a tramway accident, BARNET LEVIN, aged 7½ years, second son of MR. & MRS. A.D. HERMANN. May his soul rest in peace. (JR)
♦MR. & MRS. A.D. HERMANN thanks for condolences for their dearly beloved son, BARNETT LEVINE HERMANN, who was killed by being knocked down by a tramway car on Sunday, 27th ult. - 16 St. Mark's Street, Goodman's Fields 8.9.1871
♦On Sunday, 27th ult., a sad accident occurred in Whitechapel Road. A boy named BARNETT L. HERMANN, while crossing the road, was knocked down by a tramway-car and instantaneously killed. The deceased was a promising little boy. He attended Synagogue regularly, and was exceptionally intelligent for his age. An inquest was held on the Monday, when a verdict of "accidental death" was returned. 8.9.1871

MR. HERMOND
The Scotsman contains the following paragraph. "A few weeks ago, a Jew named HERMOND, with another man, was sentenced to 60 days imprisonment for fraud in connection with the sale of cigars. They are undergoing their term of imprisonment, and as this will last over Passover, during which Jews eat nothing but unleavened bread, an application has been made on behalf of HERMOND to have him supplied during that period with such bread, instead of prison fare. The minister of the Jewish congregation in Edinburgh, who, along with HERMOND's wife, is doing all, applied to Mr. Smith, Governor of the Prison, to have unleavened bread furnished to the prisoner, but Mr. Smith is understood to have indicated prison rules must be adhered to. MRS. HERMOND yesterday applied to a Sheriff for permission, but he could not interfere. HERMOND's friends are under some concern, as the prisoner declares he will starve himself during the Passover period rather than eat prison fare." 12.4.1872

♦Everyone who mingles in Jewish community work must have known BARNET HIME, the man celebrated as being the oldest individual in the London Jewish community. He was the nineteenth child of his mother, who was the first person buried in the old Cemetery of the Great Synagogue in North Street, Mile End, upwards of 80 years ago. He was educated in Torah School, and he served as a volunteer in the early part of this century under the banner of King George III when Napoleon the Great threatened our shores. He had a remarkable memory. His anecdotes of bygone days were very amusing. He attended synagogue (usually Bevis Marks) till the last festivals. He lived to see grandchildren of his great-grandchildren - the fifth generation. He was cheerful and independent in spirit till the last days of his life. A man (a member of the BEDDINGTON family) called on him recently to offer him money. The old man refused, but asked the wouldbe donor for a copy of Shakespeare, which he at once received. 15.1.1875

PROFESSOR LUDOVIC HIRSCHFELD
A correspondent at Hamburg writes: There died at Warsaw, on 10th inst., PROF. L. HIRSCHFELD, MD. A self-made man, born in 1814, his fame has spread all over the world by means of his writings in various languages, especially his work on the nervous system. My object is to send you copy of a description of his funeral (which took place on 12th inst. at Warsaw) by an eye-witness, as follows: "On arriving at the house of mourning we found it filled with visitors from far and near; the body of PROF. HIRSCHFELD lying in state, emblamed, on a raised dais; the apartment which was draped in black being relieved by shrubs and flowers and large Roman candles; his students standing round his bier, having deposited a laurel crown at his feet, beyond which three cushions supported his decorations. His remains were carried to their resting-place by his students, eight of them at a time, relieved at intervals by others. It is computed 10,000 people followed the coffin and about 300 carriages, the cortege including the Consuls and the Prefect of Police (cousin of the Emperor of Russia). The streets were lined by community police and gendarmes, the procession passing through town. When it had reached the cemetery, the professors undertook carrying the coffin to the spot of internment; here a sublime coral was chanted and four discourses were delivered." PROF. HIRSCHFELD was son-in-law of the late MR. S.M. MAWSON of Berner Street, Oxford Street, London, whose daughter, ESTHER, he had married; she with her son GEORGE mourn their loss. 26.5.1876

A. HOFFNUNG
A testimonial was presented to MR. A. HOFFNUNG, President of Liverpool Hebrew Bazaar, by stewards at the School-house on Sunday. It consisted of a massive silver inkstand. MR. BARON BENAS, Chairman, addressed MR. HOFFNUNG, referring to his services to the community in the colonies and at Liverpool. We hear MR. HOFFNUNG has presented a souvenir to every steward. 6.3.1874
♦MR. A. HOFFNUNG is member of the Council of the Liverpool Triennial Music Festival to be held in that town in September. 19.6.1874
♦On Sunday an interesting ceremony took place at the Congregational School at Liverpool. The Old Hebrew Congregation had decided to press a testimonial to MR. HOFFNUNG, retiring President, to testify their appreciation of his services during the past four years, especially in reference to the erection of their new synagogue building. MR. HOFFNUNG, having declined to receive a personal testimony, begged the amount raised for the purpose should be devoted to erection of an infant school in connection with existing Jewish schools. MR. AUGUSTUS S. LEVY, President elect of the Congregation, presented in the name of the donor an illuminated address. 28.5.1875
♦A vote of thanks was carried by acclamation to MR. A. HOFFNUNG (who has removed to London) for his zealous and valuable service in the Anglo-Jewish Association during the many years he acted as a member of the committee of the Liverpool branch. The resolution was ordered to be forwarded to him. 1.6.1877 (JW)
♦Two separate presentations were made this week to MR. A. HOFFUNG, a member of the Board of Deputies for Liverpool Old Hebrew Congregation; one consisted of two full-length oil paintings of MR. & MRS. HOFFNUNG, subscribed for by 162 members of the Liverpool Jewish community of both congregations, and tendered by donors as a souvenir of his long and useful leadership of the congregation in Princes Road. The other was an album containing portraits of all the children receiving instruction in the Jewish Infant School. This was subscribed for and presented by the Jewish working men of Liverpool. It will be remembered a sum of about £400 was collected three years ago for the purpose of purchasing a testimonial to MR. A. HOFFNUNG. MR. HOFFNUNG handed the amount over to the Hebrew Educational Institution to erect an infant school. He presented the school with a prize fund entitled "The Esther Hoffnung Prize", producing £2.10s. annually to be given to the best infant pupil. The album bears a beautifully executed monogram of the recipients in silver, and a shield containing the following inscription:- "To MR. & MRS. A. HOFFNUNG. This token of gratitude is tendered to them by the Jewish Working Men of Liverpool, and more especially by the Parents of those whose children now attending the Infant Schools, which were erected and generously presented by A. HOFFNUNG to the Jewish Community. 'He hath delivered the needy when he crieth, the poor also, and him that hath no helper.'" 13.9.1878 (JW)

MRS. HYAMS
An accident of an unusual character befell a lady named HYAMS on Friday last. While passing through Duke's Place, Aldgate, she stumbled over the pavement close to the Great Synagogue and found herself precipitated beneath a stone, and fell into an unused well, existence of which was unknown. The depth of the well was over 20 feet and breadth 8 or 9 feet. An immediate alarm attracted persons in the neighbourhood and LEWIS ISAACS soon procured a ladder, and with the aid of one workman the lady was rescued. Happily, she was not much hurt, but her frame has sustained a severe shock. The byestanders made up a handsome sum for the man who had descended the ladder and had been instrumental in saving the sufferer. 26.9.1873 (JW)
♦THE ACCIDENT IN DUKE'S PLACE - We regret to learn the lady to whom this happened (MRS. HYAMS of Mitre Street) has suffered severely. We are informed besides shock to the system and extensive bruises and lacerations, she has sustained internal injuries, the results of which, it is feared, may be serious. DR. DYTE, of Bury Street, has been in constant attendance upon her, and the services of Dr. Palfrey of the London Hospital have been called into requisition. At the moment of going to press, we are glad to hear MRS. HYAMS, though unable to leave her bed, is progressing as favourably as can be expected. 3.10.1873 (JW)
♦At the last meeting of the Commissioners of Sewers to the Corporation of London, a petition was presented from MR. HYAMS of Mitre Street, Aldgate, asking for a sum of money as compensation for loss and expense consequent on serious injuries incurred by his wife falling into a disused well or pit in the said street, in which she was walking, from the ground and pavement giving way. In reply to a question, the petitioner stated this was a well which had not been used for some time. Wood had been placed on top of the well which had become so rotten it had given way. On suggestion of the Chairman, the matter was referred to the Streets Committee. 14.11.1873 (JW)

♦Death 27.12.1873 at Colwick Hall, near Nottingham, FREDERICK HART, eldest son of SAUL ISAAC, in the 17th year of his age.
♦The local journals report a sad bereavement has befallen SAUL ISAAC of Colwick Hall, Nottingham. MR. ISAAC had two sons, who were home from school for the Christmas holidays. Last Friday a shooting party was made up for a day's sport on the Tollerton estate, recently purchased by MR. ISAAC. FREDERICK HART, his eldest son, was one of the party, and joined in the day's sport with as much zest as his companions. But later in the evening he became alarmingly ill, and a message was despatched for medical assistance to Nottingham. The patient rapidly grew worse, and died about 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. It is stated the young gentleman was suffering from a serious internal malady some time ago. It is supposed the physical exertion while out with the shooting party brought on another attack. 2.1.1874 (JW)
♦NOTTINGHAM - The funeral of MR. F.H. ISAAC, son of SAUL ISAAC of Colwick Hall, took place on Wednesday week. Most of the Jewish families in Nottingham were represented at the funeral, and amongst those inhabitants present were several members of the Corporation. 9.1.1874 (JW)
♦The workmen employed at Clifton Colliery, Nottingham, the property of SAUL ISAACS, held their annual dinner on Saturday. A letter was read from him acknowledging with thanks expressions of condolences which had been conveyed to him in an address from employees of the colliery. 23.1.1874 (JW)

♦MR. SAUL ISAAC, newly-elected member for Nottingham, is the first Jew posessing conservative principles who has been elected a member of the House of Commons. 6.2.1874
♦MR. SAUL ISAAC, MP. took part in a deputation from the Birmingham Scriptural Union, which waited upon the Duke of Richmond, Lord President of the Council, on Saturday, to point out defects in the operation of the Education Act, 1870. MR. ISAAC addressed the Minister. 3.7.1874
♦MR. SAUL ISAAC, MP. has been elected a member of the Clockmakers' Company. 17.7.1874
♦The Lord Chancellor has appointed SAUL ISAAC, MP. one of the magistrates of the town of Nottingham. 9.11.1877
♦At a special meeting of Nottingham Hebrew Congregation, held on Sunday, it was resolved a letter of condolence be forwarded to SAUL ISAAC, MP. "on the loss sustained by him on the demise of his respected father". 27.6.1879 (JW)
♦The member for Nottingham was the first Jew returned to Parliament in the Conservative interest. He is son of LEWIS ISAAC, of Poole, Dorset by CATHERINE, daughter of M. SOLOMON of Margate. He was born 14th September, 1823, and married in 1854 MIRIAM - who died in 1865 - a daughter of STEPHEN HART of Gloucester Place, Hyde Park. 19.3.1880 (JW)

♦A committee has been appointed to raise a fund of between £3,500 & £4,000 towards support and maintenance of the widow and daughters of REV. PROF. ISAACS. Although the deceased had been in recipt of a liberal stipend, his charitable disposition and calls made upon him by his position, prevented him from making provision for his family. But his memory is so highly respected by all classes to whom his teaching was universally addressed, the Committee feels justified in appealing to members of all congregations inclined to give proof of their sympathy for true worth and genuine piety. 1.8.1879
♦To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, Conscious of the deep appreciation you have ever evinced for the talents and worth of the late distinguished DR. ISAACS, I feel satisfied you will not hestitate in according me a short space in your journal. Being on a visit to Cottonopolis, and feeling poignantly the departure of my old friend, my attention and sympathy were directed to the future of the widow and five daughters of PROF. ISAACS. Led by this feeling and prompted by interest in their welfare, I inquired what the Great Synagogue of Manchester were going to do in the matter of a provision for the leading members of his family, when, to my horror, I learnt this congregation had voted the magnificent sum of £63 per annum for the widow and five daughters. I believe the Great Synagogue of Manchester thinks this sufficent, because of prospects of the projected National Memorial Fund, but whether this plea will serve before the bar of public opinion remains a mystery with, yours obediently, a Woman of Israel. REV. PROF. DAVID MYER ISAACS
To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, In common with numerous former members of PROFESSOR ISAACS' congregation, I notice with pleasure a movement is on foot with the object of presenting him with a testimonial on completion of the thirtieth year of his ministry. An appeal will, I am sure, receive an immediate and hearty response from MR. ISAACS' Lancashire friends. There are, however, many more among your readers who would be glad to participate in the movement. Yours obediently, A.G. 5.7.1872
♦To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, It will be satisfactory to your correspondent to learn the intention to present REV. PROF. ISAACS with a testimonial on completion of the fortieth year of his ministry was un fait accompli before insertion of the first paragraph on this subject. An address, elegantly engrossed and framed was presented to the reverend gentleman, accompanied by a substantial token of the subscribers' application of his worth. This movement was neither loud nor general - it emanated from a small number of the eloquent preacher's admirers. So there is ample scope left for a response to the appeal of your correspondent in last week's Chronicle. Yours obediently, ISAAC A. FRANKLIN Manchester, 6 July, 1872

♦We regret to announce REV. PROF. D.M. ISAACS, Minister of Manchester Congregation, died yesterday (Thursday) afternoon at an advanced age. 2.5.1879
♦As stated in our issue of last week, the Manchester community has sustained a severe and almost irreparable loss in the demise of REV. PROF. DAVID MYER ISAACS, who died at Southport on Thursday, 1st inst. For some time past the reverend gentleman has suffered from illness, primary cause of which was a cold he had caught while officiating at the funeral of ALFRED FALK, a quondam pupil and son of a friend. MR. ISAACS was 71 years of age, and during the whole of an arduous career had been blessed in possession of a robust and healthy constitution. About two months ago, he was compelled for the first time to forego his duties in the pulpit by advice of his medical attendants, and he proceeded to Southport, in the hope of regaining health and renewed vigour. He was a native of Leenwarden, Holland. His parents came as immigrants to this country in his youth. His father - better known in his generation as "RABBI MYER, the schoolmaster" - had been engaged in financial pursuits in Holland, and was ruined during the wars of the first Napoleon. Almost penniless on his arrival in London, he turned to teaching, and kept a small private school in Gravel Lane, Houndsditch. He had three sons, LEWIS, SAMUEL & DAVID, and several daughters. The eldest, LEWIS, was occupied in commercial pursuits and died in London in 1869, universally respected. The second, SAMUEL, was educated for the Ministry.

REV. PROF. DAVID MYER ISAACS continued
He became Head Master of Jews' Hospital at Mile End, and for a lengthened period, Minister of the Thirtyfourth Street Synagogue, New York, and founder and editor of the Jewish Messenger in that city, where he died in May. The youngest, DAVID, early evinced a decided talent for pulpit oratory, and he was educated for the Ministry in the house of the late respected Chief Rabbi, DR. SOLOMON HERSCHELL, with whom he was a favourite, and to whom he acted as Secretary. His earliest pastoral charge was in Bristol. After a few years he removed to Liverpool, where he remained as Minister for many years. On the death of King William IV, in 1837, he delivered a funeral sermon, which was universally admired. It was published at the request of his congregation. When SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE returned to this country from his commission to Damascus, REV. PROF. ISAACS was selected to deliver a sermon of welcome and gratitude in the Great Syagogue, St. James's Place, Aldgate. For some time during a later period of his life MR. ISAACS acted in dual capacity as minister of Liverpool New Hebrew Congregation and Manchester Hebrew Congregation. He was soon induced to devote himself entirely to the work of the latter, and about 1859 took up his permanent residence in Manchester. Of a graceful and venerable presence, possessing genial humour and sparkling wit, he was, besides an able and outspoken preacher, always earnest and sincere in his pulpit and performance utterances. Though not English born, his delivery was forcible and clear, without the slightest trace of foreign accent, and as an orator he was facile princeps amongst Anglo-Jewish preachers. He did excellent work in promoting education of the young. When in 1838, the first nucleus of a Jewish school was formed in Hanover Street, Manchester, he came over from Liverpool and aided materially by his active efforts, in conjection with DR. I.A. FRANKLIN, for assuring its success. He was a professor of Hebrew at Queen's College, Liverpool, and was an author of repute. He was editor and publisher of a Jewish periodical at Liverpool called "The Cup of Salvation". This paper was not adequately supported and became a financial failure. He will long be remembered as Nestor of the Anglo-Jewish pulpit, being the first Minister who in this country promulgated the tenets and doctrines of our faith in the English language. 9.5.1879 (JW)

♦The funeral took place on Sunday at the Jewish Cemetery, Prestwich. The funeral arrangements, which were made by a sub-committee appointed by the General Committee of the Congregation, partook largely of a public character. The leading members of the four Jewish congregations in Manchester assembled at half-past two o'clock in the school-room below the Synagogue, York Street, Cheetham, and proceeded in 30 mourning coaches and more than double that number of cabs and private carriages to the late residence of the deceased in Brunswick Street. The funeral cortege then proceeded to the place of internment. The departure of the procession was witnessed by a large crowd of persons, many hundreds of whom accompanied the cortege to the cemetery. There were present representatives of Jewish communities in London, Birmingham, Liverpool, and other towns. The Jewish Board of Guardians, Manchester Jews School and other Jewish bodies were offically represented. The Manchester Great Synagogue was draped in black. 9.5.1879

♦On Sunday a special service was held in the Great Synagogue, York Street, Cheetham, Manchester in memory of REV. PROF. D.M. ISAACS. The pulpit, reader's desk, ark and candelabra were draped in black. 23.5.1879

♦The President & Executive Committee of Manchester Hebrew Congregation return their sincere thanks for the numerous letters of sympathy and condolence received by them on the demise of their beloved pastor, REV. PROF. D.M. ISAACS. 13.6.1879 (JW)

♦We regret to learn PROF. DAVID MYER ISAACS of Manchester has left his wife and family unprovided for. 27.6.1879 (JW)

♦On Sunday Rabbi E. Tummin held a Memorial Service before a large congregation in the "Uebrah Torah" of Manchester in memory of PROF. ISAACS and RABBI MALBIM of Konigsberg. 7.11.1879

♦To the Editor of the Jewish World - Sir, The followers at the funeral of the late PROF. ISAACS were to be counted in thousands, and your columns teemed with the account of universal respect in which he was held and the regret with which he was mourned. The memorial service which followed was attended by a crowded and a sympathetic congregation, and by delegates of every congregation in Manchester, Liverpool and adjacent towns, three ministers reading the services, and three ministers preaching. An expensive stone in his memory is to be set, and a minister from London is to conduct the ceremony. From these facts you may infer a due provision for the widow and children of the deceased pastor was first consideration. He was in receipt of a stipend of £400 per annum. An appeal was at once issued on behalf of his widow and children, four of whom are dependent upon the mother for support. The appeal has fallen almost stillborn, and she is reduced to the necessity of making a subsistence upon a munificent allowance of 24 shillings per week granted to her by a grateful congregation. Yours obediently, Principia Non Homines. Manchester, March 21, 1880 (JW)

♦The memorial stone which has been placed over the grave of REV. PROF. D.M. ISAACS was "set" at Prestwich Cemetery of Manchester Hebrew Congregation on Sunday. Among those present were representatives of the four Manchester congregations and all other Jewish institutions in the city, as well as of the Liverpool Congregation. The stone bears the following inscription:- "To the memory of REV. PROF. DAVID MYER ISAACS, the beloved minister of the Great Synagogue, Manchester, departed this life on 1st May 5639 AM., aged 69 years. For a period of forty years he preached the word of God with soul-stirring eloquence and fervent piety." 9.4.1880

ELLEN ISAACS
To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, Feeling satisfied any member of the late PROF. ISAAC's family may count upon your interest and sympathy, I venture to address you, as the oldest of his daughters. It does strike me as strange, after constant appeals through the press, and promises of aid from all directions, 18 months should have been allowed to elapse without any positive issue, any real or substantial relief. A sad picture of Jewish appreciation of fifty years of grand, faithful and self-sacrificing labour. I have just returned from New Brighton, where I had hoped to establish a school for young ladies, but here again was the support of my coreligionists wanting, and for my enterprise, after two years of devoted application, lost through lack of slight assistance. I know I need not add one word more, assured a call of this kind will not go unheeded. Thanking you in anticipation of space afforded me, I am Yours Obediently, ELLEN ISAACS - Manchester, September 19, 1880

On Sunday a meeting of members of the Jewish Mutual Confined Mourning Fund was held at the "Bell" Tavern, Middlesex Street, for the purpose of presenting a testimonial to the treasurer, SAMUEL ISAACS. The Society was founded in 1862 to provide a fund for members in the week of mourning. MR. S.A. GREEN made the presentation. He pointed out the necessity of the society, and how much it had increased in usefulness. This progress he attributed in a large measure to the indefatigable exertions of MR. ISAACS. The testimonial consists of a beautifully engrossed address enclosed in an elegant gilt frame. 6.9.1872

REV. SAMUEL M. ISAACS
We regret to announce the death, on 19th ult., of REV. SAMUEL M. ISAACS, Minister of the Fortyfourth Street Synagogue, New York, Senior Editor of the Jewish Messenger and one of the most prominent and zealous members of the American Jewish community. He was recognised as one of the leading representatives of Orthodox Judaism in America.
MR. ISAACS was born in Leewarden, Holland. His father was a banker in that city, but, losing all his property during the French war, he immigrated to England. One of his sons received a call to the congregation at Sydney, where he died about eight years ago. Another is REV. PROF. D.M. ISAACS, minister of the Great Synagogue, Manchester. When a young man, the deceased was engaged as Head Master of Jews' Hospital. In 1839 he was elected minister of the congregation "B'nai Jeshurun", New York. He was one of the founders of the American Board of Delegates and of Mount Sinai Hospital, and he was the oldest Jewish minister in the States. In January, 1877, owing to increasing physical infirmities, he retired from active duties with a pension of 3,000$ per annum. The funeral took place on 22nd ult. and was attended by representatives of all Jewish institutions in New York, and many attended from outside parts. All the American journals refer to the marked influence which the decease exercised on Jewish affairs in America, and bear testimony to his unswerving fidelity to orthodox principles of Judaism. 7.6.1878

DAVID ISRAEL
To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, Through your columns I wish to call attention of the Jewish public to the manner in which an officer of the Shechita Board does his duty. Last week you were made aware of new regulations in connection with this body. I had up to Sunday in my shop two goslings and one duck, which having been killed over the specified three days, were put apart in paper to send to some of my Christian customers. On Sunday morning MR. HARRIS (Secretary to the Shechita Board) called for money for killing, and was seen to notice the birds, but said nothing about them, but instead he chose to wait until my shop was closed and all my people had left, and, notwithstanding his having been told no-one in connection with me was in (I having left for my private residence), obtained an entrance to and searched my premises, putting seals on the goslings, etc. spoken of. Next morning a shochet was placed outside my door, and I received a notice to appear before the Beth Din, which I did, at great inconvenience to myself and hindrance to my business; it is true the affair was dismissed, and almost laughed at for its absurdity, but was that any consolation to me for having a man posted at my door all day and having an insult such as that passed on me, a tradesman who has been in business for over forty years. Trusting to your sense of justice to insert this, I am, Sir, yours obediently, DAVID ISRAEL - 122 Middlesex Street, Whitechapel, March 19, 1879
♦To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, I have no wish to occupy your space with my statement, but as I am charged with exceeding my duty, I am compelled to ask your indulgence. From returns of Shochetim during the previous week, no goslings or ducks had been killed by them for MR. ISRAEL since Friday, 7th. On Sunday, 16 March, I saw two goslings and a duck at MR. ISRAEL's shop, lying on the shelf near the door, evidently exposed for sale. I went immediately to the Shochetim to ascertain whether any omission had been made by them in returns furnished me. Being assured by them their returns were correct, I went back with one of them to MR. ISRAEL's shop. This was about 1 p.m. The door was opened for me, and finding if the birds had been killed by Shochetim it must have been about ten days since, it became my duty to affix seals to them. I saw MR. ISRAEL soon after 6 o'clock on the following morning in the market, and asked him for an explanation, and he curtly refused to give me any. I had no alternative but to place a Shochet in his shop, until the matter was investigated by the "Beth Din". Upon MR. ISRAEL's explanation the birds were to be sent to market for sale, the Ecclesiastical Board cautioned him as to his future conduct, and warned him not again to infringe any of their regulations. Yours obediently, H. HARRIS, Secretary to Board for the affairs of Shechita - London, March 24, 1879
♦To the Editor of the Jewish Chronicle - Sir, It was my intention, having made known my grievance, to have remained silent, but MR. HARRIS has thought fit to make a statement which is not consistent. It is true I had killed no goslings or ducks since March 7, and MR. HARRIS saw on the 16th three birds of that class in my shop, but did he ask me for an explanation when called for payment of his account? Or did he go away andwait two hours until my shop was closed? MR. HARRIS says he came back at 1 o'clock. Now I can prove it was between 2.30 and 3 o'clock. He says the door was opened for him, but he omits to say he was informed I had left, and it was by making a misrepresentation an entrance was effected. MR. HARRIS says: "I had no alternative but to place a shomer at his shop till the matter was investigated by the Beth Din", but I say that is an excuse for his over-officiousness. And now, Sir, I deny my conduct in this matter was censured; I was almost apologised to. Yours obediently, DAVID ISRAEL - 122 Middlesex Street, Whitechapel, April 2, 1879

ABRAHAM JACOBOWITZ
City Press reports the following case heard before Alderman Owden at Guildhall Police Court on Monday. ABRAHAM JACOBOWITZ, a Pole, was brought up on a charge of annoying ISAIAH BENJAMIN, collector of the Jewish Board of Guardians, 13 Devonshire Square. The complainant said he knew the prisoner was in distress, and all he required was he should understand he could not come to Devonshire Square and annoy him. They were full of applicants, and had to exercise the greatest care. The prisoner refused to leave when requested, and was violent. Having made a promise never to go there again, the Alderman said: Were you an Englishman I should send you to prison; but as you are a foreigner, and you say your children want bread, I shall discharge you, and order you to receive 5 shillings from the poor box. If you can't get work you will have to go to our Union. I dare say I shall be blamed by some for assisting you. The prisoner, who appeared too overcome to acknowledge the kindness of the alderman, left court. 6.2.1880

MR. DAVID L. JACOBS has resigned the post of Treasurer to Borough Jewish Schools in consequence of the great labour which that office entails. 3.3.1876 (JW)
♦On Sunday, 27th ult., a deputation from the Executive of Borough Jewish Schools waited upon MR. D.L. JACOBS and urged him to reconsider his intention to resign his post of Treasurer. MR. JACOBS said he felt reluctantly compelled to adhere to his intention, as now the schools were in a fair way to progress satisfactorily he desired to be released from the position of Treasurer. 10.3.1876
♦Last Sunday a considerable number of subscribers to Borough Jewish Schools and friends of education assembled in the committee-room to witness the presentation to DAVID L. JACOBS, ex treasurer of the institution. SAUL SOLOMON, Vice-President, occupied the chair. Previous to making the presentation he referred to the prominent part taken by MR. JACOBS in the erection of the synagogue and school buildings, remarking that but for the active and zealous exertions of that gentleman these two institutions would never have attained their financial position. 23.11.1877
